TUNE IN TO THE 555 SUBARU WORLD RALLY TEAM ACTION IN 1997

RALLY FACTS #

WHAT IS RALLYING ?

The thrills and excitement of rallying have made it the most popular spectator motorsport in the world.

A rally takes place over 3 to 4 days with cars driving flat out across pre-determined stages. Each stage presents a different driving challenge and the objective is to complete it in the fastest time with the fewest penalty points and no accidents. Any terrain is considered acceptable from the plantation tracks of Indonesia to the frozen lakes of Scandinavia.

At the end of the event, the total time taken to complete each of the special stages is added to any penalties imposed on the team. The winning team is the one with the lowest total time. A World Championship event is generally split over three days, each involving between 8 and 12 special stages. The crew of a rally car comprises the driver and co-driver. The driver's task is purely that of driving everything else is the responsibility of the co-driver.

The "555 Subaru Impreza" is equipped with full-time 4-wheel drive that helps the 555 Subaru World Rally Team drivers Kenneth Erickson, Colin McRae, and Piero Liati tackle virtually any terrain that comes their way.
