NATO warplanes ready to start exercises

Milosevic asked to end repression on Albanians or face sanctions

BRUSSELS, June 13: NATO warplanes prepared today to stage exercises over Albania and Macedonia as the pressure built up on Yugoslav President Slobodan Milosevic to end the violence in neighbouring Kosovo, reports AFP.

The six-nation Contact Group Friday told Milosevic to end the repression on ethnic Albanians in the southern Serbian province by the time he meets Russian President Boris Yeltsin Monday or face new international sanctions, including possible military action.

Both Albania and Macedonia quickly gave the green light to the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation air exercises, codenamed 'Determined Falcon', planned for Sunday.

Albanian Premier Fatos Nano even told NATO it could use his country's airfields "from tomorrow" to launch air strikes to end the Kosovo crisis, hailing the ultimatum on Belgrade to halt its military crackdown.

"All Albanian airports will be made available to the Atlantic alliance so that its planes can make flights which would allow an end to the Serb military operations against the Kosovo Albanians," Nano told a press conference.

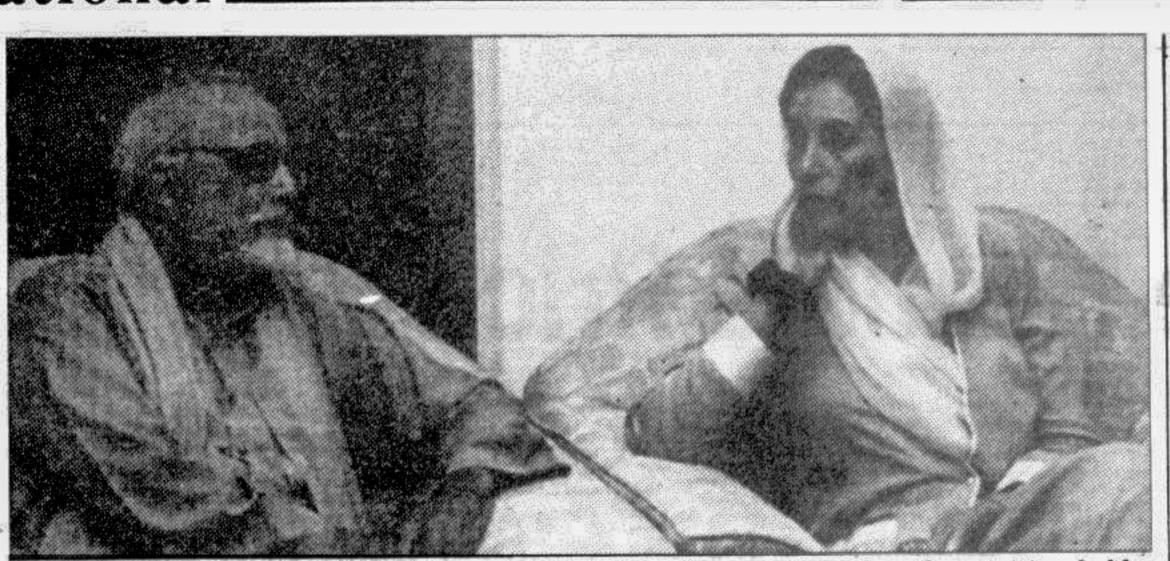

The Macedonian government also gave the go-ahead, but only for one exercise, after a special meeting of Prime Minis-ter Brankt Crvenkovski's cabi-

A statement said that permission would have to be sought from Skopje again for any further manoeuvres.

The communiqué said the government was conscious that the aims of the exercise corresponded with Macedonia's needs, namely to stop the Kosovo crisis spilling over on to its territory and bring about a peaceful resolution of the con-

Friday's ultimatum, combined with the announcement of imminent manoeuvres, was aimed at forcing Milosevic to pay more attention to international opinion than he showed during the Bosnia conflict.

The Contact Group said Milosevic should "take advantage" of the meeting in Moscow to comply with its demands to halt the violence, allow international monitoring in Kosovo, permit refugees to return home. and begin an effective dialogue with ethnic Albanian leaders in the province.

'China must be party to ultimate resolution of Indo-Pak dispute'

WASHINGTON, Jun 13: US President Bill Clinton, in his continued pandering to China on the eve of his visit, said that Beijing must be party to an "ultimate resolution" of the India-Pakistan dispute, reports IANS.

"Because of its history with both countries. China must be part of any ultimate resolution of this matter," Clinton said in a speech to the National Geographic Society here.

Clinton said that when he travels to Beijing later this month. "I will work with President Jiang (Zemin) to advance our Asian security agenda, keeping the pressure on India and Pakistan to curb their nuclear arms race and to commence a dialogue.

He said that "as a nuclear power with increasingly sophisticated industrial and technological capabilities. China can choose either to be part of the problem or a part of the solution.

According to the President. "a self-defeating, dangerous, and costly course" was now under way in South Asia. He warned that "this course, if continued, not moderated and ultimately changed, will make both the people of India and the people of Pakistan poorer, not

Freeze on loans India won't face immediate impact of G-8 decision

NEW DELHI, Jun 13: India said today it would face no immediate impact from a decision by industrialised Group of Eight nations to halt most loans following its nuclear tests.

An External Affairs Ministry spokesman told Reuters that there was nothing to add beyond Finance Minister Yashwant Sinha's initial statement on Friday that there would no immediate fallout. "Let us restrict it to that now," he said.

"We had reacted before the G-8 meeting. I think we would not add anything else right now " the spokesman said.

The G-8 foreign ministers meeting in London Friday had ordered a freeze on loans to India and Pakistan in protest against their nuclear tests last month, but exempted humanitarian loans from their deci-

US steps up security at ME, S Asia missions

Collapse of peace process to plunge ME into endless violence

ROME, Jun 13: Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat warned late Friday that the collapse of the Middle East peace process would plunge the whole region into an endless cycle of violence and instability, reports AFP.

Arafat was speaking at a dinner organised by Arab ambassador in Italy and the Italian-Arab Chamber of Commerce, following a meeting earlier in the day with Pope John Paul II.

He accused the Israeli government of exposing the peace process to a slow death by stalling on previous agreements with the Palestinians and assisting Jewish settlements in the occupied territories.

But Arafat expressed confidence that wisdom would prevail, saying, "peace is in the interest of our people, and the Israeli people and all the Arab and non-Arab peoples of the Maditerranean.

During his 15-minute private meeting at the Vatican, Arafat informed the Pope of the "tragic situation in which the Palestinian people find themselves now that the peace process is threatened on all sides papal spokesman Joaquin Navarro told reporters after the talks. The Palestinian leader's visit to the Vatican, his sixth, was aimed at asking for political backing to relaunch the peace process which has been deadlocked for a year.

"John Paul II reiterated the Holy See's support of the peace process, which should be pursued in good faith by all the parties concerned and in respect of international law and commitments taken, said Navarro.

Arafat also criticised the "Israeli violations of the peace accords, in particular the expansion of Jewish settlements in eastern Jerusalem, said the spokesman.

The Vatican called on Israeli authorities in April to accept major compromises to break the year-old deadlock in the peace process with the Palestinians.

During the meeting held in the Pope's private library, Arafat gave him a sculpture representing Bethlehem and invited him to the city for celebrations marking the new millennium.

The Pope has regularly expressed a desire to visit Bethlehem to mark 2000 years since the traditional date of the birth of Jesues Christ.

Any chance of the Pope visiting the Middle East was ruled out as impossible under the "current prevailing circum stances, the head of the Vatican's diplomatic service, Jan Lous Taurna, said in April.

Arafat arrived in Italy at 10:00 am (0800) from Gaza aboard a chartered jet.

After the audience with the head of the Roman Catholic church, Arafat held separate meetings with a number of Italian political leaders.

Right wing opposition leader and communications magnate Silvio Berlusconi said after meeting Arafat that it was vital the world's wealthier nations gave aid to the Palestinian Authority.

Misery can drive people to despair and from there to fanaticism," he warned. Massimo d'Alema, from the main party in the ruling coalition, the Democratic Party of the Left criticised Israel's "Strongly negative attitude," as instrumental in blocking the peace process.

UNSC sounds tougher sanctions against UNITA rebels opportunity to cooperate fully UNITA — a Portuguese acronym

UNITED NATIONS, Jun 13 The Security Council has given former Angolan rebels until June 23 to fulfill conditions of a peace plan or sweeping economic sanctions will take effect automatically two days later, reports AP.

The sanctions include a freeze on foreign bank accounts of the UNITA movement and a ban on sales of diamonds mined in areas under UNITA's control. UNITA earns hundreds of millions of dollars annually from diamond exports.

Under a unanimous resolution. UNITA must demobilise its remaining forces, hand over its central highland strongholds, allow UN monitors to verify compliance and cease attacks on UN and government personnel by June 23.

Otherwise, the sanctions kick in automatically at one minute after midnight June 25 New York time.

Envoys from the United States, Russia and Portugal, which oversee the 1994 Angolan peace agreement, said the sanctions were designed to save the peace process and appealed to UNITA to meet the deadline for compliance.

The international community, which has invested heavily in helping Angolans toward peace, is in a position now to demand that these substantial efforts (toward peace) not be thrown away," Portugal's ambassador, Antonio Monteiro,

"We appeal to UNITA to heed the message of this council," he added. "UNITA should seize this as a political party in the consolidation of democracy in Angola," he said. Under the 1994 agreement

President Chandrika Kumaratunga has ordered her media minister to enforce the country's existing codes of ethics for state and private television and radio channels, which forbid promotion of alcohol and tobacco, the stateowned Daily News reported.

In addition Kumaratunga has directed that state newspapers stop accepting alcohol and tobacco advertisements as well, the newspaper said. There was no mention of privately owned newspapers.

Kumaratunga noted in her letter to Media Minister Mangala Samaraweera that alcohol and tobacco were being increasingly portrayed in soap operas and advertisements in recent

EU reform LONDON, Jun 13: British

Prime Minister Tony Blair will seek to regain the initiative on reform of the European Union from Germany and France at next week's summit in Cardiff, the Financial Times reported today, reports AFP.

Blair, hosting the summit to mark the end of the six-month British presidency, will propose the creation of a high-level group to examine the future shape of the EU, in an attempt to head off French plans for a wise men's group headed by Jacques Delors, former European Commission president.

The proposed body, made up of Blair's personal representatives, would look at the "unfinished business" of last year's Amsterdam Treaty, and at preparing the EU for eastwards expansion, the British Business daily said.

The British move follows this week's joint letter from the French and German leaders. Jacques Chirac and Helmut Kohl, which called for a more decentralized Europe and demanded an overhaul of EU institutions and a strengthening of common foreign and security policy ahead of enlargement.

Wheat export to India, Pakistan should go ahead, says Clinton

MONTEREY, California, Jun 13: President Bill Clinton said Friday the United States should continue exporting wheat to India and Pakistan despite sanctions that kicked in under US law after their nuclear tests, reports AFP.

Clinton said in a radio broadcast he favours an amendment to the legislation brought by Senator Patty Murray of Washington state allowing US grain producers to continue exporting to the quarreling countries.

"Farmers in the United States provide a significant percentage of Pakistan's wheat imports," Clinton said. "Cutting off that supply would only hurt the citizens of Pakistan and American farmers without furthering our important goals of non-proliferation of atomic weapons" Clinton said adding "we hope this amendment is passed as quickly as possible." Under a 1994 legislative

Discovery concludes NASA's last mission to Mir

CAPE CANAVERAL, Florida, June 13: The Space Shuttle Discovery landed at the Kennedy Space Centre here Friday, ending the orbital adventure begun by the United States and Russia three years ago, reports AFP.

Discovery brought home US astronaut Andrew Thomas who spent over four months in orbit aboard the Russian space Ethiopia, Eritrea station Mir — when the shuttle landed at 2 pm (1800 GMT) after a 10-day mission.

"I think the thing I'm looking forward to the most is the freedom to do the things I chose, and not to have my life planned out every minute," he said earlier from the shuttle. Thomas' return ends three years of nearly uninterrupted US presence in space, closing the first chapter in NASA's cooperation with the Russian space agency. Since the arrival aboard the station of astronaut Norman Thagard in March 1995, seven American lodgers have called Mir home, chalking up 977 days of residence — including 812 in a row - and 15,632 orbits around earth. "This programme has been
