Kashmir.

Guiral.

partment.

In New Delhi, Punjab Chief

Minister Prakash Singh Badal

urged the government "to make it abundantly clear to Pakistan" that it should end "hostile interference" in Punjab and

The United News of India

said Badal's call was made in a meeting with Home Minister

Indrajit Gupta and in a message to Prime Minister Inder Kumar governments "had enough information" that some recent bomb blasts "were engineered plosive RDX was probably used by the bombers who had placed it in the middle of a train com-

He said the heavy duty ex-from across the border.

Badal said central and state

India blames Pakistan

for train blast

NEW DELHI, July 10: Pakistan was blamed by Indian authorities Wednesday for a bomb blast which left 38 people dead and around 70 injured in the frontier state of Punjab.

news agencies reported, says quoted Director General of Police PC Dogra as saying Tues-day's explosion could have been the handiwork of Pakistani in-Dogra gave no evidence to

No group has claimed re-back up his allegations after the devastating blast near the town of Bhatinda in the northern sponsibility, although suspi-cion has fallen on Sikh militants as well as Muslim separatists from neighbouring telligence agents.

Sikh-majority state.

The Press Trust of India

BRIFFIY

HIV in advanced stage in India: The Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV) epidemic has reached an advanced stage in India, with Maharashtra and Manipur continuing to have the highest rates of infection, PTI reports from New Delhi.

Latest consolidated data from all the surveillance centres under the National AIDS Control Organisation (NACO) indicates that one in every ten persons from high-risk groups are infected with the AIDS-causing HIV virus in Maharashtra and Manipur.

The overall AIDS situation is worsening, NACO has warned. As on May 1997, a total of 3.03 million samples from high risk groups and clinically suspected cases of AIDS were screened in various surveillance centres in India.

Jet crash claims 3 in Indonesia: A newly repaired Casa-212 commuter aircraft operated by Indonesia's Merpati Nusantara Airlines crashed on a distant eastern island killing its three crew, the official Antara news agency reported yesterday, Reuter reports from Jakarta.

The report said the aircraft, flying without passengers, crashed 270 metres (yards) short of Ambon's Pattimura Laha Airport, about 2,400 km (2,488 miles) northeast of Jakarta. while making an approach on Wednesday morning.

It said the aircraft was returning to Ambon after seven days stranded on the distant island of Tual after its left engine had to be repaired.

ROK denies having list of spies: South Korea's intelligence agency said yesterday that it was investigating statements by top-level North Korean defector Hwang Jang-yop that there were many spies planted in the South, AFP reports from Seoul.

But the agency denied press reports that Hwang, the North's top fuche (self-reliance) ideologue, had brought with him a list of South Koreans collaborating with Pyongyang.

Evacuation from Cambodia to begin: Australia will on Friday begin the evacuation of hundreds of Australians, Canadians and New Zealanders from strife-torn Cambodia, Foreign Minister Alexander Downer announced yesterday. Reuter reports from Cairns.

Downer also said Australia was reviewing its 32 million Australian dollars (24 million US dollars) annual aid and military assistance to Cambodia.

Cholera claims 19 in Sumatra: A cholera-related disease has killed at least 19 people in two provinces on the western Indonesian island of Sumatra, a report said yesterday, AFP reports from Jakarta. Muntaber, which causes serious diarrhoea and vomiting killed 10 people and infected 253 others in Sangir, west Suma-

The disease killed nine people and infected 147 others in the neighbouring province of Jambi, the Republika Daily said.

8046 rly officers punished in India:
Railways have punished 8046 officials last year for various malpractices during 1995 following vigilance inquiry against their conduct, PTI reports from New Delhi.

The vigilance organisation conducted 31060 preventive checks and investigated 3954 complaints against malpractices during 1996. The vigilance officials also scrutinised the malfunctioning of base kitchen and catering. Major areas of vigilance inquiry covered mass contact area such as passenger reservations, booking offices, booking and parcel offices, trains, platforms and booking of luggage, parcel and goods.

India-Japan defence talks held: India and Japan yesterday discussed regional and global security issues and defence and bilateral cooperation, PTI reports from New Delhi.

A Japanese delegation led by the Parliamentary Vice Minister of defence, Katshuito Asano met the Minister of State for Defence, NVN Somu. Earlier, he held talks with the defence secretary, Ajit Kumar. The Japanese minister also addressed the United Services Institution Wednesday on security perspective of Asia Pacific region and the Japanese defence policy.

Amnesty to Lankan army deserters: Sri Lanka's army commander Thursday announced an amnesty for military deserters who return to their camps within the next 11-days, a senior military official said, AP reports from

"This decision is consequent to a number of requests by the parents of deserters and some deserters themselves," said Brigadier Sarath Munasinghe, the military spokesman.

French model Laetitia Casta presents a short silvery link dress with a beige tulle coat Wednesday in Paris during the Paco Rabanne 1997/98 Fall/Winter high fashion collection.

UNITED NATIONS, July 10:

The world community may have failed to bring lasting peace to Cambodia. But the diplomatic effort that produced the failed peace plan achieved a major success: The removal of Vietnamese troops from the for developments which have a greater impact on stability in Southeast Asia that the issue of whether Hun Sen or his rival,

Prince Ranariddh, comes out on top in the on-going power strug-troops, who invaded Cambodia on Christmas Day 1978 to oust their former Khmer Rouge allies, opened the door to US recognition of its former adver-

The departure of Vietnamese

That in turn paved the way country, reports AP.

sary and made possible Hanoi's entry into the regional trading bloc, the Association of South-tions between Vietnam and China, which fought a brief but bloody border conflict in 1979 when Beijing sought to "punish" the Vietnamese for the Cambo-bring China back into diplomatic respectability after the bloody crackdown on pro-democracy demonstrators in Tiananmen Square in 1989.

China played a major role in the negotiations which produced the peace accords and participated in the UN peacekeeping mission provided for under the agreement.

The process also helped

It also helped improve rela-east Asian Nations.

dian invasion.

Scientists looking for different Martian rocks similar to earth

PASADENA, Calif, July 10: The Mars rover carefully sidled up to another newly discovered "rock star" on Wednesday, nosing close to a boulder nicknamed "Yogi" that scientists hope will deliver more clues about the red planet, reports Reuter.

"We are looking for different rocks so we can get a better idea of Mars' total composition," said mission scientist Matthew Golombek at NASA's jet propulsion laboratory here.

We have lots of different rocks on earth and we would expect to find the same thing on Mars," he said.

"Yogi", named after the cartoon character yogi bear because of what some scientists call its bear-like appearance, will be the second Martian rock that the little six-wheeled buggy has probed following the Pathfinder spacecraft's landing in the Ares Vallis basin of Mars last Friday

Its first target, the pockmarked-looking "barnacle bill", yielded a stream of information which surprised scientists by showing that Mars, far from being alien, is instead a lot like earth.

In the quest to expand the available data, the rover will also be sent to two other nearby rocks, "Casper" and "Scoobie doo" - also dubbed after cartoon characters to examine them with its alpha proton X-ray spectrometre.

The Sojourner had been originally scheduled to scan "Yogi" shortly after its landing. but photographs from the lander craft showed the front of the rock sitting in a hollow, perhaps formed when it was deposited there, either by a flood or being blasted from a nearby volcanic eruption millions or billions of years ago. This, explained Golombek at valuable energy from the sun.

of Tuesday taking high resolution, close-up pictures of "yogi" to determine where it should place its spectrometre against the rock, where it would bomthe chemical make-up of rocks by measuring the changes in protons as they bounce back, is intended to determine the

"From what we can see from rock's composition.

The device, which explores bard the surface with protons.

So the Sojourner spent much a media briefing, could mean the photographs, this is a totally different rock from "Barthat if the rover was to venture nacle Bill" and probably with a to that part of the rock it might slide into the hollow and bump somewhat different composiits solar panels against the tion," Golombek said. rock, depriving its batteries of Instructions were to be sent to the microwave-oven-sized rover early on Wednesday telling it to take its measurement on the left-hand side of the rock, Golombek said.

While the earthbound scientists are quite confident the rover is performing its appointed tasks, they generally have to wait a full day to confirm it, Golombek said.

That is because they have restricted themselves to two sessions daily of sending commands and downloading data at night and early morning Pacific daylight time, when the sun is shining on Sojourner and sending power to its solar

It takes about 10 minutes, 25 seconds for a signal to travel between the two planets.

Jeff Johnson, a US geological survey scientist on loan to NASA, said close-up, high-resolution pictures of "Barnacle Bill" taken by the rover and sent to earth on Tuesday night indicated that it was a homogeneous rock and not a mixture of particles and was more likely to have been formed by a volcanic eruption rather than from sed-

- AFP/UNB photo

UN members urged to shun Hun Sen's military junta

UNITED NATIONS, July 10: Cambodia's UN ambassador on Wednesday urged UN member states to shun the "military junta" of Cambodia led by Co-Prime Minister Hun Sen, reports AFP.

Speaking at a news conference, Prince Sisowath Sirirath also urged the United Nations to act to ensure the restoration of peace in Cambodia, saying that the world body had a historical stake in the country.

Referring to the weekend fighting in Phnom Penh which effectively ousted First Prime Minister Norodom Ranariddh, who was on his way to New York from Paris on Wednesday. the envoy said that "This action was illegally taken by the coup

"So I call on all peace-loving nations of the world not to recognise the new coup leaders of the new regime, the military junta of Cambodia, they are not the representatives of Cambodia," said Sisowath.

Sisowath issued an appeal from Prince Ranariddh, who urged the international community to impose economic sanctions against Cambodia. and called on the association of South East Asian nations to "Review the admission of Cambodia into its distinguished association."

Meanwhile, ASEAN foreign ministers opened an emergency meeting in Kuala Lumpur, today to decide whether to admit Cambodia this month as scheduled after factional fighting broke out there. The Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) talks began after ousted First Prime Minister Prince Norodom Ranariddh urged the ministers to put Cambodia's membership on hold

Quake leaves 36 dead in Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela, July 10: An earthquake that rocked Venezuela's northeast Caribbean coast Wednesday killed at least 36 people, including students inside a collapsed school. Another 157 were injured, official reports said, reports AP.

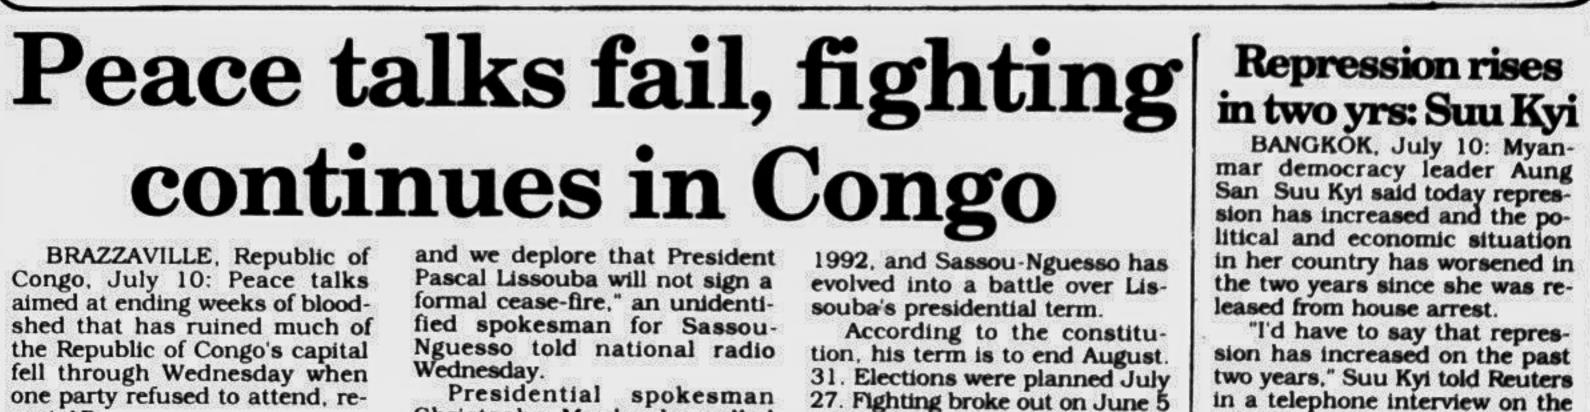

Seven hours after the quake, about 30 people remained trapped in a multi-story insur-ance company building in Cumana, 540 kms (340 miles) east of Caracas, according to Radio Caracas Radio, which had a reporter at the scene. "We felt the tremor ... and I started to run for the door. Then the walls and roof started to fall and the entire building collapsed," said Rosmira Bastida, 14, who was at her dentist's office in the building for a check-

She spent 2 1-2 hours trapped beneath rubble, praying and shouting for help. "It was the only thing we could do," she said in a telephone interview from the Centro Medico with The Associated Press. Rescue workers finally reached her, but her 17-year-old sister Lisbet, who was in the dentist's waiting room was killed by falling debris, wshe week said. At least seven other people were killed there and 27 were injured.

In the nearby town of Cariaco, at least 22 people were killed when a school was reduced to rubble, said Francisco Daboin, director of civil defense in Caracas. It was not known how many of the dead were students, teachers or other em-the Pathfinder from its position on the Martian surface.

BRAZZAVILLE, Republic of Congo, July 10: Peace talks aimed at ending weeks of bloodshed that has ruined much of the Republic of Congo's capital fell through Wednesday when one party refused to attend, report AP.

Representatives of President Pascar Lissouba and his archri val, Gen. Denis Sassou-Nguesso, has agreed to meet on Wednesday in an attempt to negotiate a lasting truce. But a spokesman for Sassou-

Nguesso, the former military dictator ousted by Lissouba, said the meeting was poorly planned and his side would not

"We denounce the unpreparedness of these negotiations

Presidential spokesman Christophe Moukweke called Sassou-Nguesso's refusal "shameful and painful."

Both men had verbally agreed to respect a cease-fire that was to have begun Saturday, according to Brazzaville Mayor Bernard Kolelas, but fighting raged through the weekend and again this week. Gunfire could be heard throughout the capital Wednes-

The power struggle between Lissouba, who was elected in 27. Fighting broke out on June 5 when Lissouba sent his troops to disarm Sassou-Nguesso's private Cobra militia, claiming it was necessary to ensure a peaceful campaign.

This Wednesday photograph taken by the Imager mounted on the Sojourner rover looks back at Sassou-Nguesso said Lissouba was just trying to foment unrest so he would have an excuse to delay the election and prolong his term in power. Since the fighting began. Lissouba has sought to have parliament vote to extend his mandate.

Bosnian Serbs on alert as pressure grows for arrest of Karadzic

PALE, Bosnia-Herzegovina, July 10: Bosnia's most wanted man, Radovan Karadzic, is increasingly isolated in his corner of Serb territory, threatened by a Serb power struggle and by international pressure for his arrest. But nabbing him still won't be easy, reports AP.

Townspeople - speaking on condition of anonymity - say the Bosnian Serbs' indicted wartime leader is taking pre-cautions: He sleeps in different houses to avoid nighttime raids. He surrounded his own house with minefields.

Karadzic also reportedly has bolstered his already tough and loyal security detail in Pale, the town east of Sarajevo where he has made his stronghold.

Two brigades of special forces - roughly 500 men, all war veterans, well-equipped and trained — patrol the forest behind Karadzic's one-story house in this ski village, and the house itself. Nearby, reserve police units and a corps of the Bosnian Serb army are on call. In addition, every Serb here is armed - and no one seems eager to give up Karadzic.

Whatever he is like, no one will just let the Americans arrest him," said Dusan Saric, a 46-year-old Pale resident. "It's a matter of pride."

The new attention President Clinton and other US officials are paying Karadzic is giving people a case of the jitters in

- AFP/UNB photo Nearly everyone here has an

From the start, peace in Cambodia was never the sole goal of the long negotiating process which produced the 1991

Paris Accords. Broader inter-became paramount, prompting the United Nations and the major powers to accept a power-sharing role for Hun Sen which paved the way for the current 1980s, the presence of Vietnamese forces in Cambodia was a serious threat to regional stability in Southeast Asia and an impediment to any international effort to rehabilitate

Cambodia, devastated after

With a pro-Vietnamese gov-nearly two decades of civil war.

In the late 1970s and early

In the end, those interests ests were at stake.

power because of war crimes indictments as an alleged leader of genocide, Karadzic pulls strings and stays in control of the 49 per cent of Bosnia that is in Serb hands.

His aides refuse to allow refugees to return home, or cooperate in knitting the Serb republic and a Muslim-Croat federation together as one country. There is a widespread fear among foreign powers that unless Karadzic is sidelined, the entire international effort will unravel when the peace force leaves next year - leading to new fighting.

Clinton said Wednesday that the international force could arrest Karadzic and other war crimes suspects if it seems the effort would be worth the risk.

However, he declined to comment on persistent reports that a raid is being planned, and that units might be formed to capture Karadzic for trial before an international tribunal at The Hague, Netherlands.

Top US military officers say they have no orders for a military operation to capture Karadzic and other indicted was crimes suspects. International military officials fear any attempt to grab Karadzic would bring violent Serb retaliation.

both sides to halt fighting and honour the 1991 Paris peace accords that ended civil war in Cambodia. UK won't accept second anniversary of her release from six years of house certainly not improved, and neither has political freedom in any way improved," she said in the brief interview that was cut off when the telephone went

US orders most embassy staff to leave Cambodia

United States ordered out all but 20 of its diplomats in Cambodia Wednesday and urged more than 1,000 other Americans to leave, saying the US government can't guarantee condemned reported political

The State Department also their safety, reports AP.

WASHINGTON, July 10: The

"The economic situation has

LONDON, July 10: Britain said today it would not accept a victory by Nigeria's military ruler General Sani Abacha in planned civilian-rule elections next year unless flaws in the poll process were remedied, reports Reuter.

"At the moment it is flawed," Tony Lloyd, Foreign Office Minister responsible for Africa, told the Financial Times in an interview.

"We know that the process of establishment of political parties has been so one-sided as to guarantee that there will be one serious candidate (resulting in) the transition of General Abacha to president Abacha. We cannot accept that."

The Financial Times said Lloyd did not close the door on Nigeria's transition programme but made clear a wider registration of parties was one of the reforms necessary.

between troops, peacekeepers in Sierra Leone

FREETOWN, Sierra Leone, July 10: Soldiers of the military regime that recently ousted the country's democratically elected president battled with Nigerian peacekeepers Wednesday, military sources said, reports AP.

Heavy mortar fire could be heard at Lungi International Airport, where several thousand Nigerian peacekeepers are based. Nigeria, as head of the 16-member Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS), has demanded that Maj Johnny Paul Koroma, who led the May 25 coup, restore President Ahmed Tejan Kabbah's government to power.

US President Bill Clinton responds to questions at a press conference in Madrid, Wednesday, at the end of a two-day NATO Summit at which a NATO-Ukraine Charter was signed, and Poland, Hungary and the Czech Republic were - AFP/UNB photo invited to join the alliance.

UNSC calls for peace talks in Afghanistan

UNITED NATIONS, July 10: The Security Council called for all sides in the Afghan conflict to stop fighting and resume peace talks under UN auspices, reports AP.

In a statement read by its president, Ambassador Peter Osvaid of Sweden, the Council urged all sides "to return to the negotiating table immediately and to work together toward the formation of a broad-based, fully representative government that will protect the rights of all Afghans. Afghanistan has been ravaged by factional violence since the occupying Soviet troops

The Taliban religious army controls the southern twothirds of the country. An anti-Taliban coalition, led by ousted defense chief Ahmed Shah Massood and Uzbek warlord Malik Pahlawan, controls most of the north.

were expelled in 1989.

In his statement, the Security Council said it "is deeply concerned at the continuing discrimination against girls and women and other violations of human rights." The Taliban, which seeks to impose its strict version of Islamic law. has banned women from work and girls from school.

Fighting resumes pull out of Bosnia's in a year's opinion on what the United States might do to capture time, ending its mission to enforce the peace accord that Karadzic, when, and whether ended Bosnia's three and half many people would be killed. The renewed international year war. Although formally out of attention comes as a NATO-led international force prepares to

New Delhi to employ private detectives to spy on bureaucrats!

NEW DELHI, July 10: The New Delhi city administration plans to employ private detectives to spy on corrupt bureaucrats, newspapers reported today, reports AFP.

The spooks will keep an eye on various departments in the city government and report directly to the capital's Chief Minister Sahib Singh Verma, The Times of India said.

"I have spoken to two private detective agencies," Verma was quoted as saying. He added it was part of measures to curb growing corruption. But the announcement was not received kindly by city offi-The Times quoted one unidentified bureaucrat as calling the scheme "stupied and saying that the Chief Minister ernment installed in Phnom

Penh, the Vietnamese launched a major offensive in 1983

against Khmer Rouge guerillas in northwestern Cambodia and clashed with Thai troops along done for the Cambodians as long as Vietnam remained there. None of the major Western countries could normalise relations with Cambodia or provide desperately needed economic aid as long as Vietnamese troops propped up the bodia had become a drain on scarce resources as Hanoi's troops failed repeatedly to crush the Khmer Rouge. China openly supported the anti-Viet-

For the Vietnamese, Cam-government there.

Meanwhile, little could be the border.

had been badly advised."

Lasting peace in Cambodia a mere impossibility? namese resistance.

But Vietnam could not afford to withdraw unless it was convinced that a militantly anti-Vietnamese government would not seize power in the Cambodian capital, Phnom Penh. Enter international diplomacy. The goal was to find a formula under which the Vietnamese would leave without major security concerns and be replaced by a Cambodian government with a modicum of le-

After a series of talks in Paris, Vietnam began withdrawing its troops in December 1988. The following September, Vietnam announced that all its soldiers had left Cambodia.

gitimacy.

assassinations and mass arrests of opponents of coup leader Hun Sen and called on Abacha's 'planned victory' next yr