Nat'l policy on drinking water, sanitation soon

Zillur Rahman, Minister for Local Government, Rural Development and Cooperatives yesterday said that a national policy for increasing access to drinking water and sanitation will be formulated within a short time, reports BSS. Inaugurating as the chief guest a four-day conference on "Participatory action for enabling the households access to safe water and sanitation and develop hygienic behaviours," he said such a policy would embrace all issues related to health. State Minister for LGRD Alhaj Syed Abul Hossain also spoke on the occasion as special guest with A H M Abdul Hye, Secretary of Local Government division. In the chair. Zillur Rahman said, "we have been considering the needs of the people and the ways and means of how the development efforts can be made more beneficial to them. We believe in bringing the people in the mainstream of development." To ensure meaningful participation of people in the programmes of increasing access to safe water and sanitation, he suggested motivating them to share the operation and maintenance cost of the programmes. The cost sharing practice should also be developed to make the programmes sustainable, the minister added.
