Bacher's bad patch continues

BRISBANE, Dec 19: Gary Kirsten, Daryll Cullinan and Herschelle Gibbs enjoyed fruitful stints at the crease but opener Adam Bacher had another failure on the opening day of South Africa's cricket tour match with Australia A at the Gabba here today, reports AFP.

Prolific opener Kirsten anchored South Africa's 242 for seven after the first day of the four-day outing with a crisp 79 in an ideal warm up for next week's opening Test against Australia at the Melbourne Cricket Ground.

Cullinan, who was fortunate early in his innings to survive after a short-pitched delivery from Adam Dale caused the ball to roll on to the leg stump but failed to dislodge the bail, hit 43, while Gibbs cracked 54.

At stumps, captain Hansie Cronje was not out 20 with wicketkeeper David Richardson on two.

Bacher lasted just 23 minutes for his five runs following other first-class scores on tour of six, one, 22, 69, 34, 0 and two. His tour average, boosted by the top score against Western Australia on a flat deck, is 19, 14.

The 24-year-old, nephew of South African cricket boss and former Test captain Ali Bacher, never appears settled against Dale, who swung the new ball

South Africa's No. 3 Jacques Kallis was also caught behind off Dale for six. But that followed three half-centuries on Cronje survived an agonising 97 balls in trying to dig out a respectable first innings total for his team.

With a view to the first Test and Australia's fast bowling injury concerns, Dale knocked off the top of the South African order with a fine display of swing bowling, finishing with 3 for 45 from 20 overs.

Dale gave selectors plenty to think about if Paul Reiffel or Glenn McGrath are ruled out of the MCG Test, with both suffering recent injury problems.

BRIEF SCORE

SOUTH AFRICA: 242 for 7 (Gary Kirsten 79, Herschelle Gibbs 54, Darryl Cullinan 43; Adam Dale 3 for 45).

Cronje causes a commotion

BRISBANE, Dec 19: The South African ball-tampering controversy is set to re-emerge after last week's tour match against Tasmania, reports AFP.

The Australian Cricket Board (ACB) is awaiting a report from match umpires. Terry Prue and Gus Jones, amidst sug-gestions that the South African team is mentioned for possible doctoring the ball.

Just days after captain Hansie Cronje ignited the controversy when television film depicted him pressing the ball under his boot spikes during the one-dayer against Australia in Sydney, tampering is again in the headlines.

Prue is reported to have raised the South Africans' habit of rolling the ball or bouncing it back to the bowler in his report from the tour match against Tasmania in Devonport, which finished on Tuesday. The action could be interpreted as a tactic to rough up the ball and gain more swing and

An ACB spokesman said today that the umpires' report was expected in Melbourne next week but that its contents would remain confidential.

Cronje said after the Devonport game that his players sometimes bounced or rolled the ball on the ground "for fun" and at other times to "get one side of the ball rough." There is no clear ruling on such a tactic in the laws of the

SHARJAH, Dec 19: Graham Thorpe hammered an unbeaten 66 to fire England to Champions'

They shared a match-winning seventh-wicket stand of 70, with Fleming blasting 34, as England secured victory at 239 for seven in 48.1 overs.

Reuter adds: West Indies gained a clear advantage after winning the crucial toss.

Hamed full of confidence

NEW YORK, Dec 19 (AP): Prince Naseem Hamed looked stunned.

A question about how he could improve himself as boxer is not one expected by a man who claims fighting "just comes naturally."

After a pause, he replied, " want to get stronger.

Well, the 23-year-old British-born Arab is strong enough and quick enough to be a 3-1 favourite in Las Vegas to successfully defend the WBO featherweight (126 pounds/57.2 kilos) championship against Kevin Kelley Friday night in Madison Square Garden.

Hamed (28.0, 26 knockouts) obviously thinks those odds are out the tournament, the first to be held under lights, and the West Indies had clearly set the youthful and inexperienced England side a tough task.

West Indies, hoping to win the competition to wipe out memories of their 3-0 whitewash in the Test series against Pakistan and boost morale for a forthcoming series against England in the Caribbean, set off at a hectic pace.

They left out their aggressive opener Philo Williams but Stuart Williams and Shivnarine Chanderpaul scored 44 in the first six overs.

Williams slowed after he was hit by a throw from Graham Thorpe but the pair put on 97 in the first 22 overs.

Williams was caught for 55, having hit six fours in his 55ball innings, and in the next over Brian Lara was stumped after television replays showed his toe was on the line when Alec Stewart removed the bails.

From that point England were able to tighten their grip and Matthew Fleming had Carl Hooper and Roland Holder Ibw in the 40th over and bowled Raul Lewis in the 46th.

Hageskog honoured

VAXJO, Sweden, Dec 19: Carl-Axel Hageskog, captain of Sweden's Davis Cup team that trounced the United States 5-0 in this year's final, was named sports leader of the year in Sweden on Thursday, reports Sports editors of major newspapers, radio and TV participated in the poll, organised by the Swedish news agency TT. "What a surprise! It was very nice," Hageskog said. One of his first coaching jobs was at Vaxjo Tennisklubb, where he coached a talented junior named Mats Wilander. Wilander went on to win seven Grand Slam singles titles and was ranked number one in the world in 1988 after capturing the US Open, his third major that year.

Hageskog, 43, has coached Magnus Larsson, who played singles when Sweden won its sixth Davis Cup title late last month at home in Goteborg, in recent years.

After working as an assistant under previous skippers Hans Olsson and John-Anders Sjogren, Hageskog was ap-pointed Davis Cup captain in
