In the middle of it all is the Dutch Arbitration Tribunal which is expected to rule July 28 on whether Ajax can keep the two players who have contracts with the club until 2004.

Frank, a defender, and Ronald a forward, were key members of the squad Hiddink led to the semifinal of the 1998 World Cup. They have also been crucial to Ajax's trophy-filled success in recent years.

Meanwhile, if the twins are to part ways. Real has expressed preference for Ronald while Barcelona have their eyes set on Frank. English champion Arsenal and Tottenham Hotspur are also reported to be in the running for the two.

"Our main target is Ronald but if it's possible to get the two, we won't hold back." Real chairman Lorenzo Sanz told Spain's leading sports daily Marca.

Rangers' last gasp blitz

LONDON, July 23 (Reuters/AP): Rangers of Scotland blasted five goals in 25-second-half minutes to come from 3-0 down to beat Irish part-timers Shelbourne 5-3 in an incident packed extraordinary UEFA Cup qualifying tie on Wednesday.

Drunken Rangers fans clashed with police although the trouble was not believed to be sectarian. The game was moved from Dublin to Liverpool in northeast England to avoid clashes between the Rangers fans, al most entirely Protestant, and followers of the Irish team, who are Catholics.

But the Merseyside police reported several flareups involving Rangers fans, many of whom were drunk.

Police on horseback and others using CS gas had to quell violence which started when a large number of Rangers fans were ejected from a pub.
