Growing Menace from Touts in City

By A S M Nurunnabi

In general, there is no ambiguity in people's mind about the meaning of tout. A tout is a low fellow who stoops to devious means to make improper financial gains. In Dhaka city, touts are a growing phenomenon in every field of activity of government, semi-government and autonomous organisations. As they perform the role of middlemen, they tend to create a distance between the concerned people and officials of relevant authorities who are competent to deliver the goods, and thereby make improper gains. In fact, it is alleged that people concerned with activities in government offices and courts are virtually regulated by these touts.

The Bangladesh Secretariat is said to be a favourite haunt of certain classes of touts. It is alleged that it is difficult to detect their modus operandi. Various kinds of deals are conducted here through the agency of touts. In all such deals there is obviously a linkage with various facades of corruption. It is also reported that in their methodology, some clever touts use subtle techniques to clinch their deals. There were reports that in their operations some veteran touts make use of hidden mini-tape recorders, so that negotiations for surreptitious deals with interested parties could be recorded and the parties due to receive favours in lieu of arranged considerations could not back out of the agreements reached. This gadget is, therefore, said to play an important part in black-mailing their intended victims.

The fields of activities of touts are said to cover a wide range — banks, customs department, income tax offices and other areas where there are prospects of illegal gains.

The touts always use new fangled ideas to exploit their victims. Lately, there were reports that some touts, on the basis of fake notices of acquisition of private lands, approached the affected parties with promises of early realisation of compensation money for such land from government and initially received payment of some amount pretending to have good connection with the relevant government employees. The affected people were easily taken in by the pretensions of the touts, but on contacting the concerned offices, they found out, to their dismay, that such acquisition notices were fake and the touts who had already taken some money from them could nowhere be traced. There were also instances of sales of fake postal stamps, court fee stamps, company share certificates and vokalanamas made through the agency of touts. Though such fraudulent activities were often detected by law-enforcing agencies, and criminal proceedings started, yet such illegal activities continue some way or other.

Among other fields where touts are found active in large numbers are the T&T office and the passport office in the city, where organised racketeers operate in return for the so-called "speed money". According to some sources, 80 to 90 per cent of the work connected with issue of passports is carried on through the agency of touts, and their incomes from these shady deals are said to be quite considerable. In the T&T department also, touts are said to operate freely in the matter of issue of demand notes for new telephone connections and other related work in connivance with some employees.

Another important centre for doing organised touting business is said to be the area around the office of the Export Promotion Bureau. This business is said to have been operating from all-furnished offices in the area for a long time.

The office of the Assistant Director of the Bangladesh Road Transport Authority (BRTA) at Section 13, Mirpur is another important centre for touts for the purposes like making new transport licence, getting registration and fitness certificates, etc. The total number of such touts is said to exceed five hundred at that centre and they mostly take advantage of the illiteracy and ignorance about rules of the transport operators. As a result, they fall easy victims of the touts who shrewdly hand out false certificates bearing fake signatures and seals of authorised officials. Such false documents are easily detected, yet the fraudulent practices are not easy to control on account of collusion of the touts with dishonest elements in that office.

The horizon of activities of the city touts has been steadily expanding. In short, in the matters like purchase of land, houses, getting new connections for electricity, gas and water supply, the role of touts is so predominant that none can get anything done easily without the agency of touts. Their omnipresence is an ominous fact of city life.

was trying to withdraw army from the Chittagong Hill Tracts and remove the non-tribal settlers from there. "This will not be allowed. Both tribals and non-tribals will live in the area," she said.

UNB adds, Begum Khaleda Zia said the government was arresting BNP leaders being afraid of the hartal called by the party to protest its failures and conspiracy against the country.

"This government wants to make the country a protectorate of a neighbouring country," she said.

Begum Zia urged people of all walks of life to make Sunday's half-day hartal a success and called upon her party workers to observe all the programmes declared by BNP in its fresh round of agitation.

She said as part of a deep-rooted conspiracy against the country, the government is ruining its economy, disrupting trade and commerce, closing down mills and factories and destroying the education system.

Begum Zia accused the government of endangering the country's independence and sovereignty by providing India with transit facility and said it is planning to import electricity from that country by resorting to loadshedding deliberately.

and sent him to Dhaka Central Jail with a 30-day detention under the Special Powers Act.

In a pre-dawn swoop, police picked up the BNP leader, Mosharrar Hossain, from his Mirpur residence under Section 54 of the Criminal Procedure Code.

Later, district magistrate allowed a 30-day detention for him as police mentioned that the BNP leader was involved in subversive activities.

Police continued their hunt for what they said, people involved in subversive activities, mainly disrupting power supply and unleashing violence on educational campuses.

After the Thursday's arrest of four top-ranking BNP leaders, plainclothes and uniformed police raided the residence of Jatiya Ganotantrik Party (JAGPA) chief Shaiful Alam Pradhan in the city early yesterday. But Pradhan was not available.

Police also raided different parts of the city during the day vainly looking for city BNP convenor and former minister Sadek Hossain Khoka MP and another BNP leader, former MP Salahuddin Ahmed.

The two BNP leaders managed to avoid arrest on Thursday as they were not at home during police operation at their residences in Gopibagh and Demra respectively.

Moreover, police continued search on Thursday night and early yesterday for some leaders of Freedom Party and Jatiya Jubo Command.

The targeted Jubo Command leaders were arrested in last Ramadan on similar charges of subversive activities, but later released on bail.

A highly placed source at the Detective Branch told UNB that police kept a close watch on a BNP leader, who was once involved in left politics and later led a fundamentalist movement against late Jahanara Imam before joining BNP last year.

BGMEA: Hartal call

ments factories. The garment sector suffers Tk 50 to 75 crore loss per hour due to hartal or power failure. Quddus said replying to a question.

Quddus recalled a remark made earlier Begum Zia at the concluding ceremony of BAT-EXPO '96 where she had said that her party would not give any programme like that of the previous Opposition that might hinder social and economic progress.

Other BGMEA leaders including its Vice president SU Haider, Nurul Haq Shiqdar, and executive committee members Abul Kashem Haidar, Anwar Azim, and Alamgir Rahman were present at the press conference held at the BGMEA office.

Quddus also said that the garments factory owners will have to pay at least Tk 50 crore as air freight due to the recent 5 day's work stoppage at the Chittagong port.

Foreign buyers have already expressed their dissatisfaction over the strike at the port. The country-wide hartal programme will put the garments sector in a disadvantageous position, he said.

In this regard he said that the BGMEA leaders would meet the BNP chief and Leader of the Opposition in Parliament today and request her to withdraw the programme.

He underscored the need for a consensus among all concerned so that nobody can stop the operation of such an essential sector like sea port. Operation of sea ports should be declared an essential service, he observed.

The BGMEA president called upon the political parties to keep political dispute inside the parliament and relieve the people including the business community from the sufferings and damage caused by their programmes.

He also urged the government to allow opening of Letter of Credit (L/C) by garments factory owners to import power generators keeping 10 per cent margin and to lower VAT rates and bank charges.
