Motia asks agri scientists to evolve easy technology

Minister for Agriculture, Food and Disaster Management Begum Motia Chowdhury yesterday categorically asked agriculture scientists to evolve easy and farmers-friendly technology for increased production as well as environmental protection, reports BSS.

"Try to evolve fuel-free technology for mechanised cultivation because it will save farmers' money to buy fuel, protect environment from pollution and increase production in fields," she said at a roundtable discussion in the city.

Chairman of BUP and eminent economist Dr Quazi Kholiquzzaman, Ahmed read out the key-note paper while internationally reputed agriculture scientist Dr Hasanuzzaman was in the chair. A panel of leading agriculture scientists, economists and development experts took part in the discussion.

This is the fifth of the series of a fortnightly programme chalked out by BUP to mark the Silver Jubilee of the Victory Day.

The discussants included Dr Aminul Islam, Dr Kamaluddin Ahmed, Prof Yusufai, Dr Gul Hussain, Md Ali Ashraf, Md Ishaque Talukder, Nurul Islam Nahid MP, Dr Sujayetullah Choudhury, S M Shahid and Dr Moinuzzuddin Ahmed.
