Telephone: 815306-09, 819625-29, Fax: 813062

DThe Paily Star DUSINESS

Kibria scoffs at critics

Finance Minister Shah A M S Kibria said macroeconomic indicators showed the economy doing well and scoffed and "orchestrated" propaganda on a fictitious crisis which is harming the country's interest. reports UNB.

He hopes firmly that the sagging share market would also be vibrant soon. "I'm confident that the market will go up. This trend cannot go for long. The market must return to upward position." The Finance Minister once again deplored the allegation of "economic crisis" saying that it was an artificially designed crisis publicised by some quarters to scare the people.

"It's a totally baseless campaign against the public interest. I'm deeply disappointed at this," he said and appealed to all to always keep in mind the country's interest while making any statement on economic

The minister was addressing the inaugural function of a Training of Trainers (TOT) Course on Development Banking at a local hotel yesterday.

The six-day course has been organised jointly by Bangladesh Bank and the Islamic Development Bank (IDB) It is being participated by trainers from Bangladesh, Albenia. Gambia, Iran, Kirgyz Republic, the Maldives, Malaysia, Pakistan and Indonesia.

Kibria expressed his resentment on the negative campaign on bank's liquidity crisis. supply of credit, inflation, share market, export, industries and other economic issues.

Cooperative

deptt doesn't have work

From A Correspondent

and employees of cooperative directorate posted here are now sitting idle as the cooperative societies including Bogra central cooperative bank are facing more than five hundred Krishi

Samabaya Samities in the district are awaiting liquidation process due to stoppage of loan operation during the past

1914, has been forced to retrench its all experienced em-hundred officers and employees of cooperative directorate posted here are now idle and some of them, at best, are engaged in conducting only perfunctory audit of the non-functioning cooperative societies to justify their jobs, it is observed.

in the district opined that the cooperative societies should be reactivated with the flow of fund or liquidated immediately.

Russia sends back

Dutch beef

region sent 39 metric tons (43 tons) of beef carcasses back to Holland because some lacked a certification stamp of the producer, the ITAR- Tass news agency said Monday, reports

No traces of disease were

Russia has been leery of im-found in the meat, however, according to the report, which cited local veterinary officials.

ported beef because of mad cow disease and fears that British beef, whose export is banned by the European Union, will find a this summer that some British beef had been illegally exported to Russia, some through Bel-

There were reports earlier

market in Russia.

gium.

MOSCOW, Sept 6: A Russian

The experienced cooperators

The bank, established in

On the other hand, about one

The cooperative bank and

BOGRA, Sept 6: The officers

BOGRA

closure.

ployees.

The finance minister has a fine set of statistics to answer his critics. Yesterday, he came up again to hit back at the political opponents getting at the government while speaking to

He observed that exaggerated on September 17. statement undermines the standard of public debate and tive effect on the country's

He informed that a highpower Japanese business delegation would soon visit Bangladesh to explore investment opportunities here. IDB President is also coming here

Kibria said the government was trying to restore discipline in the banking sector a lack of which had resulted in nonpayment of huge bank loans. "Now people are realising that loans must be paid or face legal consequences

Terming development bank ing a very important branch of banking, he said the country's' experience is not so healthy or satisfactory in this respect.

He said the training course on development banking would help the country reach the standard of other countries through sharing of experiences.

Addressing the function. Bangladesh Bank Governor Lutfor Rahman Sarker said devel opment banking is a very important and timely issue for the banking institutions of the OIC countries.

Such training course will enable the participants to design, develop and implement banking programmes as well as human resource development.

The Governor said the central bank had given the first licence to an Islamic bank in 1983 and later three more banks to run according to Islamic shariah. One more bank is also going to start operation in Bangladesh soon.

AbdulKadir H Deria, officerin-charge of the Islamic research and Training Institute of IDB, also spoke on the occasion. Deputy Governor of Bangladesh Bank M I Khan gave the vote of

French GDP up

PARIS. Sept 6: French gross domestic product rose a provisional 1.0 per cent in the second quarter of the year from the first quarter, after a first quarter increase of 0.2 per cent, the statistics office Insee said, reports AFP.

sis, first quarter growth was 0.75 per cent, up from 0.5 per cent in the first quarter.

2.8 per cent after a 0.5 per cent rise in the first quarter, while house-hold consumption slipped 0.1 per cent after rising 0.2 per cent in the previous term deposits for long-term loans, but alternatives have ernment intervention can be a solution. For instance, he explains his bailout formula, the government can inject some money into the banking system

dred crore exclusively meant for term loans," says a senior ing to manage their funds better. That money from one-year deposits cannot be used to lend.

for example, for a five-year term is the simple argument.

But the process of learning has become a little too painful, not for banks however. It is the government and business that are

In fact, the banks are learn-

The sum could be a few hunto provide term loans.

banker.

mostly paying.

One banker suggests the gov-remained largely unexplored.

JHENIDAH

Traders mull over smuggled medicines

From Our Correspondent

JHENIDAH, Sept 6: Smug-gled Indian medicines have deluged the local markets of Jhenidah and other adjoining districts for the past few years, chemists and druggists alleged.

According to market sources, these medicines are brought into the country through different border points at Jibannagar and Darshana in Chuadanga, Benapole in Jessore and Pragpur in Kushtia districts.

Local pharmaceutical companies say they are facing trouble to sell their own products in the markets.

A section of dishonest people smuggles Indian medicines into the country. These include a variety of medicines produced by Glaxo, Bayer, Tata and some other companies incorporated in India, sources said.

About two hundred unem ployed youngmen are allegedly involved in the activities throughout Jhenidah, Jessore Narail, Chuadanga, Meherpur, Kushtia, Satkhira and Bagherhat districts.

Even contraband phensidyl syrup is being brought into the country by them. Recently police recovered a huge quantity of this syrup and nabbed 30 youngmen from different parts of the area, sources said.

According to reports, a section of chemists and traders are allegedly involved in selling hospital medicines. These medicines are supplied by the government for free distribution among poor and needy patients. But these are sold by pharmacy owners in remote as well as urban areas.

The Managing Director of a national pharmaceutical company said dishonest people are selling medicines at a much lower price in the markets and this is affecting both the local and multinational companies. The government is losing crores of Taka as revenue every year. he added.

When contacted, the Superto solve the problem as they have no sufficient manpower and office in every district right plants in EU order By Govinda Shil

Shrimp processors have begun improving their plants to reach EU-prescribed standards

- some of which are really difficult for them to meet - in their efforts not to let Brussels extend the temporary ban be-yond November 30 when it ex-has set September 15 as the deadline for the processors to upgrade the units who will then apply to it for being included on a fresh list of plants meeting EU

Foods Exporters Association

wants the deadline to be extended. The exporters argue that they do not want to default this time. The fisheries officials are likely to respond positively to the officials will inspect the plants from September 16 to October 9. The final list of the up-to-the-standard plants will be sent to the ministry of fisheries

cial said following the submission of the new list, another EU team is expected to carry out random inspections before

November 30. The team will then consider withdrawing the

with the improvements.

four-degree Celsius.

Celsius.

stainless or plastic trash.

A fisheries department offi-and livestock on October 10.

According to plans so far

But the Bangladesh Frozen criteria.

The fisheries department

Shrimp exporters putting plant owners are working. The department has sent the EU checklist to each of the plant owners, for the first time since 1995 when Brussels asked Dhaka for steps towards meeting the health rules.

Exporters say they have some reservations about some points in the manual.

Among others, they say, it is not necessary for Bangladeshi plants to have facilities for testing heavy metals, radioactive elements etc. They also criticise the provision for frequent tests of anti-biotic, pro-biotic, and other growth agents because "Bangladesh does not have 'semi-intensive' or intensive farming where these agents are

These issues will be discussed today in a meeting with Satish Chandra Roy, the state minister for fisheries and livestock. The meeting will also discuss possible involvement and coordination of local experts from different university labs including ones from the Agricultural University.

"Equipment for heavy metal and radioactivity tests are expensive and we need those tests once in a year," says Dr. Aftabuzzaman, secretary general of BFFEA temporary ban if it is satisfied He said there were other There are at least 280 points places with sophisticated labs such as Bangladesh Atomic Enon the EU checklist (see box for ergy Commission and the highlights), based on which the

Highlights of EU manual

In no circumstances, fish/shrimp could be kept on the floor.

Proper records must be kept about when, from whom and at

At all times temperature of the cold storage must be below

Head of shrimp and other wastes must be kept in covered

Cooling temperature of shrimp must be minus 18 degree

Refrigerated van with minus 18 degree Celsius must be used

System to prevent rodents and vermin inside the plants.

Sufficient space be provided in the washing room.

Fish-grading table must be made of stainless steel.

All water used inside a plant must be drinkable.

what temperature shrimp was bought

Bangladesh Standard and Testing Institute where the tests could be done and huge expenses

He also said most plants would not be able to afford these equipment.

Commercial' banks will be lending the plant owners a maximum Tk 40 lakh to upgrade their factories. The money will be disbursed from September 15, according to agreement reached late last week among the central bank. commercial banks and exporters. A Bangladesh Bank circular is yet to come however. The EU manual which suggested nature, structures and ideal conditions of shrimp processing plants, said the regulations should be maintained and monitored properly. The checklist also deals with such details as maintenance of processing rooms, toilets and floors, construction of basins, and quality and preservation of water and ice. It suggests a number of microbiological and bacteriological tests, and speaks of ideal temperature for fish process and preservation, nature of cold storage, anti-insect and rodent machines.

The manual also emphasises on good working environment for the workers.

Toilets must be pucca and every nine workers will use one toilet, it says. The floor of toilet must be furnished by light colour tiles or be mosaic. Sufficient light will be there and bulbs will be covered. Toilets must have 'English' or 'Turkish' commodes.

"No iron or wooden doors are allowed for the lavatories and those need to be germ free.

"There must be a flow of germ free water (with certain amount of chlorine) on a slopped construction at the entrance of the plants so that workers' feet are automatically washed and made clean. "All floors inside the plant must be well constructed and smooth so that it could be washed easily. A good ventilation system should be incorporated with the processing trainees on development banking.

political divisions have negaeconomy.

Kibria claimed bank's liquidity position, flow of bank credit and the rate of inflation are satisfactory, exports "doing well" and investment is rising.

The Finance Minister said foreign orders in garment factories are full up to 1998 while investment was increasing particularly in hydrocarbon and power sector.

On a seasonally adjusted ba-

Manufacturing output rose

Ice from outside of the plant is not allowed. Each plant must have a registered doctor. intendent of Drugs. Jessore. Workers must have two set of aprons, gloves, masks, cape. said they are not in a position Plants must have appropriate generators to maintain temperature during power failure.

News Analysis

for shrimp shipment.

Managing your money is the key in shambles COMILLA, Sept 6: The BSCIC industrial estate here is yet to Advisory Services Center in the city recently.

Photo shows participants of a five day training workshop

on 'Profitable prawn farming' organised by Business

Comilla BSCIC estate

be fully operational even 37 years after its inauguration.

says UNB. Residential areas sprang up in some parts of the industrial estate and some small industrial units, which were set up in other parts of the estate, have been somehow operating. The infrastructural facilities including roads and drains have been decaying due to lack of maintenance and care.

The BSCIC industrial estate was established in between Thakurpara and Ranir Bazar in the heart of the town in 1960. There are 136 plots on more than 54 acres of land. Most of the industrial units are of food and aluminium.

The sanctioning of plots are yet to be completed. The BSCIC authority allotted these plots afresh after cancelling the previous allotment who failed to set up industries for long and hence the industrial estate could not turn into a fullfledged one.

Besides, some 50 entrepreneurs are using the plots as their residences but actions are yet to be taken against

A total of 92 enterprises are operating at the estate while 12 units could not start production. Some 14 different units remained closed rendering about 2 lakh workers jobless Some seven-eight units are being constructed newly and none can say when the construction of these units would be completed.

Indonesia to pay for warplanes with commodities

JAKARTA, Sept 6: Indonesia will pay for Russian-built jet fighters and helicopters with 500 million dollars worth of commodities and other goods. the government said Thursday. reports AP.

Indonesia announced Aug 5 that it would buy 12 Sukhoi-30K jet fighters and eight MI-17-IV helicopters, two months after it walked away from a deal to buy nine F-16 fighters from the United States in a dispute over human rights.

National Development and Planning Minister Ginandjar Kartasasmita said Indonesian and Russian officials agreed on the counter-purchase deal in Moscow on Friday.

Details of the agreement would be settled within the next eight weeks.

He said Indonesia has offered a list of 40 commodities and goods that could be used for payment, including palm oil coffee, tea, textiles, toys, handicrafts and cement.

Banks are 'flooded' with An extra-cautious governcash, but businessmen comment -- and the central bank -plain getting loans from them is putting extra pressures on the has become a tough task these banking system by telling them to be extra careful in rating ap-The result has been the outplicants' creditworthiness.

cry from the chamber leaders The central bank governor that money is a problem, while puts it simply enough. "We want problem lies somewhere else. loans to be sanctioned purely on the basis of merit of applica-The banks are only displaying a "good funds management". by not using funds from short-

In a sense, the government or the governor is right, so are the banks, in their attitude. But the results have not been to anybody's advantage.

The cash pile is doing no good to the banks, if the governor's theory has any substance: The money sitting idle affects a bank's profitability," Lutfar Rahman Sarkar, a former commercial banker, says.

Secondly, the businesses aren't getting the benefits ei-And thirdly, of course, the government is losing points, let alone scoring any, despite the fact that it is sitting with a fairly convincing set of statis-

While the business barons are busy making tough statements, the government does not seem doing its job other than releasing statistics to claim evBy Toufique Imrose Khalidi erything is fine.

The direct intervention option aside, there many others that banks and businesses are talking about. There's a long list of options that can be tried, they say.

One such is interest subsidy. For instance, for any 100 taka given to a manufacturer as term loan, the government can give an interest subsidy, may be at two per cent.

Risk hedging facility is one that can bring foreign banks into term financing. Entrepreneurs, borrowing from foreign banks, can convert foreign currency into taka, in which case the lenders should be given a forward facility at a fixed cost so that they can price their long-term loan accordingly.

And then, the banking system can activate their own mechanism. Through syndication, for example, the risk is shared among banks involved.

"Local banks' money and foreign banks' risk analysis expertise can be put together for syndication," says a top executive with a transnational. The government, in this case, has to play a facilitator in terms of encouraging such arrangements. Banks are however utilising their excess money by giving out short-term loans to government. They are making it almost at the market rate with 30-day treasury bills, a top banker says.

Thus, official claims of lower government borrowing compared to that of the previous year's do not really hold much water. The fact of the matter is direct borrowing has gone up.

The money was supposed to be lent out to traders and entrepreneurs. The reasons behind this not happening are that "effective demand" in the economy has gone down drastically and that essential commodity import has been at a very low level.

Now, one of the key tasks of the government is to create an effective demand in the econ-

One suggested way out of the stagnating atmosphere is creating this demand by increased government spending on, for example, infrastructure. Business sources say government also needs to gear up its vigil along the border to check smuggling, which has put formal trade almost out of the "The situation in North Bengal is really bad," says a banker. Reports from our correspondents only add credence to the story. The banker explains: "The commodities which could be imported through formal channel are now being smuggled into the country, which means banks do not have any involvement in it."

On the other hand, businesses have not been up to the mark in terms of being business-like in their approach banking sources say even sanctioned loans cannot be disbursed because of poor documentation.

"An entrepreneur tells us he has purchased land when he hasn't really done it. And when he is asked to produce papers to take money, he cannot come up with one. This leads to delays in physical draw down," a banker says, citing one particular case. "May be, chambers can help in this regard.

Banks after all cannot dole out their money just for sake of using the idle money. They have to justify it.

Industrial relations basically means labour-management relations. It is the relationship which prevails in the workplace among the partners of production. This relationship is firstly between man and machine and then between man and man that is the man who directly works for production (the labourer) and men who manage the production process (the management). When the relationship is sound the working environment is healthy, resulting improved productivity, but when the relationship is sour working environment is disturbed or polluted, thus misunderstanding or disputes arise, as a result productivity suffers. It is this relationship which looks after the behaviour pattern of employers and workers, and settlement of differences or disputes arise therefrom.

raising of disputes, trade union rights, wages, hours of work, compensation, etc. It is also concerned with negotiations of industrial disputes, conciliation, strike or lockout, arbitration and lastly adjudication of those disputes in the Labour Courts.

processes through which employers and workers and their organisations establish and administer rule to govern the employment-relations. The employment-relationship includes the rules governing the rates at which labourer will be remunerated and conditions of employment. Employers and workers establish rules and procedures to govern their relations and to resolve problems arise therefrom. Workers are, therefore, capable to voice their concerns and views and can express their matters of mutual interest with a view to resolve the problems or disputes.

rules which apply to work — why and how rules are made, as well as what they are.

The first and basic condition for establishing the parties to industrial relations is the right of workers and employers to establish and join organisations of their own choosing, within the purview of basic ILO standards on the subject. The parties to industrial relations are of course, mainly trade unions and their

The Industrial relations system in Bangladesh is solely based Industrial relations, in other words, looks after matters like,

Industrial Relations also means the set of institutions and Industrial relations is, in other words, concerned with the members and employers and their organisations. Industrial relations system in Bangladesh

Between man and machine, and then man and man

A civil servant throws light on various aspects of industrial relations and dispute settlement procedures in Bangladesh

By Daud-uz-Zaman Chowdhury

on the provisions of the Industrial Relations Ordinance 1969. It provides for, in details, procedures for dispute settlement negotiations, conciliation, arbitration and adjudication. A plant level trade union, which is elected or considered as CBA can raise a dispute in writing and place it before the management for bipartite negotiation. Similarly, the employer can also raise a dispute and place it before the CBA/trade union for bipartite negotiation. Such negotiation have to take place within ten days. If the parties reach a settlement, a memorandum of settlement is recorded in writing and signed by both the parties. When bipartite negotiation fails, any of the parties can refer the dispute to a conciliator in writing. Officers of the department of labour have been appointed by the government as conciliators. If the conciliator fails to settle the dispute within ten days the party raising the industrial dispute may serve on the other party a 21 days notice of strike/lock-out. However, the CBA before serving any such notice is required to obtain the consent of three-fourths of its members through a secret ballot specifically held for the purpose, for resorting to a strike.

Where a party serves a notice of strike/lock-out, it has to simultaneously deliver a copy thereof to the conciliator, and the conciliator, on receipt of the notice, proceeds again to conciliate in the dispute, notwithstanding the notice of strike/lock-out. If such a notice does not conform with the provisions of the Industrial Relations Ordinance 1969, or the rule "creunder, or the constitution of the trade union concerned, the Constitution may, at his own discretion, decide not to proceed with the matter and in that case the notice of strike shall not be deemed to have been served.

In case the conciliator, on receipt of such a notice of strike/lock-out, starts conciliation of the dispute, he should call a meeting of the parties for the purpose of bringing about a settlement. Representatives of the parties are under legal obligation to attend the meetings called by the conciliator. The conciliator has the authority to call for, inspect or seize any register, document or certificate which he has reason to believe is relevant to the dispute. He also has the authority to enter the premises occupied by any establishment to which the dispute relates and require any person whom he finds in the establishment to give information relating to the dispute as is within his knowledge. He keeps records of the conciliation proceedings in a manner which he deems fit and has the authority to suggest to either party concessions or modifications in the demand which, in his opinion, are likely to promote an amicable settlement of the dispute. If any settlement is arrived at in the course of the conciliation proceedings, he sends a report thereof to the government, together with a memorandum of settlement signed by the parties. If no settlement is arrived at within the period of the notice of strike/lockout, conciliation proceedings may be continued for a further period may be agreed upon by the

If conciliation fails, the conciliator tries to persuade the parties to agree to refer the dispute to an arbitrator. If the parties agree, they make a joint request in writing for reference of the dispute to an Arbitrator agreed upon by them. The arbitrator gives his award within a period of thirty days or a further period, as may be agreed upon by the parties. The arbitrator forwards his award to the parties and to the government, and the government publishes it in the official gazette. The arbitrator's award is final and no appeal lies against it.

If no settlement is arrived at during the course of the conciliation proceedings and the parties do not agree to refer the case to an arbitrator, workers may go on strike or the employers may declare a lockout on the expire of the period of notice, or upon issuance by the conciliator of a certificate of failure, whichever is later. The parties may, at any time, either before or after the commencement of a strike/lockout make a joint application to the Labour Court for adjudication of the dispute. However the government has also the authority to prohibit such a strike/lockout by referring the dispute forthwith to the Labour Court of adjudication. Awards of the Labour Court are binding on all the parties, unless appealed against to the Labour Appellate Tribunal, and in that case the decision on the Tribunal is final.

The extent of collective bargaining is defined under the provisions of the Industrial Relations Ordinance 1969, as all matter relating to the rights and interests of workers in the private sector are governed under the provisions of this law. In the public sector, however, matters relating to wages, including medical benefits, housing conveyance and leave benefits are determined by the Wages and Pay Commission set up by the government. Other terms and conditions like hours of work appointments and dismissals, apprenticeship, gratuity, compensation, working conditions, etc are prescribed under the provisions of various labour laws.

Chowdhury is a joint secretary at ministry of labour and