Khulna soccer

KHULNA, Nov 23: Mousumi Krira Chakra outplayed Mongla Port by 4-0 in the First Division football league at the Khulna Stadium here today, reports

Winners led the first half 1-0. Despite clear dominance of the winners in the entire proceeding Mousumi waited until the 47th minute when Bhulu netted the ball first.

In the second half of play winners pressed hard to increase the margin. The quick three goals by Asadul, Tamjidul and Arif at the 60th, 67th and 72nd minutes sealed off the fate of Mongla Port.

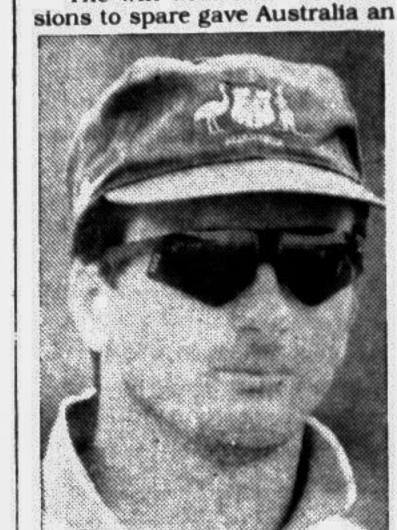

In another match Khulna Shipyard Club won against Ulka Club by a solitary goal. Abed scored the goal for the winners.

Japanese boxer regains WBC belt

OSAKA, Nov 23: Japan's Joichiro Tatsuyoshi regained his World Boxing Council (WBC) batamweight title by handing champion Sirimongkol Nakornthorn of Thailand in the first defeat of his career on Saturday, reports Reuters.

Tatsuyoshi regained the world title he held three years ago by stopping Sirimongkol in the seventh round of the 12 scheduled rounds after knocking down the champion for a second time with a body blow.

Sirimongkol got up after an eight count but American referee Richard Steele stopped the one-sided match at one minute 54 seconds into the round after Tatsuyoshi had landed a flurry of follow-up blows.

Bob counts on Pak experience

PERTH, Nov 23: South African cricket coach Bob Woolmer hopes his boys - set to face Australia in a two-Test series and limited overs tournament — will learn from their recent tour of Pakistan, reports

Woolmer said Sunday the mental toughness attained in a 1-0 series win over host country Pakistan was an invaluable

"When you get into situations where it can go either way you need to be mentally strong and that's what we learned in Pakistan," Woolmer said.

Having been defeated 2-1 on home soil by the Australians earlier this year, Woolmer said this tour provided an opportunity to learn from previous mistakes more than to extract "We've come over here to win the series, there's no doubt about that, although I think revenge is probably the wrong word," he said. "We contributed to our own downfall in some way in South Africa and hopefully we don't be making the same mistakes on this tour." Captain Hansie Cronje said his side had learned to adapt to the changes necessary in switching from the one-day game to Test cricket. "I think we are better pre pared than last time because we came out of the one-day series and didn't really think the change was that big going back into the Tests," Cronje said. "I think we are a better team than what we were in April." Cronje suggested there could be plenty of work in store for the dangerous duo of 37-yearold off-spinner Pat Symcox and unorthodox wrist-spinner Paul Adams due to South Africa's glut of world class allrounders.

"With two all-rounders in the side making runs if you get onto wickets like Sydney and Adelaide you can afford to take in two spinners, "Cronje said. South African paceman Shaun Pollock will have the chance to take on his uncle and idol when the team plays its opening match at Lilac Hill, near Perth, on Tuesday. Graeme Pollock, whose Test career was shortened by South Africa's extensive exile from international cricket, will appear for the home side in the one-day festival match.

"The only time I ever bowled to him was in Durban when we had a game of backyard cricket, but I think I was only about 10 at the time so it will be good to eventually play against him." Pollock said.

Scott's honour at stake

SYDNEY, Nov 23: Australian swimmer Scott Miller, who won a silver medal at the 1996 Olympics, is contesting an allegation of drug-taking, his lawyer said on Saturday, reports Reuters.

Australian media said Miller had failed a drug test for Marijuana. "It was a test made some months ago when he was out of training with a shoulder injury." Miller's lawyer. Chris Murphy, told Australia's Channel Nine television network. "We'll be defending it vigorously."

Australian Olympic Committee (AOC) president John Coates said on Saturday three athletes had returned positive tests for banned substances but gave no further details. Miller, 22, has not competed at a major meeting since he took the 100 metres butterfly silver medal at the Atlanta Olympics last year. A niggling shoulder injury kept him out of the Australian trials in Brisbane last month. automatically ruling him out of January's world swimming hopes to make a comeback for next year's Commonwealth Games in Kuala Lumpur. Two years ago Miller spent a night in jail after intervening in a fight outside a nightclub during the Pan Pacific Championships in Atlanta.

Bhupathi-Paes pair one match away

HARTFORD, Connecticut, Nov 23: India's Mahesh Bhupathi and Leander Paes are poised to set off scenes of mass celebration in their homeland having qualified Saturday for the final of the 500,000 dollars ATP World Doubles Championship, reports Reuters. The fifth seeds, aware that they had the hopes of their countrymen resting on their shoulders, slugged it out with Canadian Sebastien Lareau and American Alex O'Brien and emerged with a 6-1, 2-6, 7-6 (7-5) semifinals victory.

The Indian duo's prospects of claiming the world title in their first full year on the circuit as a team improved when US veterans Rick Leach and Jonathan Stark disposed of heavily favoured second seeds Jacco Eltingh and Paul Haarhuis 6-3, 6-4 in the other semifinal.

The contest for the 133,000 dollars winner's check will be a battle between youth and experience, with the Indians the youngest team in the event and Leach, at 32, the oldest player. A spot in the final also gives the veteran a chance to maintain a streak, now in its 10th year, of having won at least one title every 12 months. Elated at their form, the Americans were bristling with confidence looking forward to today's final.

But, then, they have never been in the final at the 2 million dollars Chase Championships before, the only time during the year the women play best-of-5 sets.

"I've always wanted to" play best-of-5 sets. Pierce said Saturday. "I remember watching this tournament on TV, I think it was Monica (Seles) and Gaby (Gabriela Sabatini) in the finals, they played five sets. I thought it was really cool."

Pierce and Novotna will be in untested waters Sunday when they meet for the title.

"Getting to the final of this tournament is a new experience," the second-seeded Novotna said. It's a new experience is for Pierce also. Both won their first

The tournament was assured of a new champion when Monica Seles, the only former winner in the field, failed to survive the first round. Steffi Graf, who has won the Championships the past two years, has not played since undergoing a knee

To get there, she had to survive the plethora of upsets that have wiped most of the top seeds from this tourney during the week. And she had to survive

The second set was a formality as Spirlea - whose three-set quarterfinal victory over Mary Joe Fernandez match didn't end until after midnight Friday night - ran out of steam. Novotna kept up the pressure with her next-charging play and eventual wore down her opponent.

Pierce went into her semifinal on a high after handing topseeded Martina Hingis only her fifth loss of 1997 in the quarterfinals. Brimming with confidence, the usual baseline-hungging Pierce surprised by going to the net frequently. The tactic worked to perfection as she dominated her Fed Cup teammate in the opening set, breaking Tauziat in the fourth and

Lindsay, Jana clinch Chase doubles crown

NEW YORK, Nov 23: American Lindsay Davenport and Czech Jana Novotna capped their first year of partnership on Saturday with a 6-7 (5-7), 6 3, 6-2 win over French duo Alexandra Fusai and Nathalie Tauziat in the doubles final at the Chase Championships, reports Reuter. Davenport and Novotna, seeded third at the championships, won four of seven finals they played in 1997, including the US Open trophy. "Jana is the best serve and volleyer in the women's game, Davenport said. "That helps when you have a doubles partner like that. We've had a good year, especially winning both times in New York." The doubles winners shared a top prize of 200,000 dollars.

Fusai and Tauziat split 100,000 dollars.

Where Pierce basically depends on power. Tauziat is a throwback to an earlier day with her flowing strokes and one-handed backhand. She has power, but she generates it with perfect timing, not with a gruntaccompanied mighty swing. She has touch, as evident by her play around the net and success

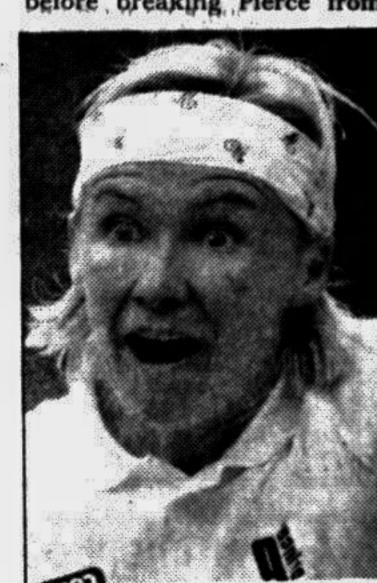

Her game would work perfectly in the era of the wooden racket, not something that can be said for most of today's play-in doubles.

The two battled evenly through most of the second set, both coming to the net when the opportunity presented itself or trading ground strokes from the baseline. Tauziat broke Pierce's service in the fifth game, but Pierce broke back three games

After Pierce held to 5-4. Tauziat called for a trainer and was treated for a blister on her right foot.

It apparently worked as Tauziat held at 15 — losing the one point on a double-fault — before breaking Pierce from deuce to capture the second set and level the match at one set apiece.

Early in the final set, both players made numerous unforced errors. In the opening game of the final set, Pierce struggled before holding. But she broke Tauziat in the sixth game to take a 4-2 lead. Trailing 5-3, Tauziat broke back at love, putting the set back on serve. But in the longest game of the match, a 14-point battle, Pierce prevailed when Tauziat hit a forehand into the net on the second match point.
