Course on Japanese management at NSU

By Staff Correspondent
The Department of Business Administration at North South University Tuesday launched a Japanese management course for its BBA Programme.

Japanese Ambassador to Bangladesh Yoshikazu Kaneko inaugurated the course. NSU President Nurul H Khan, Business Department Coordinator Quazi Mahmud Ahmed and Hussain Shareef Ahmad spoke on the occasion.

Kaneko observed that it might not be possible to introduce Japanese management in Bangladesh in its original form.

Nurul H Khan said that the NSU is presently negotiating to sign an academic collaboration agreement with Nihon Fukushi University of Japan.

Quazi Mahmud Ahmed said that there was huge potential for application of Japanese management techniques in Bangladeshi organisations. He added that work is underway to establish a centre for Japanese studies at NSU to conduct research.
