"My career has been as clear as a crystal. I regret that I did something unbecoming of a sportsman and inside me, there is also a patriot but a vulnerable soul."

Indonesia buck up Brunei

JAKARTA, Oct 20: A senior Indonesian official has expressed hope that the next South East Asian Games in Brunei in 1999 will be much better than those which ended on Sunday in Jakarta, reports AFP.

"The Games went as planned. I'm happy about it, but I hope that the next Games will be much better than what we did here," The Jakarta Post today quoted Coordinating Minister for People's Welfare Azwar Anas as saying after the closing ceremony.

Indonesia played host to the largest ever South East Asian Games with 34 events in numerous venues - several of which were criticised for sub-standard conditions.

Sports and Youth Minister Hayono Isman apologised on the opening day for any inconvenience caused to the more than 4,300 athletes and hundreds of officials from the 10 countries in the region.
