

Dhaka Day by DayAnother Flop Show

by Asha Mehreen Amin

After indulging the stomach to dangerous proportions the Eid feaster may feel it is time to relax and watch the 'special Eid programmes' BTV has so generously arranged. If there was any doubt in anyone's mind about the superiority of cable TV over our local station, Eid day's 'anando mela' would have dissolved it completely.

No other programme could have given so little 'anando' (joy). Apart from the lacklustre sets what really stood out were the jarringly unfunny jokes cracked by hackneyed comedians.

Even with all the film stars and TV personalities the show just didn't take off. The contests for one thing were a total flop. The pitiful attempt at creating fun for the audience included a singing competition between well known dancers. The whole thing was pre-recorded, present, and predictable with the contestants lip-singing their fits and actually pretending to be surprised at their rivals choice of song. But what topped it all was the bizarre eating competition where a number of well-known Bangladeshi cricketers had to go through the humiliation of gulping down enormous amount of unappealing sweet-meats which had scores attached to them depending on their size. In the background was the irritating drove of a cricket commentator who failed to bring even a grimace with his running commentary. The more or less tolerable number by a local band became quite insufferable because of the video that went with it. All that prancing and jumping was quite unnecessary.

In between these major killjoys were the little skits that have become typical of BTV's stereotyped humour. A man dressed as a beggar with a mole on his nose, the couple going out or the stand-up comedian who baffled some inanities non-stop thinking he has the audience rolling. Uninspiring magic, tricks and songs were also part of this bore of a show that didn't even have a hint of spontaneity or innovation. The only redeeming factor was perhaps the realization that we have a few months before we are subjected to the agony of going through yet another ''anandohin' (joyless) 'anando mela'.

BRAC to set up 350 community libraries

Bangladesh Rural Advancement Committee (BRAC) has commenced the setting up of 350 community libraries in the rural areas by the end of next year, says a press release.

FH Abed, executive director of BRAC, during his meeting with the press corps accompanying the German Minister for Economic Cooperation & Development, disclosed this. Abed said that the purpose of this programme was to create an reading environment for the literate rural population who have no access to reading materials like books, periodicals, and newspapers. This will also be a positive step towards sustaining the literacy of the rural people, he said.

Abed said that each library will be equipped with 1,000 books, two daily Bengali newspapers, one magazine and BRAC periodicals. He said these centres will also have various training facilities including computer.

The library activities also include such programmes as sports, cultural events and discussion sessions. All members of the community including students will have access to the libraries, he said.

BRAC had set up 50 libraries, known as "Gonokendra Pathagar" on experimental basis this year in Mymensingh, Norshingdi and Manikganj areas. In view of the unprecedented enthusiasm of and response from the people it has been decided to expand the programme in most of the BRAC covered areas all over the country. Each library, jointly managed by BRAC and local community, will have 300 members, 30 per cent of whom will be female. Average number of readers was already found to be about 100 in each library everyday. The books also include a copy of the Holy Quran, life of the Prophet (SM) and other books on religion. It is very encouraging that the local communities have provided space free of cost and are also bearing 25 per cent of the recurring expenditure. The libraries will also be provided with TV set, the cost of which will jointly be borne by BRAC and the community.

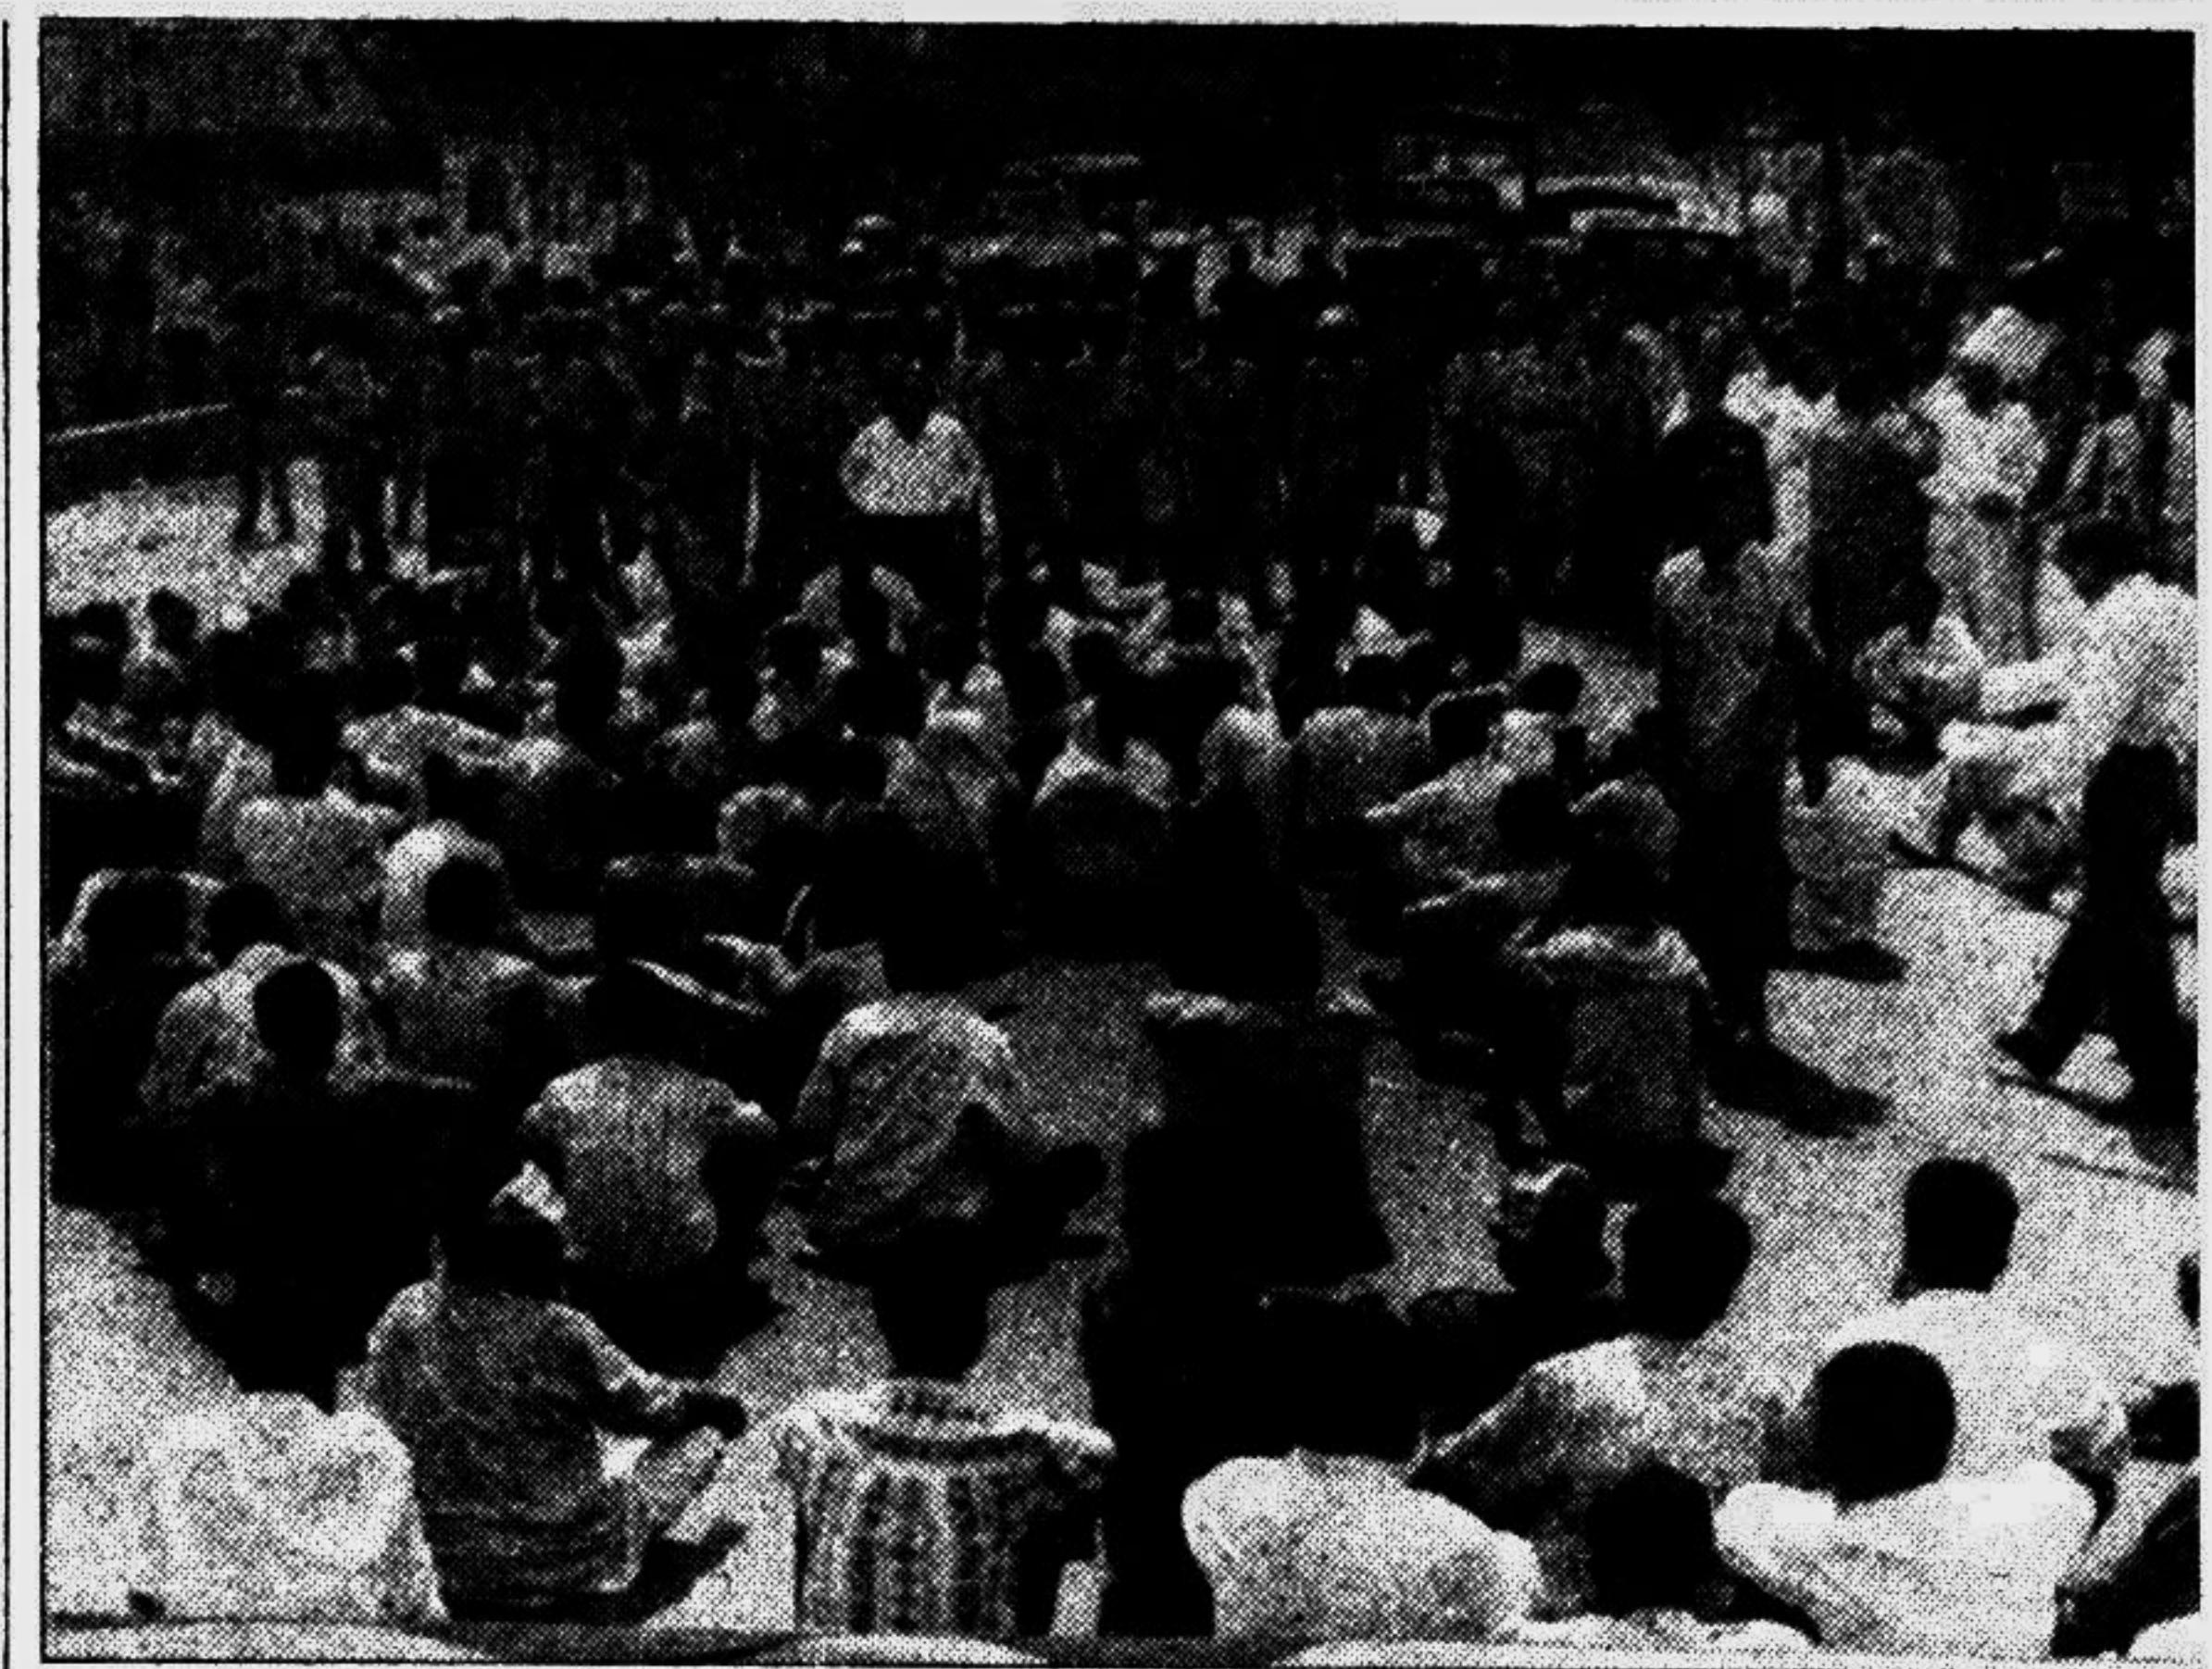

In the statement, BFUJ president Amanullah Kabir, secretary general Zahirul Haq and acting DUJ president Abu Saleh and general secretary Ruhul Amin Gazi also condemned the incident in which an auto rickshaw hired by Bangladesh Sangbad Sangstha (BSS) was set ablaze by pickets near Moghbazar in the city. Shahidul Islam, a photo journalist of the Daily Desh Janata was seriously injured in the police action near Zero Point at Gulistan. He is now being treated at Dhaka Medical College Hospital. Two other journalists were also injured in the action.

The journalists' leaders urged the government and the opposition as well to ensure safety of the working journalists and help perform their professional duty freely and objectively.

Meanwhile, Dhaka Reporters Unity (DRU), a forum of city reporters, expressed concern at the police action on newsmen and photographers on duty in front of Bangladesh Secretariat yesterday.

DRU president Saifqul Kabir and general secretary Mostafa Feroz, in a statement, said some photo journalists and a staff reporter of Daffy Rupali, Jasmid Ahmed, while gathering news in front of Gate one of Bangladesh Secretariat were assaulted by police.

The DRU leaders urged the government for proper investigation into the incident and measures to stop recurrence of such incidents.

Awami League activists staged a sit-in in front of the Bangladesh Secretariat yesterday.
