We have to develop planned cities, Nasim tells seminar

Housing and Works Minister Mohammad Nasim yesterday laid emphasis on decentralisation of urban facilities and strengthening local government infrastructures to stop the current trend of migration to cities, reports BSS.

The objective of the government is to ensure increased people's participation through decentralising the administration. This will stop influx of huge number of people to major cities."

He said this while speaking at a seminar on "Future Cities". We have to develop planned cities for balanced distribution of urban facilities," he added.

Prof Nazrul Islam of Geography Department of Dhaka University and director of City Research Centre presented the keynote paper at the seminar organised by the Rajuk at its auditorium to mark the World Habitat Day.

Works Secretary M A M Ziauddin and chief planner of Rajuk Zakir Hossain, among others, spoke on the occasion while Rajuk Chairman Humayun Khadem presided over the function.

Nasim, also Post and Telecommunications Minister, urged all concerned to follow the building codes and guidelines of the authorities, particularly in Dhaka, for constructing buildings for planned urbanisation.
