Four Consultancy Contracts to Help Bangladesh Diversify its Exports

The Government of Bangladesh is collaborating with private industry groups in preparing a threeyear Export Diversification Project which is expected to be supported by a Credit from the World Bank Group's International Development Association (IDA). Expressions of interest are invited from qualified firms wishing to bid for any of four contracts to help implement the Project by providing expert advisory, training and other services:

(1) Project Coordination and Development. A central unit will be established under the Ministry of Commerce, with participation by the National Board of Revenue (NBR) and the Federation of Bangladesh Chambers of Commerce and Industry, to help expedite and monitor implementation of Project activities. It will also be charged with:

· developing a strong capability for identifying and analyzing policy, process and infrastructure constraints on export activities, . advising on the strengthening of relevant institutions in areas such as protection analysis, trade cooperation, and export promotion, and • helping develop other subprojects to support product and market development. Contract staff are expected to comprise a chief technical advisor, a deputy advisor, a financial officer, a part-time procurement specialist and short-term experts on export issues and institutions. The CTA and some of the short-term experts must have extensive international experience in export development.

(2) Matching Grant Facility Management. An MGF is to be established to help "make a market" in export services by providing 50:50 grants for innovative product and market activities by private export firms and service providers. Under the supervision of a Board comprising private and public representatives, a management contractor will be expected to exercise considerable initiative and autonomy in managing the Facility by applying criteria laid down in a Statement of Policies and Operating Procedures. In addition to evaluating applications under the prescribed criteria, the contractor will promote the Facility, assist exporters and industry associations to develop eligible proposals, and help them identify sources of advisory and information services. The firm to be selected to provide a team — comprising international and local managers, short-term expertise and home office technical back-up - should have a strong reputation for integrity in managing this type of Facility.

(3) Protection Analysis and Trade Cooperation. A subproject will be located in the Bangladesh Tariff Commission, but also involving Ministry of Commerce units, to strengthen the Government's capability in the areas of protection analysis, trade cooperation (negotiation and compliance monitoring and support) and informatioon systems to support those activities. The selected firm's consulting team will comprise long- and short-term international and local consultants with strong experience in:

 transferring technology and skills in effective protection analysis at the economy-wide and subsector levels and in conducting hearings and other techniques for tariff and competition policy investigation, • developing capacity for tracking opportunities and obligations under all WTO and other global trade agreements, as well as regional and bilateral arrangements, to which Bangladesh subscribes, including procedures for invoking safeguards and responding to actions by trading partners, and . compilation, analysis and electronic processing of trade, industry and other data for monitoring and policy analysis, and of information needed to support the trade cooperation function. (4) Modernisation of Customs Administration. The Project will include Phase 1 of the Customs component of the Government's comprehensive Revenue Administration Modernisation Programme (RAMP). Specific activities will include: • development of streamlined procedures for the clearance of exports and of imports associated with exports (to pilot such procedures for all imports), • upgrading the present semi-automated system for Customs data to "ASYCUDA++" to handle both present and proposed new procedures, . developing a monitoring system for bonded warehouse transactions to facilitate the use of this facility for most types of export production, • streamlining the schemes operated by the Duty Exemption and Drawback Office to better serve indirect exporters, and • in cooperation with the WCO, assisting staff and taxpayer training, functional reorganisation, and other activities to prepare NBR, Customs and the Bangladesh business community for Phases II and III (i.e. the substantial replacement of transactions-based operations by ex post tax audits supported by sophisticated modern risk management techniques). Contract staff will comprise long- and short-term international and local consultants with experience in modernising and automating Customs procedures, including the operation of ASYCUDA and the development of human resources in valuation, investigation and audit.

The short-listing, bid-preparation, selection and contracting of lead firms will be conducted under IDA guidelines during September 21-December 6, 1998 i.e., in advance of effectiveness of the Credit. Local partners or staff may be recruited later by the successful lead firms, and teams should be mobilised in Dhaka soon thereafter. The firm which will be selected for Contract (1) - Project Coordination and Development — may not be associated with firm(s) involved in any of the other three contracts.

Expressions of interest at this tage should be supported by information on relevant international experience of the firm and the individuals whom it would expect to staff the contract if selected. They should be received by 6 pm local time, September 20, 1998. For Contracts (1), (2) and (3), the documents should be addressed to the Export Diversification Project Director (MOC), Room 118, Ministry of Commerce, Secretariat Bhaban 3, Dhaka (Fax 880-2-865741). The expressions for Contract (4) should be addressed to the Export Diversification Project Director (NBR), Room 309, National Board of Revenue, Segun Bagicha, Dhaka (Fax 880-2-836143).
