Get Your Fish, Meat Delivered at Home

By Aditi Mubin Chowdhury

Frozen but fresh meat can be got at home.

Shopping is an art itself. In Dhaka's kucha bazaar, that art tests the limits of the customers' patience. Both for the heat generated by the spiralling of prices and for the thick crowds. To give you some relief, departmental stores have been opened. But to make your shopping there you have to have a fat wallet. Home services of some items have been introduced that makes life easier for many a home pressed for time. But until now the delivery system has confined to household goods of the stationery and grocery types. For fish and meat one has to take all the troubles of marketing. Fish vendors are there who come all the way to your door, but you have few choices there — both in terms of variety and quality. It seems the problem remains unsolved. But no longer.

For those who want to avoid all such hassles, here's the "good news." "PROFISH," a full fledged company that has now introduced home service. It delivers frozen fish, meat, eggs, milk etc. Besides frozen fish you can also get real fresh fish or meat, just like you get in the fish market. All you have to do is just give them a call and tell them what kind of fish or meat you want and of course the amount as well and they will deliver your required items right at your doorstep.

You don't need to be a member or anything and the best part is that there's no service charge. The prices of the items are some as in the market. If you want any type of sea fish then you will have to order 2-3 days before you want it delivered. Besides sea fish you can also order any type of sweet water fish such as Ruhi, Hilsha, Talapia, Singh, Magur etc.

Among meat items you can order boneless beef, beef minced, cow liver, stomach, tongue or whatever, mutton chest minced, chicken etc. Special items are also available for special occasions, such as weddings, birthdays etc. This home service is available also during weekly or government holidays. This system has helped many Dhakaites to get rid of their trouble of going to the market to buy fish or meat especially for the old people who have to depend on their sons, daughters or their boumas (daughters-in-law) to do their shopping and also for the working women who usually enjoy spending their weekly holidays relaxing at home instead of going to the market to buy fish or meat.

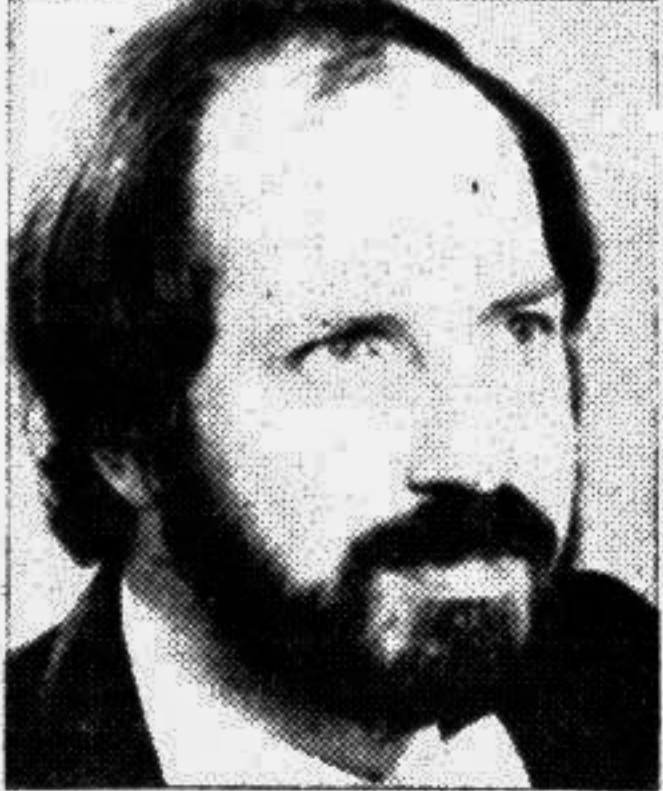

So save your time, remain tension free, relax at home and get your required fresh fish or meat etc. delivered at your doorsteps any time.
