

Nepal Parliament passes revised annual budget

KATHMANDU, Oct 30: The Nepal Parliament yesterday passed a revised annual budget without any amendments despite some misgivings voiced by the opposition, state-run radio said, reports AFP.

The coalition government's budget replaces one originally passed in July by the then ruling Nepal Communist Party-United Marxist and Leninist (NCP-UML) which was voted out of office in September.

The new budget, which will cover the remaining nine months of the 1995-96 fiscal year, has trimmed 1.24 billion rupees (24.8 million dollars) of the earlier one bringing the total to 51.64 billion rupees (1.03 billion dollars).

The coalition parties, the Nepali Congress (NC), the rightist Rastriya Prajatantra Party (RPP) and the pro-India Nepal Sadbhavana Party (NSP), introduced new tax proposals aimed at raising an additional 1.6 billion rupees and added between 10 and 20 per cent duties on a range of goods sold in India.

'Measure to spur inflation' Devaluation move angers traders in Pakistan

ISLAMABAD, Oct 30: The Pakistan government's decision to devalue the rupee and raise gas prices to keep exports "competitive" will increase production costs and spur inflation, economists and businessmen said yesterday, according to AFP.

The measure will further intensify inflation which has already broken the back of the commonman," former Finance Minister Sartaj Aziz said.

Describing the new measures as a "mini-budget" only four months after the start of the fiscal year in July, he said the devaluation would also add to Pakistan's debt burden which is already reaching critical proportions.

Pakistan's external debts were estimated at 24.4 billion dollars in 1994-95, equal to 40.6 per cent of the country's $2 billion dollar Gross Domestic Product.

Prime Minister Benazir Bhutto's Advisor on Finance and Economic Affairs V A Jaffery announced late Saturday that the government had decided on a seven per cent downward adjustment of the rupee in terms of the dollar.

In a surprise late-night broadcast he said, as a consequence of the rupee devaluation, the government had also increased prices of petroleum products by seven per cent.

The move, which came after repeated contradictions from the Central State Bank of Pakistan about devaluation, has angered traders and businessmen.

The devaluation might boost exports, but the increase in fuel prices will raise production costs and increase other prices, Shafiqur Rehman, Chief of Karachi's Traders Association said.

The sudden announcement will damage the government's credibility and people will lose confidence in their rulers," Rehman remarked.

Jaffery said the government had been viewing with concern the country's export stagnation over the past three months.

"In particular there has been a decline in shipment of cotton textile products, which account for over 60 per cent of our exports."

The move was of vital importance if Pakistan's exports are to remain competitive, he added.

Pakistan has set an export target of 9.5 billion dollars this year, but has seen a decline of 29 per cent in the past three months.

"The position of our exporters has been weakened by large currency depreciations by countries who compete with us in the international market," Jaffery said. Defending the move he cited rival neighbour India who, he said, had devalued its rupee by 14 per cent.

Riyadh exports 1.3 m barrels of oil per day to Washington

RIYADH, Oct 30: Saudi Arabia exports 1.3 million barrels of oil per day to the United States, accounting for 15 per cent of the country's total imports, the Saudi Oil Minister said, reports AFP.

The Minister of Oil and Mineral Resources Ali Ibn Ibrahim Al-Nuaimi, said Saturday the value of oil exports to the United States rose from four billion dollars in 1983 to eight billion dollars in 1993.

Saudi Arabia's annual imports from the United States were estimated at between six billion and seven billion dollars between 1991 and 1994. Nuaimi told a meeting of Saudi and US business leaders.

He added that the United States had invested an estimated 12 billion dollars in 222 joint ventures with Saudi firms, accounting for 41 per cent of the total foreign investment in the kingdom.

Two biggest Thai labour unions agree to merge

BANGKOK, Oct 30: The two biggest labour organisations in Thailand have agreed to merge, reports Xinhua.

The Labour Congress of Thailand and the Thai Trade Union Congress, joined by six smaller labour unions, will become the labour Congress Union of Thailand, which controls some 800 private sector unions.

The new body will have a combined membership of 300,000 people out of a nationwide labour force of 10 million.

The merger, agreed upon on Sunday at a meeting here, is aimed at giving private sector workers greater bargaining power for better wages and conditions.

The two biggest labour organisations had been active on the local labour and political scenes but had been left in disarray after Thanong Po-An, a labour leader, mysteriously disappeared after the now-defunct national peace-keeping council toppled the Chatichai Choonhavon government in 1990.

Vietnam approves series of econ targets for '96

HANOI, Oct 30: Vietnam's National Assembly has approved a series of economic targets for 1996, including a growth rate of between nine and 10 per cent, says Reuters.

The figure is on a par with expected growth of around 9.5 per cent in gross domestic product for 1995.

Official media reported on Monday that the assembly, which ended its latest biannual session on Saturday, also approved a revised inflation rate for 1995 of around 14 per cent, up from an original target of 10 per cent or less.

National Assembly spokesman Vu Mao, told journalists on Saturday an inflation rate of 14 per cent or less was expected in 1996.

The assembly also approved projected increases in agricultural and industrial growth of 4.5-4.8 per cent and 14-14.5 per cent, respectively.

Projected agricultural and industrial growth rates for this year are 4.7 per cent and 14 per cent.
