Brazil ride on free kicks

12: Brazil made the most of their expertise at free kicks as they recorded a flattering 3-0 win over Wales in a friendly international on Tuesday, reports Reuters. Two perfectly taken free kicks by Rivaldo and Rodrigo either side of halftime settled the game after Zinho had put Brazil ahead in the 32nd minute.

Despite an obvious gap in class, Brazil, who recorded their 12th successive win, would have struggled without the free kicks as the enterprising Welsh created a number of chances, which they failed to convert into goals.

Brazil were missing several top players, who have already played the five friendlies for which their European clubs are obliged to release them in a year, and their hastily assembled squad did not even have time to train before the match. Wales, who suffered a hateful of goals as they failed to qualify for the World Cup, seemed ill-advised to take on the world champions with an understrength team in hot conditions one-day after completing a 16hour plane journey.

Top players - Ryan Giggs.

John Harson, Mark Hughes and

Nathan Blake withdrew from the squad, forcing coach Bobby Gould to call up replacements only hours before the team left for Brazil. Gould and his Brazil counterpart Mario Zagallo both said they would do it all again. "It was a valid test, we wanted to play against the British style and there were plenty of high balls into our defence," said Zagallo. "It's not easy to not train. and then put on an exhibition like this. The game was played in front of a subdued crowd in the capital and the voice of Gould shouting frantically could be heard throughout. The second half started five minutes late as Argentine referee Javier Castrilli tried in vain to clear the incredible number of hangerson from around the pitch.

Brazil's lack of training was obvious at the start, when they looked disjointed and Simon Hawroth twice threatened for Wales with far post headers in the first two minutes, in the 11th minute, he also failed to connect properly with a cross from Dean Saunders following a break.

Brazil, beaten by Wales on their last meeting in 1991, gradually took control and Zinho opened the scoring when he poked the ball past Paul Jones after a defence-splitting pass by Rivaldo. Five minutes later, Rivaldo curled a 30-shot over the Welsh wall and into the net from a free kick. Wales missed two good chances either side of halftime and paid the price in the 50th minute when Rodrigo scored his first international goal from a free kick that was similar, if slightly closer to the goal, then Rivaldo's.

In the last minute, Rivaldo came close to a magical goal when he chipped Andy Marriot from near the centre circle, but the substitute goalkeeper and Marriot scrambled back and just managed to tip the ball over the crossbar.

Sampras stumbles early

HANOVER, Ger many. Nov 12 (AP. Reuters). Pete Sampras, defending champion and No. 1 in the world, was upset in the opening match the ATP Tour World Championship, losing in three sets to Carlos Moya Tuesday. Moya won 6-3, 6-7, 6-2 over an erratic Sampras and gained a measure of revenge for a straight-sets loss to the American in the final of the Australian Open early this year. But, while Moya took revenge in style. Greg Rusedski failed to make Patrick Rafter pay for his defeat at the US Moya and Rusedski, both newcomers in the year-end event for the world's top eight players, faced the men who had beaten them in the final of the Australian and the US Open respectively. Because of the round-robin format of the preliminary round, Sampras is still not out of contention in the seasonending event. But he faces tough matches against Rafter and Rusedski, who are both ranked higher than No 7 Moya.

The 3.3 million dollars tournament brings together the top eight players in the world. split into two groups. The top two from each group advance to the semifinals.

Sampras had a whopping total of 50 unforced errors and even lagged behind in aces, 6-8. "I fought and I made him work hard for every point," said Moya, a 21-year-old Spaniard who is the youngest player in the eight-man field. Despite the lose and regardless of the outcome of the tournament. Sampras will finish as No 1 for the fifth straight year. a record he shares with Jimmy Connors.

Agassi starts his odyssey

LAS VEGAS. Nov 12: Andre Agassi took a small step in his quest to regain his world-class stature with a 6-2, 6-4 victory over Australian Michael Tebbutt in Tuesday's opening round of the USTA Men's Challenger tennis tournament at UNLV, reports AP.

"I feel like this is a step for me, and it's part of my preparation in hopes of really getting myself back to where I know I can be." Agassi said after dispatching Tebbutt in 56 minutes.

Agassi, ranked 139th in the world, said he isn't taking anything for granted in this tournament, in which he is the fifth seed but clearly the most experienced player.

NEW YORK, Nov 12: Mary Joe Fernandez of the United States, Spain's Conchita Martinez and French pair Sandrine Testud and Nathalie Tauziat have qualified for the women's Masters here next week, the WTA announced on Tuesday. reports AFP.

Nine players - Martina Hingis of Switzerland, Amanda Coetzer (South Africa), Jana Novotna (Czech Republic). Monica Seles and Lindsay Davenport (USA), Iva Majoli (Croatia), Mary Pierce (France), Irina Spirlea (Romania) and Arantxa Sanchez-Vicario (Spain) were already assured of a berth.

But three places remain up for grabs and will not be distributed until after this week's tournament in Philadelphia.

The three likeliest recipients are Germany's Anke Huber. Brenda Schultz-McCarthy of the Netherlands and Lisa Raymond of the United States.
