LONDON, Oct 20 (Reuters/ Internet): Leg-spinner Shane Warne said he has not bowled months and hinted he might miss the Ashes series against

"I have to face the ugly truth that I am losing my battle to be fit to face England in the first Ashes Test," Warne said in a column in Tuesday's Daily Mir-

"For the first time I have to admit that I haven't bowled a proper leg-break for six months. It could be another three weeks before I try again.

"I'm working on bowling properly again in the next few weeks. I may have to be patient and wait for the World Cup in England next June." The first Test begins in Brisbane on November 20.

Warne said his recovery after major shoulder surgery in May was well ahead of schedule but he was far from ready to bowl in a test match. "All I'm doing now is rolling he was ready to play. United will still have to rotate their huge squad as England men Nicky Butt and David Beckham are suspended. Denis Irwin is doubtful with a heel injury and Ronny Johnsen is ruled out with an ankle ligament problem. The importance of three points cannot be underestimated for United, who have been chasing the trophy for 30 years, because if Barcelona fail to win in Munich Alex Ferguson's men will go top.

Barcelona are without ineligible Dutch forward Patrick Kluivert, whose place goes to Mario Alberto Rosas. Bayern hope Markus Babbel and Thomas Helmer can shake off injuries to make the starting line-up and bolster a defence that will be lacking the suspended Lothar Matthaeus.
