Clavet clinches Colombia Open

BOGOTA, Nov 3: Top-seeded Francisco Clavet of Spain defeated Ecuador's Nicolas Lapentti 6-3, 6-3 Sunday to win the Cerveza Club Colombia Open, his second straight ATP Tour title.

Last week, Clavet won the Mexican Open.

Clavet broke Lapentti's serve in the opening game of the match, then broke him again in the ninth game, winning the set in 44 minutes. In the second set, Clavet went up 4-2 with a break in the sixth game. He then closed out the match by holding serve from love-30.

The title was the fifth of Clavet's career. Lapentti played in his third consecutive Colombia Open final, winning in 1995.

POLICE ON PATROL: Following the crowd trouble on Saturday cops took over the Dhaka Stadium, ending what would have been an absorbing battle.

It's not cricket at all

Syed Ashfaq Haque

Cricket is known to be a gentlemen's game. Spectators with genuine appreciation for the finer aspects of the game and sportsmen bathed in a spirit of sportsmanship have come to be known as the glorious attributes of this game.

Unlike most other games, cricket has its own aesthetics involving the players as well as spectators. Even in an adrenaline-pumping contest, audience never forgets to applaud a beautiful shot, a fine spell of bowling, a superb piece of fielding. And it does not matter if the player belongs to the rival camp. This neutral appreciation for the goodness which has set an admirable tradition for the game.

But it is unfortunate that some ruffians in the guise of organisers and some amateurs are abusing this ancient hallowed spirit of the game. Two appalling incidents during the ongoing Damal Smriti tournament have brought us face to face with this ugly reality.

On Saturday, at the lush green expanse of the Dhaka Stadium, cricket was painfully castigated. With country's two crowd-pulling outfits — Abahani Krira Chakra and Mohammedan Sporting Club, engaging in an exciting battle, two star performers of the country — Minhazul Abedin Nannu and Aminul Islam Bulbul — reacted unsportingly on a leg before decision to ignite an ugly unrest in the stands which forced the authorities to call off the match for the day.

Nannu, a veteran of nearly two decades, missed an off-spinner while playing a reverse sweep and was adjudged leg before by umpire Shaheen. Nannu probably thought that he can never be out in that way and did not hesitate to show his dissatisfaction by shrugging in disgust. And his skipper and batting partner Aminul Islam, put both their reputation and future on the line? It will be unbecomingly vulgar if the disciplinary body of BCB puts these national stalwarts through their paces?

Following another incident Tanjib Ahsan Saad tendered his resignation from the post of the secretary of Bangladesh Cricket Board. Saad, a former cricketer and BCB's first-ever paid secretary, took the decision after having a hideous experience while performing as the match adjudicator during the match between Bangladesh Biman and Kalabagan Krira Chakra on October 31.

For the man-of-the-match award, Saad preferred Pakistani international Salim Malik for his unbeaten 92 to Kalabagan's Harunur Rashid Lito who hammered a dazzling 77. But Alam Chowdhury, who was Saad's deputy in BCB and happened to be an influential cog in Kalabagan club committee, could not be happy with the decision of the match adjudicator and he did not waste a moment to express it in the most vulgar way. He charged his way towards Saad to give him a good piece of his mind. And a beleaguered Saad, who had somehow managed to escape a sheer humiliation of physical assault in front of the star Pakistani recruit of Biman, found no other means to protest but to call it quits.

After the sad episode, cricket experts have lost their interests in playing the thankless role of match adjudicator. If things go like this, someday they might have to consult with the officials of the participating clubs before declaring the name of the awardee.

BCB president Saber Hossain Chowdhury has earned the reputation of being a wise administrator. Now the question is, does this omen bothers Saber?

TANJIB AHSAN SAAD
chances of controversial decisions. A sportsman should have the mentality and temperament to accept those sportingly. If something needs to be protested, it should be voiced from proper platform and in a recognised way.

Players like Nannu and Bulbul should be the role model for the youngsters. What the youngsters will learn from their attitudes on the field Saturday? Did not the old guards

Jonathan victor in China

JIAMEN, China Nov 3: Jonathan Jones of the Gold Leaf F1 Racing team survived a minor accident with three laps remaining Sunday, to win the Grand Prix of China UIM Formula 1 powerboat race before 45,000 fans at Lake Yuandang, says a press release.

The Welshman negotiated the 70 laps on the tight triangular course in 63 minutes 47.37 seconds to edge out American Scott Gillman, who also races a Seebold, by a little more than seven seconds. However, the 15 points gained for his runner-up position increased Gillman's season total to 122 and clinched the drivers' championship. Jones moved up to fourth place in the cumulative standings with 45 on the 20 points for the win.

Jones had captured the pole position with a spectacular qualifying session on Saturday, and immediately threw away that advantage with a "terrible start."

Guido Cappellini, the 1996 champion, was awarded third in the race with a time of 64:54.62 after pertti Leppala of Finland was docked one lap for a yellow-flag violation. Cappellini stands third in the driver's championship with 97 points, two behind Leppala, the only competitor in the top four not to win a race this season. Gillman has won four of the eight races, while Jones and Cappellini have two victories apiece. Leppala has three seconds, three thirds and a pair of fourth-place results in the eight races.

Pete retains Paris title

PARIS, Nov 3: Even with a sore arm, Pete Sampras was too good for the field at the Paris Open and virtually clinched the No. 1 ranking in tennis for the fifth year in a row, reports AP.

Sampras gained his seventh title of the year and 51st of his career — most of any active player — by topping Sweden's Jonas Bjorkman in the final of the Paris tournament 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, 6-1 Sunday. Sampras also won here in 1995.

According to ATP Tour information, Sampras is virtually assured a top ranking in men's tennis at the end of the year for the fifth consecutive season. Pat Rafter, the only one who could catch him, would have to win the Stockholm tournament this week as well as the ATP Tour World Championships unbeaten with Sampras not winning a match the rest of the year.

"Five years in a row, I'm surprised. It's hard to stay on top for so long in any sport, especially tennis with all the young guys coming up," Sampras said.

The only other player to rank No. 1 for five consecutive years was Jimmy Connors between 1974 to 1978. Connors has eight Grand Slam titles compared to Sampras' 10, including the Australian Open and Wimbledon this year.

Mexican Duilio Davino (L) and Christopher Henderson of the United States are in quest of the ball during their CONCACAF Group World Cup qualifier in Mexico City on Nov 2. The match ended in a goalless draw.

Koreans stir up themselves

SEOUL, Nov 3: South Korean players promised today to return home with a victory in their last Asia Group B match against United Arab Emirates (UAE) after their humiliating weekend defeat by arch-rivals Japan, reports AFP.

"After having watched the UAE-Uzbekistan match, I am confident that South Korea can win," head coach Cha Bum-Kun told reporters at Seoul's Kumpo airport.

"I will bring back a victory for our fans," he said.

South Korea will play UAE who are desperate for a win to secure a place at the World Cup in France next year.

After Japan beat South Korea 2-0 Saturday, and UAE were held to 0-0 by Uzbekistan on Sunday, Japan and moved a point clear of UAE and a step closer to realising their dream of playing in France.

South Korea and Japan will be co-hosting the 2002 World Cup and Japan does not want to be the only nation to host the games without ever having played in one.

South Korea, who have already clinched a ticket to next year's finals, play UAE on November 9. Japan play bottom of the table Kazakhstan on November 8.

Connors' sixth of the season

TOKYO, Nov 3: American tennis legend Jimmy Connors reminded his fans in Tokyo of his golden days by beating compatriot Mel Purcell to win the Champions' tennis tournament here today, reports AFP.

The veteran 45-year-old, who started the senior tour in 1993, ran for everything like he did in his prime days to score a 6-1, 6-2 victory for his sixth title of the season.

Paris Open champion Pete Sampras of America (L) and Swede Jonas Bjorkman, the defeated finalist, pose with their trophies after the showdown in Paris on Nov 2.

Mexico first from CONCACAF

MEXICO CITY, Nov 3: Mexico qualified for the World Cup finals on Sunday while the United States boosted their chances of joining them in France 98 with a 0-0 draw at the Guillermo Canedo Stadium, reports Reuters.

In a bizarre ending the Mexico team were booed off the pitch by their own fans for failing to beat the gritty Americans, who played with 10 men for an hour after Jeffrey Agoos was sent off in the 30th minute for elbowing an opponent.

Despite the wrath of their fans Mexico still did enough to collect the point they needed to ensure their place in the finals for the 10th time.

But while Mexico made their place in the finals secure, the United States also got something out of the game.

"This was a golden point," US coach Steve Sampson told reporters after the game, the first time the United States had ever avoided defeat on Mexican soil in a World Cup qualifier.

With two rounds to play, Mexico top the six-team CONCACAF final group with 16 points, to become the first of three qualifiers from the region, followed by Jamaica on 12 and the United States on 11. El Salvador, fourth on nine, still have to play against Jamaica and the United States, while fifth placed Costa Rica still retain a slim chance of reaching the finals.

After Agoos was sent off, the US played defensively thwarting every Mexican attack spearheaded by Carlos Hermosillo and Luis Hernandez.

American keeper Brad Friedel made a few saves in the second half but was never seriously threatened by the disgruntled Mexican attack.

The 120,000 fans at a capacity Guillermo Canedo, which as the Aztec Stadium staged the 1970 and 1986 World Cup finals, were so unhappy with their team that they started cheering for the Americans 20 minutes before the final whistle.

In contrast, the Mexican team was booed and jeered by a crowd which also hollered for the sacking of Serbian coach Bora Milutinovic, who has previously coached the US team in 1994 World Cup finals.

An angry Milutinovic was the target of some angry equalling pointed questioning by local reporters afterwards but said: "I didn't like the match, but we got a point and we are in the World Cup."

Sampson added afterwards: "I told my players before the match that if we held Mexico scoreless, the Mexican fans would start to turn. I not saying I approve of that, but it did help us," Sampson said.

The United States travel to Canada next week before wrapping up their campaign with a home match against El Salvador on November 16.
