AmCham panel observes

Budget to retard growth of booming sectors

The proposed budget for the next fiscal will impair the country's competitiveness and the import surcharge will certainly retard the growth of booming sectors, including textiles, reports UNB.

This observation was made by a three-member panel comprising a former finance minister, an economist and a tax consultant at a meeting of the American Chamber of Commerce in Bangladesh (AmCham) here yesterday.

Dr Hafiz Siddiqi, Professor of School of Business at the North South University, said the imposition of infrastructure development at the rate of 2.5 per cent across the board needs reconsideration.

"If it is not adjusted properly the growth and development of certain industries will be hampered, which eventually will harm the economy," he said and cited the example of the textile and readymade garment industries. Mushtaq Ahmed, a tax consultant with the SF Ahmed and Company, was also bitterly critical about the "general and overall imposition" of the surcharge which, according to him, would leave a negative impact. "Mr Kibria is going to be remembered for a long time for this fiscal gymnastics," he said, calling the surcharge as "Kibria Surcharge" like the famous "Ershad Surcharge" for building the Jamuna Bridge. Former Finance Minister A Speaker would have no scope to pay such a visit. During its rule the party also practised nameplaque changes and put Zia's name here and there in the dark of night.

Ziaur Rahman Khan of BNP criticised Finance Minister SAMS Kibria for speaking of AL politics in the past 21 years in his budget speech. "How come, you speak of 21 years' politics joining the politics only the Khan said. "We also had a technocrat finance minister but he was very much in politics and had links with people."

Speaking on the proposed budget, Mosharraf Hossain of BNP said the finance minister inserted a good number of 'quotations' in his budget speech because he obtained first-classfirst by using such quotes in his answer-scripts. "Gone are those days when using quotes brought good results. Now you need to put only 'Yes,' 'No' or Tick marks in the answer script," the Opposition lawmaker pointed out.

BNP deputy Afzal H Khan said, people often asked him why he was missing from the TV programme on the parliament proceedings and why he did not speak in the House. "People knew me when I used to present TV news," he said and explained his disappearance from the parliament news as he was opposed to the unhealthy practice of getting the floor. Disclosing that he secured first-class-second, Afzal Khan called the first-class-first result-obtaining finance minister his "guru". But, Khan blamed the minister for lacking patrio-

He also called for downsizing the bureaucracy.

AmCham President Forrest Cookson and Executive Secretary A Gafur also spoke in the meeting at a city hotel, attended by the representatives of American companies doing business in Bangladesh.

Injunction on construction of storm sewerage vacated

By SC Correspondent The High Court by two judgements vacated the order of injunction on implementation of the Storm Water Drainage Improvement Project through the DIT Extension Road and Motijheel Commercial Area.

The division bench of the HC comprising Justice M M Hoque and Justice Md Hassan Ameen on June 24 also discharged the rules issued upon two writ petitions of one Azizur Rahman filed challenging the government order of eviction and a RAJUK order not to construct building on the acquired land.

To remove the water-stagnation the government took the project allocating its estimated cost of Tk 450 crore one-third of which was received from the Asian Development Bank and the implementation of the project was going on through the land acquired earlier for development work of the capital city As the writ petitioner claiming the title of a portion of the acquired land tried to construct a building thereon the government served an eviction notice on him. Challenging the eviction notice, he filed a writ petition upon which the HC on July 5. 1995 issued a rule nisi on the government and an order of injunction. After the injunction order as

He made three declarations. In the first declaration he held that the sex-workers were illegally and forcibly evicted from their respective houses and the law-enforcing agencies totally failed to discharge their legal duties towards the citizens by not giving legal protection to the people of the aforesaid profession in Kandupatti. Justice M M Hoque by his second declaration directed the concerned ministries and offices of the government to ear-mark a specified, separate and distinct area for permanent rehabilitation of the sex-workers of Kandupatti without causing any harm to any other class of people.

By the way of mandatory injunction, he finally, as a matter of stop-gap arrangement, directed the government to restore possession of the evicted sex-workers immediately to their previous houses at Kandupatti for a short and temporary period till those people are rehabilitated in the earmarked area to be selected by the relevant government authorities.

By the third declaration Justice M M Hoque also directed the officer in-charge, Kotwali Police Station, Dhaka to start cases on the FIRs recorded according to the written complaints of 14 sex-workers of Kandupatti.

The writ petition was filed by Sultana F Nahar, a practising advocate of the Supreme Court and a human rights worker. Advocate M I Faruqui assisted by Advocate M Salimullah moved for the petitioner, while Deputy Attorney General Kawsaruddin Ahamad represented the government.
