Waste polybag collection turns into a social movement

The collection of waste polybags programme launched in the city to save the people from severe environmental hazard has turned into a social movement now, reports BSS.

Deputy Minister for Shipping Sabar Hossain Chowdhury, elected from the Motihena-Sabujbagh constituency, introduced the concept-collection of waste polybags, the main cause of bottlenecks in proper drainage of water on September 16 in his constituency to provide three kilograms of wheat against one kg of used polybags.

This new concept has encouraged others to take similar programmes in various parts of the capital and outside Dhaka. Khulna City Corporation (KCC) has also launched a programme of collecting one kg waste polybag against Taka 10.

Sabujbagh area of Dhaka has been worst hit by the current devastating floods and the waste polybags have blocked the drainage of water causing serious waterlogging problems. However, the waterlogging problem is easing steadily after the collection of waste polybags from this area.

About eight and a half metric tons of polybags has been deposited by people, mostly day labourers and street urchins, till Friday in the city's Sabujmoti complex, according to sources. They said the Sabujmoti Trust rewarded the depositors with nearly 25 tons of wheat against the said quantum of polybags.

The deposited polybags will be destroyed or recycled after consultation with the experts, the sources added.

When asked about the introduction of the concept of polybag collection programme, Sabar Hossain Chowdhury said, "Politics is all about ideas and putting them into action for the benefit of the community - it is about responding imaginatively and creatively to problems."

Sabar Hossain Chowdhury has established a healthcare centre under the umbrella of Sabujmoti Trust for providing treatment facilities for the people of his constituency. A plan is underway to construct a 250-bed hospital in the Sabujbagh area, the sources said.
