Ershad says Disaster strikes whenever AL comes to power
Jatiya Party chairman H M Ershad yesterday said disaster appears in the country whenever Awami League comes to power, reports UNB.
"We hoped that they (AL) will erase their bad name of the past by tackling this year's flood and post-flood situation," he said, addressing two separate gatherings at Uttarkhan Masterpara Aftabuddin Sarker Model School and Dalipara Abdul Malek Kindergarten School in Uttara.
JP secretary general Nazim Rahman Manzur also addressed the meetings.
The JP chairman warned the government that it will not be possible to save the helpless people with the present system of relief distribution.
About the country's development in last eight years, the former president said the two governments, which came to power after the Jatiya Party, had done nothing by themselves.
They merely completed the development works which was initiated during our rule.
The people would not have suffered so much due to the present deluge if the JP government had remained in power, he said.
Later, the JP chairman distributed improved food among the flood victims of the two areas. About 200 local leaders and workers of Awami League, BNP and Jamaat-e-Islami joined the JP yesterday, said a party press release.

Cessna crash Padma Oil refutes allegation
By Special Correspondent
Padma Oil Company, the only supplier of aviation fuel in the country, strongly refuted the allegation that it provided 'impure' fuel which resulted in the crash of the Parabat Flying Academy's Cessna-180 aircraft killing two young pilots on Sunday.
"We supply fuel to all users, including Bangladesh Biman and foreign airlines using Zia International Airport. It is of the best quality and undergoes checks at different stages before being delivered to aircrafts as per international standards and rules," Mominur Rahman, a company official, told a group of newsmen.
His reaction came in the wake of some newspaper reporting on the quality of fuel supplied to aircrafts.
Showing newsmen the facility at the ZIA, he explained different stages of the procedure to ensure quality and standard of aviation fuel - Jet A1 and HOBG or high octane 97, known as motor gasoline - used by the piston driven aircrafts like the Cessna which crashed.
The Parabat Flying Academy reported on September 22 finding of 'dust particles' on test samples taken from the bottom of the barrel of the last batch of five barrels of HOBG bought on September 16.
"Our quality control officer Nazrul collected the sample on September 24 which was sent for tests at our main laboratory at Chittagong on the same day. They were given a fresh batch of fuel on the same day," Rahman said.
He said after delivery of fuel all responsibilities thereafter lies with the user. Sometimes dust or sediments could be there on the bottom of the barrel if they are handled carelessly during loading and unloading. "But the user has to conduct tests of their own before putting them on aircraft through five micron filters that ensures that no foreign elements could enter the aircraft fuel tank," Rahman added.
He said he did not think Parabat used the 'suspect' fuel as it is against regulations. He said his company maintains strict quality control at various stages and discards anything suspicious or found faulty in tests.
