Unemployed demonstrators from Naples show their banner on Capri's rocky beaches as two unidentified tourists bask in the sun Tuesday. The "unusual" demonstration in Capri's waters began three years ago and has been dubbed by media as a "traditional appointment" for Naples' unemployed. The banner says (literally): "The silence of the innocent, guilty only of not having any saints in paradise." It means "Our only fault is that we do not have friends in high places who will give us a guaranteed job." -AP/UNB photo

Indian software industry to enjoy 50 pc growth over next 4 yrs

NEW DELHI, Aug 19: India's software industry will enjoy annual growth of around 50 per cent over the next four years. despite the sluggish national economy, a top industry executive predicted Monday, reports

AFP. Dewang Mehta, Executive Director of the National Association of Software companies (NASSCOM), said the growth would be fuelled by growing diversification, as well as sales of specialist services for Euro currency conversions and combating the millennium bug.

"The growth will be mainly due to the domestic companies expansion into new areas like research and development," Mehta said in an interview.

"From initial programming and coding, the domestic firms have entered information technology enabling services such as medical transcripts and data entry."

India's software industry grew 59 per cent to 2.5 billion dollars in the fiscal year to March 1998, compared to the previous yean. Mehta said Euro currency conversions by banks and financial institutions before the launch of the single European currency on January I would also aid growth. "Nasscom is planning to hold roadshows in Scotland, Paris and London soon to sell ware for euro currency conversions. We hope to bag at least a billion dollars worth of orders," he said. He said revenues would also go up due to the "millennium bug or Y2K problem" — a major technical breakdown predicted for computer at the turn of the

"The Indian companies will be able to earn about five billion dollars from the Y2K market," Mehta said.

For decades computer chips and software have been coded to identify years by their last two digits. If not adjusted, the computers will confuse the year

2,000 for 1900. New Delhi has earmarked information technology and computer software development as a key focus for economic growth, aimed at making India a global software power by early next century. Last week, the government unveiled a package allowing information technology companies easier access to foreign exchange and bank funds. It also allowed these firms to acquire companies abroad.

Seoul to urge exporters to suspend shipments to Russia

SEOUL, Aug 19: South Korea moved yesterday the currency and trade fronts to counter fallout from Russia's decision to effectively devalue the rouble and declare a debt moratorium, as panicked investors here dumped shares, says AFP.

Officials said Seoul would urge exporters to suspend ship-ments to Russia until the dust settles following Moscow's action, which sent the stock market plunging 3.5 per cent below the key 300-point level. In addition, South Korean firms operating in Russia were 'advised to dump their rouble our domestic expertise in soft- I assets, while the government decided to boost its usable foreign exchange reserves to minimise the effect on the won.

"The government will advise exporters to suspend shipments to Russia until the situation becomes clear," the industry-energy ministry said. "South Korean firms and branches operating in Russia are also advised to reduce their holdings of assets denominated in rouble," it said.

South Korean exports to Russia hit 1.77 billion dollars last year while imports stood at 1.5 billion dollars, but both have shrunk dramatically this year, officials said.

USD/BDT rate continued to climb today in the local interbank market. Large amount of dollars were mostly required for food grain imports. The USD/BDT was traded in the 46.98/47.01 range, Tk 0.01 higher from the previous day. Call money rates in the interbank market continued to hover between 6.5 to 7.0 per cent. Liquidity was more than adequate to meet the taka payments for dollar purchases. In the international market, the yen was firmer in European trade after rising to a two-week high against the dollar and three-week peak versus the mark earlier in Asian time. Anxiety about the possibility of the Bank of Japan intervening through dollar selling heightened anew overnight when Japanese Vice Finance Minister Eisuke Sakakibara said ven supportive intervention was likely to happen soon. While Sakakibara's comments were not unprecedented because Japanese officials have repeatedly expressed their readiness to intervene, analysts said such a move was now more likely. The dollar was at 144.25/30 yen at 1000 GMT. up from its earlier low of 143.95 but down from 144.83/88 seen in late Tuesday European trade. The dollar was a touch firmer against the mark in European trade testing 1.80 but remained within a narrow range. Russia has delayed the debt restructure announcement until Monday. This will mean that the market will keep a wait and see attitude until the Russian briefing.

The British pound was firm against the mark and steady against the dollar. The retail sales data showed that the British economy was not yet going into a recession as some had predicted earlier. This helped to push up the GBP to 1.6200 USD.

At 1800 local time, USD traded against major currencies at 1.8013/18 DEM, 144.24/32 YEN, 1.5085/95 SFR, 6.0385/95 FRF and GBP 1.6216/21 USD.
