No salaries for 25 months!

KHAGRACHHARI, Nov 13: Some 24 officials of the Rubber Project under Hill Tracts Development Board are unable to draw their salaries for the last 25 months, reports UNB.

The officials complained that several other employees in the project were getting their salaries from July 95. A decision about those 24 officials has been pending with the higher authorities and the fate of the project itself was also uncertain, they said.

The officials said, they had contacted the vice-chairman of the board who assured them that the salaries and other facilities would be given soon after the revised project plan was approved regularising the required manpower.

Those employees of the two phases of the project who have been getting their salaries, had been absorbed in a UNICEF project and under the Development Board itself.

Government policy on the rubber plantation project is yet to be formulated and, as a result, the revised project proposal remained unapproved leaving the 24 officials in uncertainty and hardship.
