Quantum of cultivable land decreasing, says Matia

KHULNA, May 27: Minister for Agriculture and Food Matia Chowdhury laid emphasis on integrated agriculture management instead of traditional system to face the challenge of 21st century, reports UNB.

She was addressing as chief guest the inaugural session of a national seminar titled 'Integrated Agriculture: Key to Sustainable Development of Bangladesh' on Tuesday, said an official handout.

"Quantum of cultivable land and fertility of land are decreasing with the increase of population and ecological balance is also degrading by the gradual growth of industries", said Matia.

She stressed the need for profit-based crop cultivation utilizing modern technology at minimum cost.

She called upon the agri-ecologists to innovate profitable improved technology maintaining consistency with the environment.

Organised by Agro-technology Discipline of the Khulna University, State Minister for Disaster Management and Relief Talukdar Abdul Khaleque also spoke in the seminar as special guest.

VC of the university Prof SM Nazrul Islam addressed as chief patron while Director General of the Jute Research Institute Dr SM Ilyas presented the key-note paper.

Dhanmondi Lake Dev Project

BELA serves legal notice on govt organisations

By Staff Correspondent

The Bangladesh Environmental Lawyers Association (BELA) has served a legal notice on different government organisations demanding postponement of all activities in the Dhanmondi Lake Development Project because the scheme had no environmental clearance as required by the Environment Conservation Act, 1995, said a BELA press release.

The legal notice was served on the Secretary, Ministry of Housing and Public Works, Mayor, Dhaka City Corporation, Chairman, Rajuk, Director General, Department of Environment, Chief Engineer, PWD, Executive Engineer-II, PWD and Vitti Sthapoti Brinda Ltd.

The notice said that the residents were denied a consultation in the designing or implementation of the scheme as required legally and they have no idea what sort of development is taking place.

The notice claimed that such non-observance of legal provisions amount to gross disregard to rule of law and interfering with people's right to enjoyment of life and property.

The notice referred to published reports and said that few of the project's components were purely commercial in nature, which, if given effect to, would destroy the residential characteristics of the vicinity.

EC-NGO Dialogue Project launched

By Staff Correspondent

The European Commission-NGO Dialogue project in Bangladesh launched its activities through a brain-storming session at the project's Gulshan office in the city yesterday.

Leaders of the BRAC, Pro-shika, GSS, Care, Concern and representatives of the NGO Affairs Bureau discussed the priority areas of EC-NGO Dialogue together with the project team and officials of the EC delegation in Dhaka, said a press release.

Cooperation between the government and NGOs in education, health and gender policies, the role of NGO apex bodies and the contribution of NGOs for strengthening local government bodies were among the top priorities discussed by the project team and the NGO representatives.

Dr Berthold Kuhn, team leader of the project, informed that the EC-NGO Dialogue project aimed at enhancing the effectiveness of the EC-NGO cooperation in Bangladesh.

Counsellor Alain Ruche of the European Commission said the project would also contribute to improve the EC understanding of the role of NGOs in the development process of Bangladesh.

The project was further supposed to provide a structure of dialogue in which the EC and NGOs could discuss strategies as well as technical and administrative issues, the press release added.

BSFS concerned at nomination of films for national award

Bangladesh Short Film Society (BSFS) has expressed its grave concern over the allegation of favouritism in giving nomination of films for National Film Award, reports UNB.

In a joint statement BSFS Executive President Anisul Islam and General Secretary Puak Gupta yesterday said according to press report commercial films were given upper hand over healthy and art films in the nominations for the award for 1996.

They said a certain vested quarter has always been creating obstacle in recognising and flourishing healthy and creative films in the country.

The BSFS leaders hoped that the government would play its due role by taking appropriate steps in removing all the barriers in getting proper recognition of healthy and creative films.
