'Computer can help make study interesting for kids'

By Staff Correspondent
Speakers at a prize distribution ceremony in the city yesterday said computers can help make study interesting for the kids as well as working as an effective instrument to make learning easier for them. Underscoring the need for computer literacy for all, they said children should be provided with ample knowledge on computer to make them prepared to face the challenge of the 21st century.

The programme was organised by ComPREP Computer School (CCS) — a strategic business unit of Training and Research Institute for Business and Research (TRIBE), to distribute prizes among children who participated in an essay competition among the school children of the city to make them aware of the pervasiveness and importance of computers in our everyday life.

The essay competition was conducted by a group of entrepreneurs and fresh graduates from IBA of Dhaka University (DU) recently. Children from various schools in the city attended the prize giving ceremony which was followed by a multimedia show on 'How Computers Help Children in their Learning' held at the Academy for Planning and Development auditorium yesterday.

Conducted by Umama Anjalin, assistant director of CCS, the programme was addressed among others by Chairman of TRIBE, Syed Alamgir Zafar and Technical adviser to the TRIBE AKM Mukhtadir. Risalat Khan, Khondakar Rafayet Hossain and Farah Tasneem of Radiant International School won the first, second and third prizes respectively from the junior section in the essay competition.
