With an IBM PC Server, running your network is an absolute breeze.

Ask people who manage networks what they want in a PC server and everyone says the same thing: "Something to make life easier." So here they are - the full line of IBM PC Servers. Everything about them, from hardware to software, service to support, makes running a network a whole lot easier.

And how, exactly, will they make things easier? Well, for a start, they're built to run popular networking operating systems, such as Windows NT or Novell. And with Server-Guide, our CD-ROM installation software, you can set up your chosen operating system in a fraction of the usual time. Not only that, Server-Guide automatically fine-tunes the system for optimum performance.

In addition, all our servers come with TME 10-NetFinity, industry leading software that manages both your network and your PCs. Not to mention free Lotus Notes release 4.1, which lets you leverage a complete solution for the Internet or intranets.

Better still, when you include them as part of a complete IBM PC Network solution, not only will IBM's PC Servers make your life less troublesome, they could also lower your total cost of ownership by as much as 24%*.

Now that's making life easier. All in all, the new IBM PC Servers are everything you could ask for (plus a few things you may not have thought possible). Contact IBM Direct at the numbers below. You can also visit our Web site at <http://www.pc.ibm.com/server>

IBM
Solutions for a small planet™

*In A Strategic Analysis Report on Total Cost of Ownership of networked PCs, Gartner Group Inc found that companies instituting a combination of "best practices" and partnership with IBM could potentially lower total costs by up to 24%. Actual savings will depend on the computing environment and measures taken towards implementation.
