

An evening of eloquent silence

By Staff Correspondent
A special mime show was presented by a local pantomime group Tuesday evening in the city.

Speechless Evening, performed by Nirbak mesmerised a jam packed auditorium at the Russian Cultural Centre.

Eight short pieces of 'silent' drama dealing wittily with social issues such as modernism, environment, education, law and order, independence and healthcare entertained the audience for over an hour with all the excitement of a play with dialogue.

A cast of seven, led by the show's producer Farhad H Siddique, gave a superb performance. With lucid facial expressions and body movements with a language of their own, the artistes brought to life their respective characters.

The show was followed by a certificate distribution ceremony for participants of a mime workshop, organised recently by the group. Poet Asad Chowdhury attended as the chief guest.

Nirbak was founded in 1993 to popularise the art of mime in this country. One of its main objectives is to provide the disabled, particularly those with impaired hearing, with an opportunity to express themselves through acting.

They recently became the first theatre group in Bangladesh to stage a play with an all deaf cast.

GF concerned over political situation

By Staff Correspondent

Gano Forum (GF) has expressed its deep concern over the prevailing political situation in the country in a meeting of the party's standing committee Tuesday.

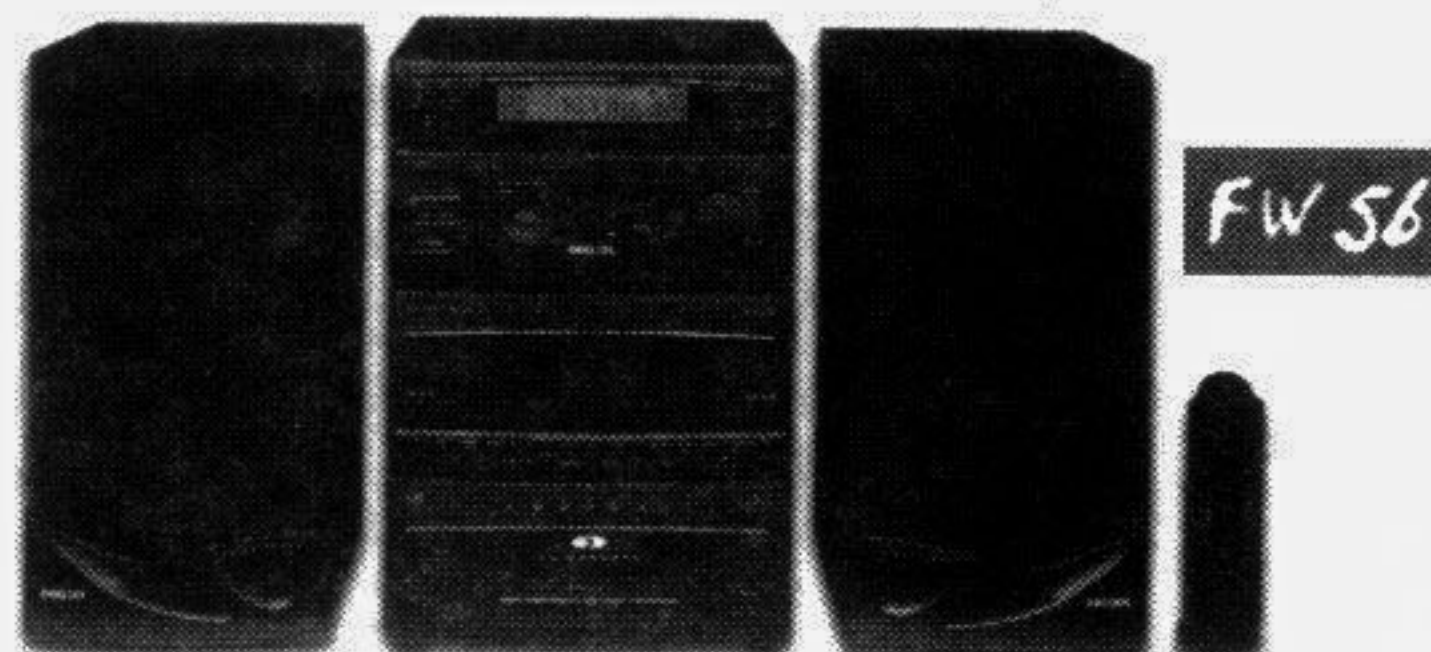

and they would ensure a free and fair election without the influence of black money and violence.

Speakers criticised the recent provocative remarks made by the Prime Minister at the Gulistan Square and said that the main Opposition leader also retaliated by calling hartal frequently and posing enormous problem to the people.

Let's make things better.
