Caring for the Old

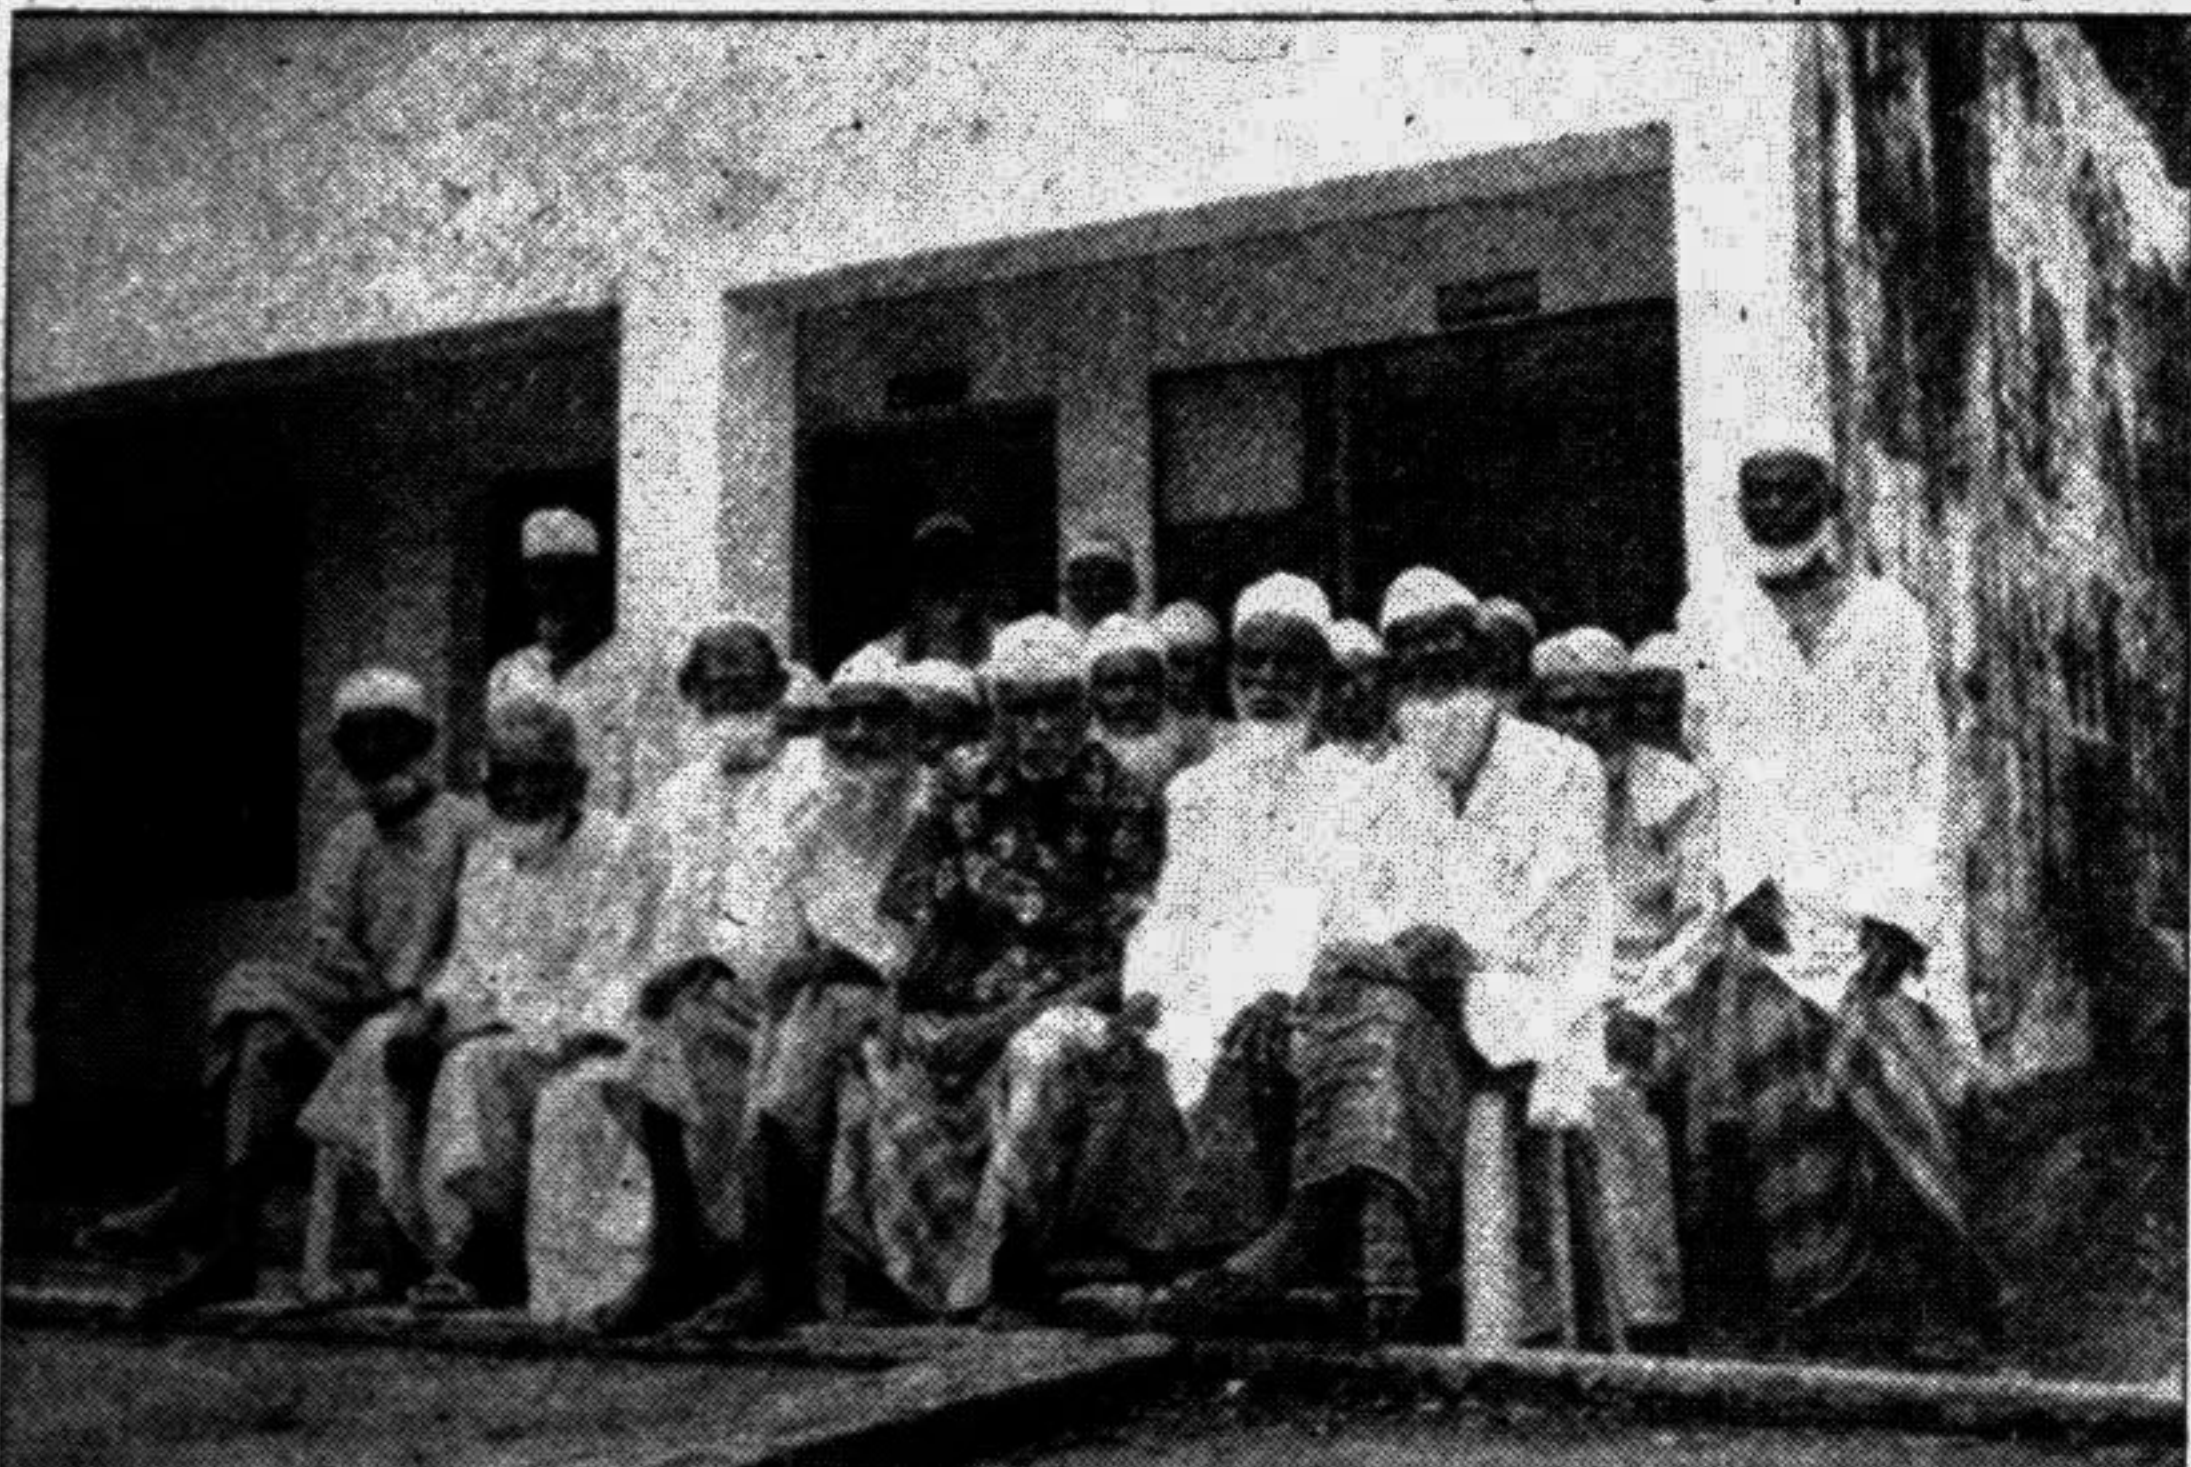

by Samia Islam

There are hundreds of people on the streets trying to get through life by begging alms from the hurrying, scurrying public. Not all these people have the options of getting a job and a shot at a decent life. Among them are the helpless old people who have no other means of earning their livelihood other than depending on a pittance from strangers because their own children have forsaken them in their hour of need. At times, everyone is overcome by the urge to do something for the helpless old people on the streets. But not many of us make the time or the effort to stand up and take action. Those who do take the time are the people who change the world.

One such individual, Mr. Khatib Abdul Zahid Mukul has invested his time, money and energy into a rehabilitation centre which offers shelter to the down-and-out old people. The centre provides all basic amenities of life which every human being has a right to enjoy. Mr. Zahid has established the Old Home Rehabilitation Centre near Monipur bazaar, Rajendrapur. It's housed in a one-storey, tin-shed, brick building. During the city streets. Only 40 people are residing in a facility that has the capacity to house 500 people. When asked what he thought was the reason behind the poor response, Mr. Zahid, who has an office in Motijheel, points out that although old-age homes satisfy the need for a safe shelter, it cannot be a replacement for family life. It cannot provide for the emotional needs of an individual. So, after a few days at this safe but impersonal life, they leave in search of a place to belong. And there are the others who come to the shelter after being driven out by their children who refuse to support them. On such occasions, the children usually realize their mistake and come to take the parent back. When helpless people have a place to go to if mistreated, they no longer have to take indignity in silence and this gives them the power over their kids to demand better treatment in their old age. Mr. Zahid thinks that in this regard his establishment has been a success.

He recalls that while growing up in Pabna, he often saw old people being mistreated by their her visit in 1995, Mother Teresa laid the foundation stone for the facility in 1995. Currently the home stands on 60 bighas of land. A number of fish ponds, vegetable gardens, dairy and poultry farms have been set-up to make the centre self-sufficient. Income from all these endeavours go into a fund that finances the day-to-day expenditures of the establishment.

At present, there are about 40 people living in the home. The residents have a stand-by nurse and a compounder living on the premises. An MBBS doctor comes twice a week for general check up. Apart from eating hours, daily routine includes time for prayers, light exercise, recreational activities, adult education classes etc. The food is nutritional and adequate. There is a 200-book library. Indoor games are available for recreational purposes. The wide open spaces and greenery all around offers tranquillity and refreshes the mind. In all, it seems to be the answer to the prayers for any homeless individual, but oddly enough the response has not been overwhelming considering the number of people on own flesh and blood just because they did not have the strength to fend for themselves. Although they had spend a lifetime trying to provide for their children, the kids found them to be a burden in the twilight of their lives. Ever since those days Mr. Zahid has wanted to do something tangible to reach out to these people, to get them back the dignity they so richly deserve.

Unlike other dreamers, after achieving considerable degree of success in business, he didn't forget his childhood aspirations. He first established this shelter in Uttara in 1987. But scarcity of land for further expansions led him to shift to Rajendrapur where he found ample land to facilitate the financial self-sufficiency of the centre, so that if anything should happen to him, his centre would not get closed down for the lack of funds. In future, he plans to expand his shelter with branches in Dhaka and elsewhere in the country as well as in all the SAARC countries. We just hope that more and more people are inspired by him to add to the common good instead of indulging in the rat-race we call life.
