DTI officials sounded quite upbeat about business prospects in Bangladesh and pointed out that bilateral trade kept flourishing in recent years against all the odds.

Bilateral trade increased bothways over the years and quite interestingly, it has been in Bangladesh's favour - due largely to British imports of larger volumes of garments.

Govt spending cut to curtail British Council activities LONDON, Apr 16: Govern ment spending cuts will force closure or curtailment of British Council activities in at least 30 countries with the loss of between 700 and 800 jobs, according to its director, Sir John Hanson, reports AP.

The list of closures of the offices promoting British culture abroad is still being assessed, Hanson said, and he won't identify the countries involved before the staff affected are informed.

"There will be an announcement within four weeks," Hanson said.

He said the council will completely shut down in about 14 countries — seven of them this year - while reducing work to a minimum in 18 further countries and ending work in 25 to 30 cities.

Hanson said there will also be 350 job losses among the council's 1,160 staff in the

Indian housing scam

10 officials arrested for taking bribes from govt employees

NEW DELHI. Apr 16: Ten officials, including aides of two former Cabinet ministers. were arrested for allegedly accepting bribes from thousands of government employees seeking subsidised government housing, reports said Monday, reports AP.

The 10 officials allegedly took up to 50,000 rupees 11.400 dollars) from each of the nearly 8,000 employees and put them into government apartments when they were on long waiting lists for such accommodations. The Times of India and the Pioneer said.

The arrests - the first ones in an 18-month investigation could further discredit Prime Minister P V Narasimha Raos government, which faces a na tional election beginning April 27, and already is reeling from a major bribery scandal.

Seven ministers resigned from Rao's Cabinet this year after being charged in the bribery scandal with accepting payoffs from an Indian business family in return for govern ment contracts.

Leaders of India's two main opposition parties, the Hindu nationalist Bharatiya Janata Party and the socialist Janata Dal. also were charged in the 27 million dollars bribery

Citi Islamic Investment Bank to be launched

Citibank will launch a new bank to serve the needs of investors and businesses who require special financial services conforming to Sharia.

says UNB. The Citi Islamic Investment Bank, capitalised at 20 million US dollars initially, would be launched in the Gulf state of Bahrain in July.

The decision was taken at a meeting of the Gulf Economic Forum in Bahrain on April 9, according to a message received here Monday. This follows the formal approval from the Bahrain Monetary Agency received last month.

Speaking to a group of international people and political leaders attending the Forum, Citibank Vice-Chairman William R Rhodes said: "We believe this new venture represents the first Islamic bank to be launched as a stand-alone business by a major international bank. It demonstrates our dedication to serving customers around the world who need and expect a wide range of different services.

"The Islamic banking market is growing fast and we at Citibank expect to develop our product offerings still further in this competitive market sector", he added.

Mohammed Al-Shroogi. Citibank's regional director for the Gulf and Levant region, and a 20-year veteran of the corporation, will become the first Chairman of Citi Islamic Investment Bank board.

The Managing Director will be Shafqat Ali Memon, who has also had a long experience with Citibank in different parts of the Middle East and Africa.

The bank will be a 100 per cent-owned subsidiary of Citicorp Banking Corporation and be headquartered in Bahrain, where Citibank already has a major banking presence dating back 26 years.

Citibank has been providing Islamic banking services to investors and financial institutions since the early 1980s. through its offices in Bahrain and London. With the creation of the Islamic bank, it will now formalize the range of products and services available and continue to tailor them to the special needs of customers.

New customers will be sought throughout the Islamic world, including the Middle East — particularly countries in the Arabian Gulf - North Africa and Asia and anywhere else where a market exists. The Citibank branch network in 98 countries worldwide, including 76 "emerging markets", will cooperate with the Citi Islamic Investment Bank in achieving its objectives.

The bank has already managed assets totalling more than US dollars 1 billion for Islamic investors.

Bankruptcy rises to record high in Japan

TOKYO, Apr 16: Total debt at bankrupt Japanese companies rose 32.7 per cent to a record high in the fiscal year that ended in March, fuelled by a series of major failures at financial firms, a private research company said yesterday, reports Reuter.

Tokyo Commerce and Industry Research Co said that despite sings the economy was recovering from a five-year slump, conditions remained tough and bankruptcies were likely to continue increasing.

"The government has declared that the economy is recovering, but overall bankruptcies are fluctuating monthly and are still in a rising trend, it said in a report.

The reports said although the key barometer on the Tokyo stock market, the Nikkei average, had recovered to above 20,000 points and exchange rates had stabilised, other problems continued to undermine the economy, including unemployment, domestic political instability and uncertainty about the health of foreign economies.

Bankruptcy debt totalled 8.63 trillion yen (79.1 billion dollar) in the fiscal year, exceeding the previous record of 8.14 trillion yen (74.6 billion dollar) which was marked in the 1991/92 fiscal year when Japan's economic "bubble" of inflated land and stock prices had begun collapsing.

Clinton proposes $400m shift in Pentagon spending

WASHINGTON, Apr 16: President Clinton wants to cut about 400 million dollars from weapons purchases and military research to help pay for the Bosnia peacekeeping mission and an anti-drug effort. reports AP.

The request, detailed in documents obtained Monday by The Associated Press, indicates the White House is expecting the Bosnia operation to cost at least 50 million dollars more than previously es-

Of the 400.4 million dollars in proposed savings, 250 million dollars would go toward the administration's anti-drug effort and 150.4 million dollars for the Bosnia mission.

Although the Bøsnia request represents only a fraction of the roughly 2.5 billion dollars the Pentagon now expects to spend on the yearlong peacekeeping mission, it may be the most hotly contested

Up to now, Clinton has proposed paying for the Bosnia operation through savings due to lower inflation estimates and by taking unspent funds from the National Reconnaissance Office, a secret spy satellite agency. The latest installment would come from cuts in weapons programmes and military research and development that were added by the Republican controlled

The Department of Defence's position is that virtually none of these items were requested and are congressional add-ons," a White House official said, speaking on condition of anonymity. "Our hope is that they'll see the wisdom and follow our guidance." Clinton notified Congress of the proposed shift in spending in a letter to House Speaker

Assuming Congress passes a pending budget bill that contains some Bosnia money, this latest request would bring the total spent on Bosnia this year to just under'2 billion dollars The administration is seeking an additional 542 million dollars for Bosnia in its budget request for next year.

Newt Gingrich last week.

Offering justification for the proposed cuts, the White House said some programmes duplicated related Pentagon spending while others could be cut without affecting the military's ability to carry out its basic mission.

Republicans have criticised Clinton on the rising cost of the Bosnia operation while accusing him of shortchanging the Pentagon on such basic needs are ammunition and trucks.
