DESTRUCTION: Exploitation of forest resources is nothing new in the Chittagong Hill Tracts where huge number of valuable trees exist. As population rises demand for timber also increases at the same time. Human habitation largely affected growth of such valuable trees in the deep forest where immature trees, which fetch good amount of money, are illegally cut by local timber traders who ultimately sell them to middlemen. It is said that there is hardly any 'undisturbed forest area' which has consequently affected animal habitation. The picture, taken in March this year, shows a suburb of Rangamati town.

Substantial gain in revenue earning from Sona Masjid Port

From NSM Mahbubur Rahman

CHAPAINAWABGANJ, May 11: Revenue earning from the country's second largest land port, Sona Masjid Port, has been gradually increasing since its establishment despite facing numerous obstacles. It set new records exceeding all previous targets during the last two fiscal years.

According to official sources, revenue earnings from the port in 1994-95 was recorded at Tk 21.8 crore and in 1995-96 it reached Tk 25.24 crore setting new records. Till February this fiscal revenue earning from the port showed Tk 27.59 crore. The officials at the port predicted that the revenue earning by the end of this fiscal may exceed Tk 35 crore.

Despite such potential in revenue earning which contribute a comparatively good amount to the National Board of Revenue, its development in terms of both infrastructural and utility remained totally neglected. The port, next to Jessore Benapole Port in terms of size of earnings, has no telecommunication link. The check post at the port has no electricity. To everyone's surprise, there is no police outpost except one run by the immigration department.

The travellers has to face immense trouble in absence of a commercial bank at the port. All travellers have to carry cash risking threat of robbery. Individuals or clearing and forwarding agents have to travel all the way to Shibganj thana headquarters, a distance of about 17 miles to pay tax against the imported goods. A trader who has been using the route to import goods regularly said, "They do not have slightest sense of encouraging business here. This sort of harassment would definitely discourage one to retreat from doing any sort of trading through this route. I believe, the authorities did not even plan things before setting up this port. They are simply testing if this is worth or not."

It is learnt that the customs house has no specific land of its own as yet. It is said that an area of 1.19 acres of land, to be given for use by the customs department here, has been under illegal occupation for quite some time. A BDR check-point has been reportedly set up in the area (to be given) belonging to the customs department.

In the meantime, there is a deadlock in the import business. All businessmen have to pay tax in advance. Following introduction of this system in 1996, many traders expressed their anger and stopped importing goods through this route.
