KU-Wales jt eco-monitoring programme

By Staff Correspondent The Khulna University (KU) and the University of Wales yesterday signed a memorandum for a three-year ecological monitoring programme of the Sundarbans for resource management.

Vice Chancellor of the Khulna University Prof Dr Md Golam All Fakir and Director, Institute of Environmental Science Dr R J Wootton, representing the University of Wales, signed the memorandum at the British Council.

This programme for the Sundarbans Reserved Forest in support of sustainable resource management, will also be participated by the Department of Forest, University Grants Commission and different ministries.

The memorandum is an outcome of a series of discussions between the Khulna University VC and the British High Commissioner in Bangladesh Peter J Fowler over the development and extension of education and research programmes at the KU.

Previously a three member British team visited the KU and the Sundarbans and expressed their positive views regarding the programme.
