Ronesh Dasgupta dead

Writer-journalist Ronesh Dasgupta died in Calcutta yesterday at the age of 86, reports UNB.

Ronesh, a leader of the anti-British movement, died at PG Hospital in the West Bengal capital at 12:15 pm (BST), said a press release of the National Convening Committee on him in the city yesterday evening.

It said he was suffering from old age ailment and was fitted with a pacemaker recently.

Born on January 15, 1912, Ronesh Dasgupta involved himself in anti-British movement during his student life. For this, he was expelled from Bakura Christian College in 1930.

He also played a leading role in Dhaka Progoti Lekhak Sangha from 1938 to 48 and was a close associate of the language movement veterans.

Ronesh suffered long prison terms during the Pakistan period and after being released began journalism in Dainik Sangbad. He also translated works of Urdu poet Fayed Ahmed Fayed.

His publications include Alo Diye Alo Jala, Uppannash Shilporoop, Shedin Shokale Dhakay, Sammohadi Uthtan Prottasha, Atma Jiggasha, Rahman Ma O Onnanno, Sajjad Zahir Promukh, Muktdhara, Shilpir Swadhinatar Proshne, Ayoto Drishtite Ayotroop and Latin Americarr Muktsangram.

The Convening Committee will meet at TSC Cafeteria of Dhaka University at 4 pm today to arrange a memorial meeting on him.

Book release

A book titled 'Land Management in South Asia: A Comparative Study' will be released today, reports UNB.

The book will simultaneously be released from Karachi, Oxford and New York by the Oxford University Press and from New Delhi by the Monohar Publishers.

It has been written by Dr Kamal Siddiqui — a senior civil servant, research scholar and noted economist of Bangladesh.

The book will be released here by the University Press Limited (UPL).

Clashes mark hartal

The pickets pelted bricks, threw home-made bombs at police and burnt tyres on roads in the area.

Police said they lobbed 35 tear gas shells and fired about 10 blank shots to disperse the pickets in the area. Chase and counter-chase between police and pickets continued till 2 pm. Police forces were reinforced to bring back order in the area.

Pro-hartal activists damaged a double-decker bus at Shahbagh crossing and a minibus at Kazipara in Mirpur in the morning.

The strike disrupted normal life in the city. A good number of rickshaws were seen on roads. Some BRTC buses plied under police escort.

Most of the business centres, banks and commercial offices remained closed and attendance in government offices were thin.

About 6,000 police and paramilitary BDR were deployed at the strategic points in the city since early morning yesterday.

All the domestic and international flights to and from the Zia International Airport operated as per schedule. Movement of trains and launches to and from the city was normal according to sources at Kamalapur railway station and Sadarghat launch terminal.

Cabinet

According to the decision, the government will purchase Aman paddy at the rate of Tk 700 per quintal, Aman rice at Tk 1070 and wheat at the rate of Tk 880 per quintal. The prices are higher than that previously, the sources said.

The cabinet also approved a proposal for extending the area of operation of Dhaka Electric Supply Authority (DESA).

Political scene

The US-led attack, backed by 14 other Western bilateral donors including an active Japanese voice, centred on lack of tolerance in the society. The entire donors' group put emphasis on ensuring what sources said 'human security'.

The representatives of the 15 countries articulated their reaction to the current political situation in a signed statement which was circulated among the participants. A World Bank source said the strongly-worded statement was not read out at the meeting, but would be included in the meeting summary to be released to the press today.

The donors, mainly multilateral agencies, also criticized the government in such areas as governance, reforms, privatization of state business an, and private sector development. They were also unhappy about the macro-economic situation in Bangladesh.

"We are trying... there are problems," Kibria was quoted to have told the meeting in defence of the government.

Kibria was the lone minister in the government delegation to the first-ever Bangladesh Aid Consortium Meeting being held in Dhaka. The Cabinet Secretary, the Principal Secretary to the Prime Minister, the Bangladesh Bank Governor, Finance Secretary, Banking Secretary, Establishment Secretary and Economic Relations Division Secretary were, among others, with the minister.

the democratic system going."

The right to register protest through hartal is a right recognised everywhere, the President said. "But the hartals that affect economic development are not desirable."

The President further said that hartal was not the only means of protest. "If hartal has to be observed at all in a democracy, both its extent and scale can be reduced."

The President said: "Parties support hartal when in the Opposition and oppose the same when in power." He also said, all the political parties claim that all problems confronting the nation could be discussed on the floor of parliament, but still, parliament sessions are being boycotted. "It is going today, and it had happened during the previous government."

"Why should a party commit the same mistake which another party had committed in the past?" the President regretted.

Director General of BISS, Muhammad Shahedul Anam Khan, also spoke on the occasion.

and finance ministers of the SAARC countries.

He said that during the upcoming tripartite summit between India, Pakistan and Bangladesh, there would be scope for the presence of three ministers of each participating countries comprising of foreign, finance and commerce ministers.

Sobhan felt that what is hindering economic dynamism in SAARC is its inability in forging a partnership between government and private sectors.

Prof Rehman Sobhan said, "We should stop playing games with our neighbours" and do serious economic thinking for economic cooperation.

"Otherwise," Rehman warned, "We face the risk of being marginalised by the global competition."

An anti-hartal procession was brought out by ruling Awami League at Mohakhali in the city yesterday. — Star photo

Jafar Alam made dy chief information officer

Jafar Alam, a senior officer of Information Department, has been made deputy chief information officer of the department, reports UNB.

Abdul Awal Howlader, director of the Mass Communication department, has been deputed to the external publicity wing as director.

The challenge

Engineering Staff College will not confine its focus only to the majority of its cardinal target group - the engineers. It will also attach equal importance to other professionals. Besides, the post graduate degree holders the aspirants having relatively less academic background would be also welcome to its academic facilities. In fact, the Staff College would be a national engineering focused institution and immensely contribute to our development.

Staff College is not a new concept for training of the professionals. Similar higher training (for continuous education) facilities are available through 'Army Staff College' for personnel of Armed Forces, 'T & T Staff College' for telecommunication people, PATC (Public Administration Training Centre) for BCS Administrative & other cadres. In fact Engineering Staff College will accommodate all professionals engaged in the development activities.

No matter how much education one has, it is not enough. Unless one devotes time and continuing his education, he will quickly drop out. This caution is not a prophecy of doom - on the contrary, its aim is to help you see where you fit into the scheme of things and tell you something more to think about and act.
