JATI yet to shift to new premises

By Staff Correspondent

The Judicial Administration Training Institute (JATI) has suspended its training activities for an uncertain period since January 1 as the authorities concerned had asked the institute to shift its establishment from the present location at the old High Court building, said official sources.

The old High Court building is being vacated to set up more court rooms for judges, said sources in the Ministry of Works.

Meanwhile, the government has allotted two floors of the old Meteorological Office building for the JATI. The building, at Sher-e-Bangla Nagar, will need to undergo renovation work worth Tk 1.27 crore, estimated the PWD. The amount, however, is yet to be sanctioned by the Finance Ministry, sources said.

When the institute was preparing to shift, the government ordered the transfer of its founder director Ikhtedar Ahmed, said sources in the Law Ministry.

Since its establishment in early 1997, the JATI has organised five training courses involving 25 assistant judges and 140 subordinate judges.
