This year's International Day of Families is dedicated to the relationship between families and human rights.

BSS adds: In a message on the eve of the day, President Shahabuddin Ahmed said it is possible to create greater peace and welfare in society through establishing peace in family

The President described "family" as the base of sympathy, tolerance and cooperation. He said besides stressing education and heritage, the Quran has also underlined the formation of family ties. "We all have to be active in keeping the fam-ily bond intact," he added.

In a separate message, Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina called for reviving traditional family values at this hour of social degeneration in the country.

"Traditional family structures give us the teachings of tolerance and mutual respect," she said.

Sheikh Hasina, however, regretted that alarming growth rate of population with increasing demand for food, expansion urbanisation and poverty breaking down Bangladesh's traditional happy and joint family structure.

As a result, mutual respect, sympathy, responsibility and morality were disappearing from the country, she added.
