Mixed time for Agassi

LAS VEGAS, Nov 15: Fifthseeded Andre Agassi was fined the maximum 1,000 dollars for swearing at the chair umpire during a 6-2, 4-6, 6-3 victory over unseeded Brian MacPhie of San Jose, California in the quarterfinals of the Luxor Las Vegas USTA Men's Challenger tournament Friday, reports AP. Agassi, ranked No 141 in the world, yelled an obscenity at Norm Chryst after the veteran chair umpire overruled a call on the baseline to give MacPhie, ranked No 200, a game and tie their second set at 3-3.

The obscenity was audible throughout the 2,200-seat stadium at UNLV. The lines woman had called

SYDNEY, Nov 15: Australia

Test captain Mark Taylor maintained his recent improvement in form by scoring 73 as New South Wales took charge of their Sheffield Shield match against Queensland, reports Reuters.

Test vice=captain Steve Waugh and Test discard Michael Bevan both added half=centuries to lift New South Wales to 325 at close of play on the second day in reply to Queensland's 187.

Resuming on 77 for no wicket, the home side toiled to score 248 runs in 101 overs during the day to build a lead of 138 runs with two days left to play in Newcastle.

Taylor, who scored a century against New Zealand to help Australia secure a crushing win by 186 runs in the first Test on Tuesday, took four hours to compile his innings today.

The left=handed opener. whose Test place was in question earlier this year after a form slump, has scored 470 runs so far this season at an average of 58.75.

Waugh hit 53 in 103 minutes while Bevan, who is seeking a recall to the Test side. made 61 in four minutes short of three hours.

But brother Mark laboured for 89 minutes to score just 20 to prolong a run of low scores. He has averaged less than 20 in his last 14 Test innings.

In Adelaide, Shield leaders Western Australia reached 222 for one in reply to South Australia's 452 for nine at close of play on the second day.

Opener Michael Hussey remained unbeaten on 111 along side former Australia Test batsman Justin Langer on 70 not out.

Hussey took 199 minutes and 167 balls to record his second century of the season, hitting 13 boundaries at Adelaide

MELBOURNE, Nov 15: Victoria bowled out off-form New Zealand for 82 runs — their lowest score in Australia this century - on the second day of a four-day match today, reports

At close of play Victoria were 131 for seven, a lead of 49 runs with three wickets in hand. Left-arm pace bowler Geoff

Allott restored some New Zealand morale by taking three for 39 from 13 overs as the home side struggled for runs in Victoria inflicted the damage without the services of their best two bowlers - leg spinner Shane Warne and pace bowler Paul Raiffel, who were both rested after their exertions in the first Test in Brisbane. New Zealand coach Steve Rixon, whose side lost the first Test by 186 runs earlier this week, said the batsmen did not work hard enough to occupy the crease, although he conceded conditions were difficult. "The ball wasn't doing much off the deck, it was more through the air," Rixon said. Only three of the New Zealand batsmen managed to reach double figures and they were saved from even greater embarrassment by tail-enders Allott and Shayne O'Connor who added 20 runs for the last Acting captain and all rounder Chris Cairns, who took charge in the absence of rested skipper Stephen Fleming, was the top scorer with 24.

Former Australia Test bowler Damien Fleming claimed four wickets at a cost of 18 runs from 17 overs in a remarkably accurate spell of bowling. New Zealand's total was seven runs lower than their effort of 89 against Queensland in 1913-14 while the lowest ever score was 64 against New South Wales way back in 1898-99.
