

Champs' Trophy hockey Lomans, Escarre top scorers

LAHORE, Nov 9: Bram Lomans of Holland and Juan Escarre of Spain finished as top scorers as the 20th Champions Trophy men's field hockey tournament concluded here on Sunday, reports AFP.

The 23-year-old Lomans, a short corner specialist from Hamburg, scored seven goals, all in penalty corners including Holland first in their 3-1 win over Pakistan in the final.

However, Escarre's seven goals in six matches failed to lift his team as it finished a poor fifth.

Spain took silver at Atlanta in 1996 and finished runners-up to Holland in the 1998 World Cup.

Lomans, an understudy of illustrious scorer the decisive goal in Holland's 3-1 win over Spain in the Atlanta Olympics final. He made the scoresheet twice when Holland beat Spain 3-2 in the final of the World Cup in Utrecht, Holland in June.

Marten Eikelboom of Holland was second on the scorers' list with six goals.

Pakistan's Atif Bashir was declared player of the tournament for his excellent performances.

Atif scoring five goals shared the title of third top scorer with South Korean Song Seong Tac who also scored five goals.

Australian captain Jay Stacy hit the target four times. Pakistan's Sohail Abbas and Dutchman Piet Geeris also netted four goals each.

Villa: The homemade team

LONDON, Nov 9 (Reuters): Aston Villa could perform a highly unusual feat in these days of multi-national soccer teams by winning the English Premiership title this season with one composed entirely of English players.

Coach John Gregory's well-known policy of preferring to sign English players rather than those whose name ends in a vowel is clearly paying dividends.

Villa survived a desperate late rally from Tottenham Hotspur to beat George Graham's team 3-2 at Villa Park and stretch their unbeaten start to the league season to 11 matches — their best opening since 1932.

Currently top of the table with 25 points from those opening games, Villa will remain first regardless of Manchester United and Arsenal's results on Sunday against Newcastle and Everton respectively.

And although it is early days in the championship race, Villa survived a real test of character to hold off Tottenham who came back strongly with two late goals after trailing 3-0 early in the second half.

In their previous three matches, Villa had drawn 1-1 with Leicester City in the league and lost 4-1 to Chelsea in the league cup and 3-1 to Celta Vigo of Spain at home in the UEFA Cup.

Defeat against a Tottenham team quickly being revitalised by Graham would have posed serious questions about Villa's staying power.

But their victory over Spurs, despite being largely outplayed for the last 30 minutes of the match, indicates that perhaps they do have what it takes to maintain a prolonged assault on Arsenal's title.

Gregory makes no secret of the fact he prefers English players to overseas ones and apart from Australian goalkeeper Mark Bosnich — currently out of the side with a long-term injury — there are no overseas players in the regular starting line-up.

On Thursday Gregory took his spending to 21.0 million pounds (35 million dollars) in four months — all on English players — when he signed striker Dion Dublin from Coventry for 5.75 million pounds (9.5 million dollars).

Dublin had a dream debut against Spurs, scoring the opening two goals and luckily having a third disallowed for offside late in the game.

With Paul Merson, who joined Villa for seven million pounds (11.64 million dollars), Steve Watson, who joined for four million pounds (6.65 million dollars) from Newcastle, and Alan Thompson, who came from Bolton for two million pounds (3.4 million dollars), Gregory has assembled a team which has already proved hard to beat.

Since he took over as manager from Brian Little in February, Villa have played 22 league matches, winning 15, drawing four and losing only twice — the last time being on April 25 when they were beaten 3-1 by Bolton.

Merson, who has added a dangerous attacking dimension to Villa's play since arriving from Middlesbrough in September, told the Daily Telegraph on Saturday that there was a different mentality at Villa as a result of Gregory's home-based philosophy.

"I've got nothing against (foreign players) but it does make a difference to the togetherness. Everybody is together here," Merson said.

Villa of course may well falter in the next few weeks when they have to play Liverpool, United and Arsenal all before Christmas, but the arrival of Dublin could prove to be the final part in a championship-winning jigsaw.

England international defender Gareth Southgate believes that Dublin's striking partnership with one-time England international Stan Collymore could prove to be highly productive.

"For quite a few years now Villa have been lacking a big target man," Southgate said after Saturday's match, "and I think Dion is the first at this club since the days of Peter Withe."

Becker, who has won more than 20 million dollars during his career but who has been plagued by injuries in recent seasons, added she still enjoyed playing tennis "even if I don't show it."

Becker, approaching his 31st birthday, is now semi-retired, playing only in selected tournaments.

Soccer fans arrested

BUCHAREST, Nov 9: Police sprayed tear gas and made 20 arrests after a brawl erupted between fans of Bucharest's two main rival soccer clubs, several of whom were injured, a government official said Monday, reports AP.

After the match Sunday which ended 1-1, supporters of home team Steaua soccer club flooded onto the pitch and tore Dinamo's banners, angering some of Dinamo's 5,000 supporters.

Dinamo fans tried to force through a line of policemen who were on alert for the match. A brawl ensued and dozens of fans fell and were injured, said Col. Gheorghe Bobea of the Interior Ministry by telephone. One person was hospitalized overnight.

Police used tear gas and hosed them down with water to scatter Dinamo's supporters who destroyed 200 chairs at Steaua's stadium, Ghencea. Dinamo will pay for the damage, Bobea said.

Steaua is the defence ministry's team and Dinamo belongs to the interior ministry. Some 27,000 people attended the match.

Graf not like Becker

BONN, Nov 9: Germany's former world number one tennis star Steffi Graf said in remarks published Sunday that she would not emulate Boris Becker by dragging out the end of her career, reports AFP.

"I don't want to finish like Boris," she told the daily newspaper Die Welt. "I would not be happy with my form going up and down, nor with not being able to give everything."

The 29-year-old added: "I will quit suddenly — let me keep the date a surprise."

Graf, who has won more than 20 million dollars during her career but who has been plagued by injuries in recent seasons, added she still enjoyed playing tennis "even if I don't show it."

Leipzig belongs to Steffi

LEIPZIG, GER-MANY, Nov 9: Steffi Graf crowned a triumphant comeback in the Leipzig Grand Prix by beating Nathalie Tauziat in straight sets in Sunday's final to win the tournament for the fifth time, reports Reuters.

Graf, playing her first event since an operation on her right wrist which put her out of action for nearly two months, needed 83 minutes to win 6-3, 6-4 and record her 20th victory over France's Tauziat in as many encounters.

The German former world number one, who has slumped to 22nd in the WTA rankings, has now won all 25 matches she has played here, where she won from 1990 to 1993.

Second seed Tauziat, the beaten Wimbledon finalist this year, was more aggressive than her opponent and seized every opportunity to take the net as she earned five break points in the opening game.

Cheered on by some 5,000 partisan fans, Graf saved all five and went on to break the Frenchwoman in the seventh game before claiming the first set.

The second set was close until Graf, relying on powerful groundstrokes and precise passing shots, managed the telling break in the final game to score the 105th tournament win of her prolific career.

Graf, 29, and Tauziat, 31, were the two oldest players in the draw of the 450,000 dollars indoor tournament.

Victory will allow the seven-times Wimbledon champion to climb five places to 17th in the next WTA rankings. It also increased her chances of entering the season-ending WTA Championships for the world's top 16 women later this month in New York.

"I have already booked holidays for that period but I can always cancel them," said Graf, who will play in Philadelphia next week and, if she reaches the semifinals there, will make sure of a berth in the championships in New York.

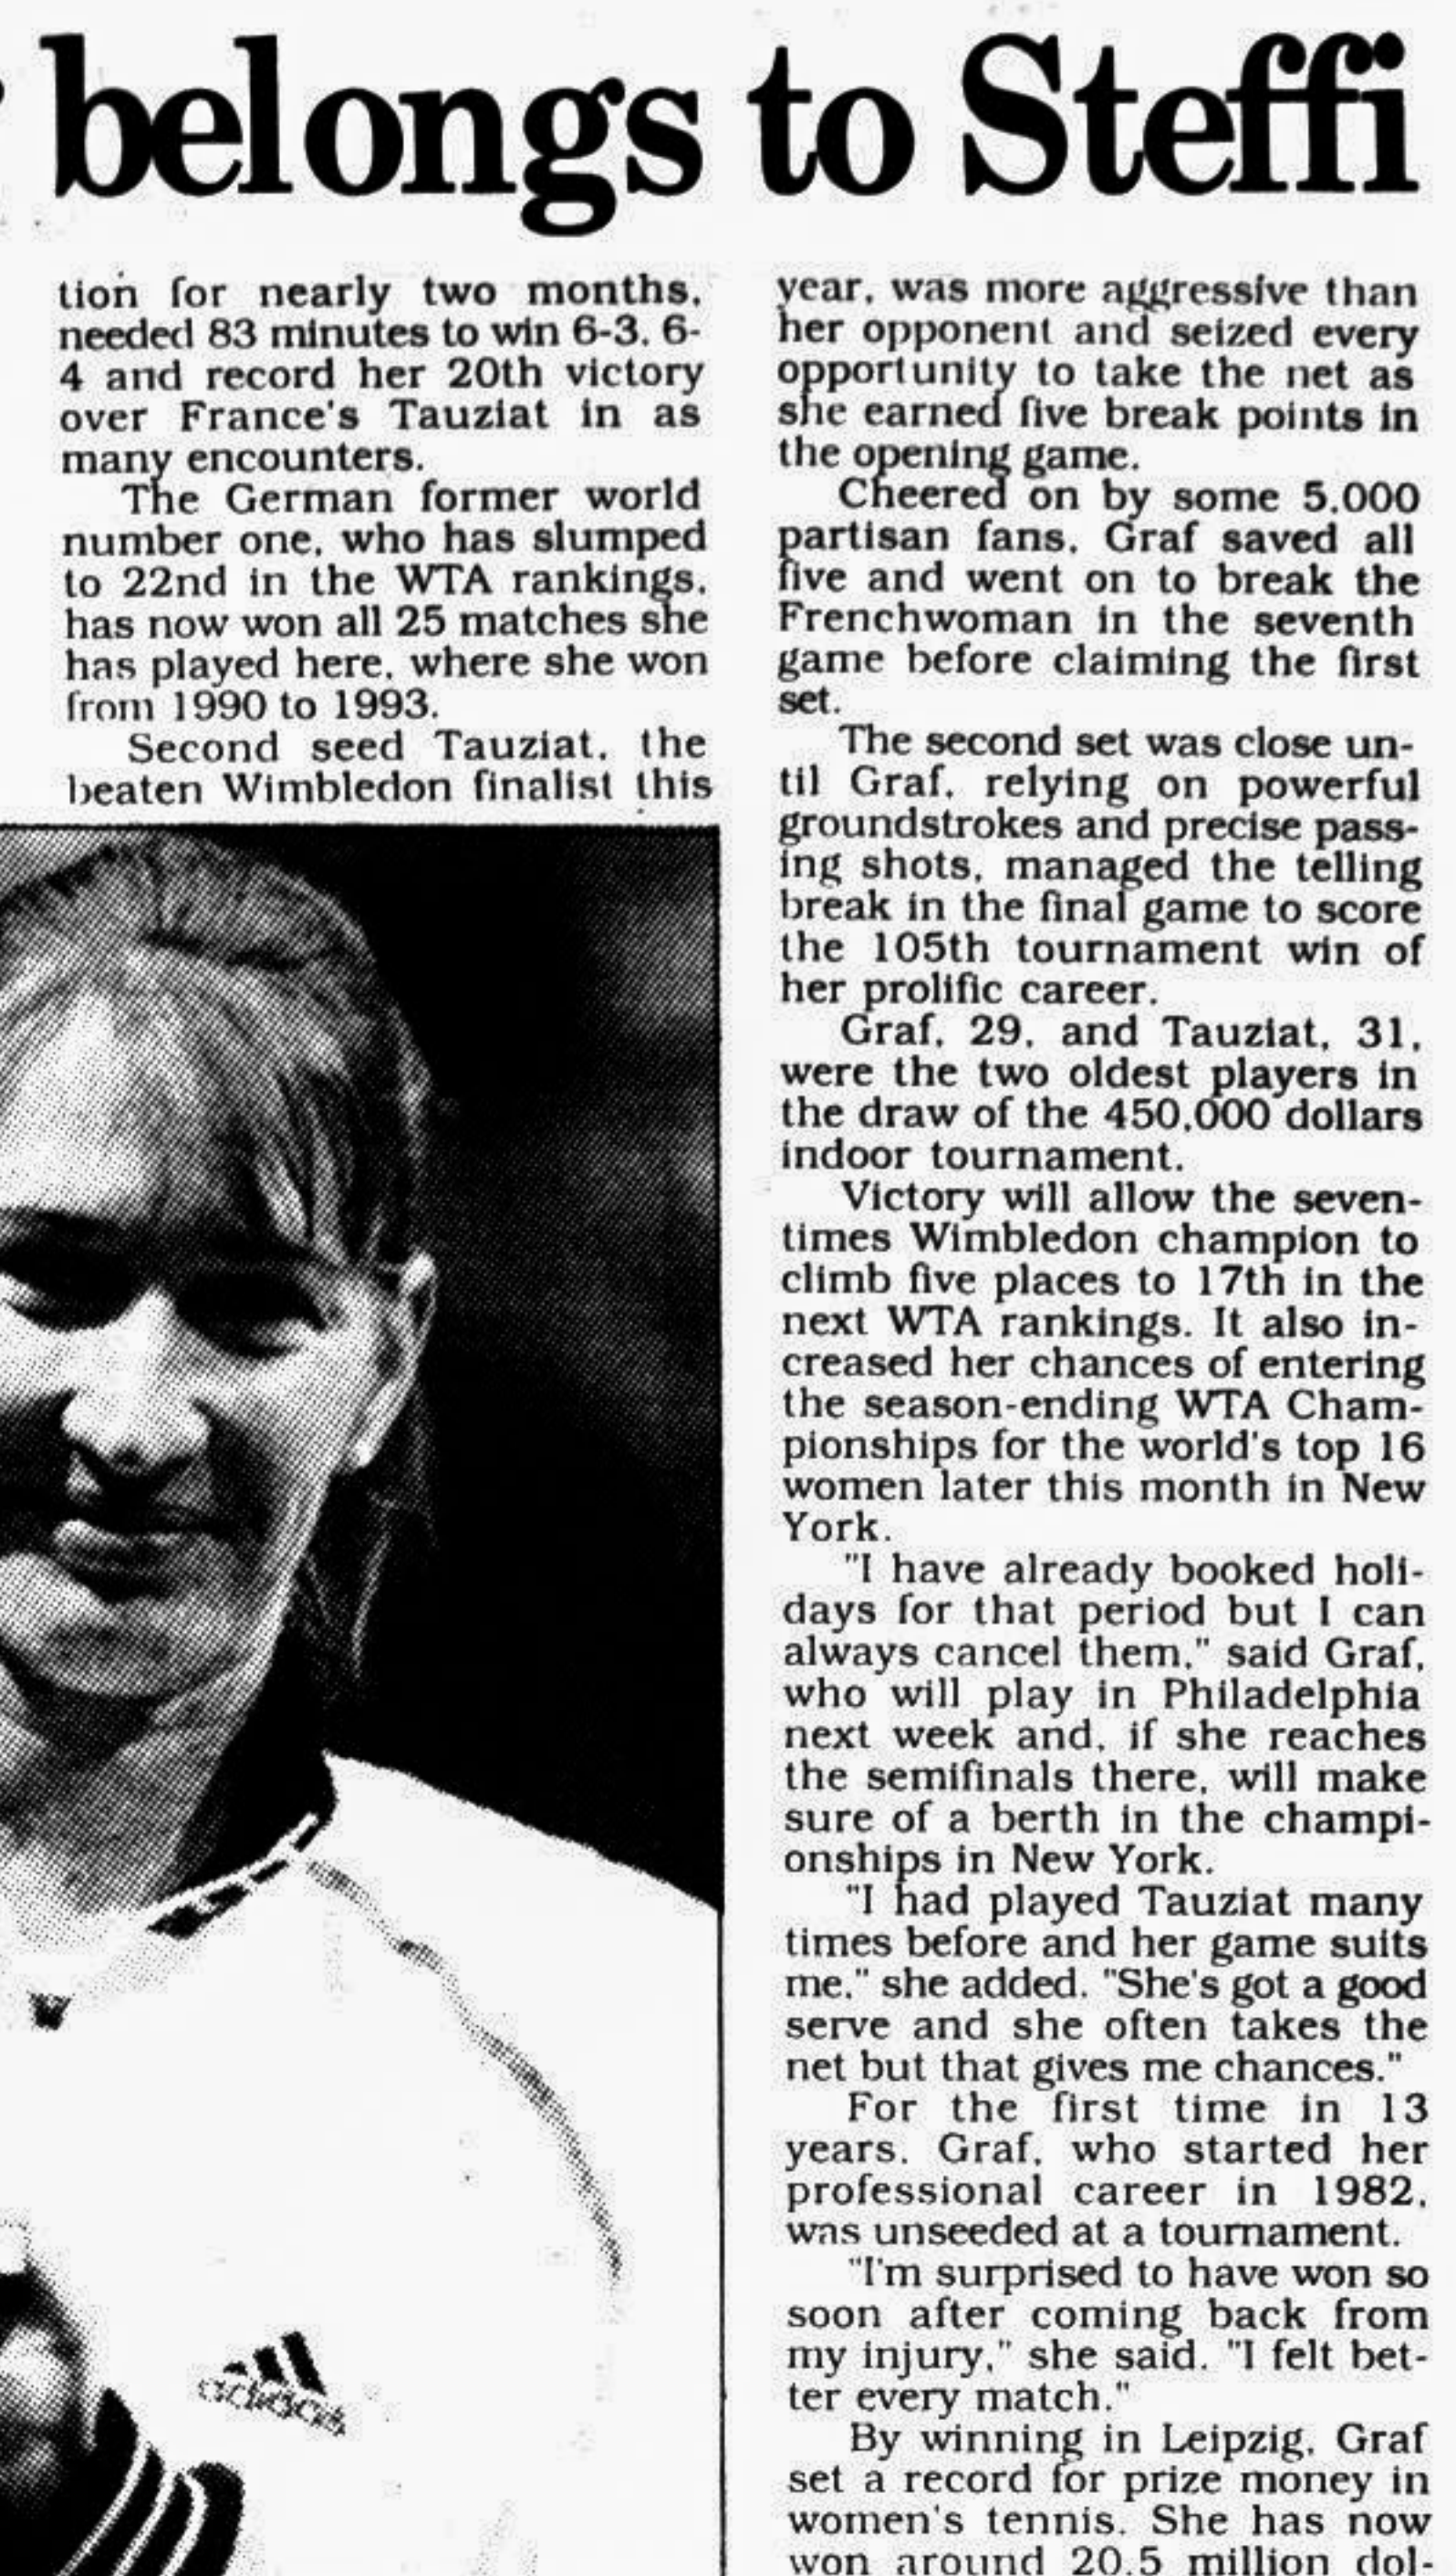

"I had played Tauziat many times before and her game suits me," she added. "She's got a good serve and she often takes the net but that gives me chances."

For the first time in 13 years, Graf, who started her professional career in 1982, was unseeded at a tournament.

"I'm surprised to have won so soon after coming back from my injury," she said. "I felt better every match."

By winning in Leipzig, Graf set a record for prize money in women's tennis. She has now won around 20.5 million dollars, surpassing the previous best of 20.3 million set by Martina Navratilova.

Such records show what you have achieved but they are not that important to me," she said.

Boris won't play anymore this season

BONN, Nov 9: Former world number one Boris Becker said on Sunday his season was over, reports Reuters.

Becker, who was to have played one more event this week in Stockholm, said he had decided not to use the wild card offered to him by the organisers of the Swedish tournament.

"I will decide in December whether I play next year or not," said the 30-year-old German, now semi-retired.

Becker, three times Wimbledon champion, was knocked out in the first round of the Paris Open by Frenchman Nicolas Pietrangeli last Tuesday.

Clashes tarnish Saudi victory

MANAMA, Bahrain, Nov 9 (Reuters/Internet): One person was taken to hospital and at least three were arrested after clashes between police and supporters following Saudi Arabia's 1-0 Gulf Cup victory over the United Arab Emirates on Sunday.

Over 100 fans invaded the pitch to celebrate the win, which leaves the Saudis just one victory away from regaining the title they last won in 1994.

However, the celebrations quickly got out of hand and the supporters clashed with riot police armed with truncheons and shot-guns after breaking through wire fences and streaming onto the pitch.

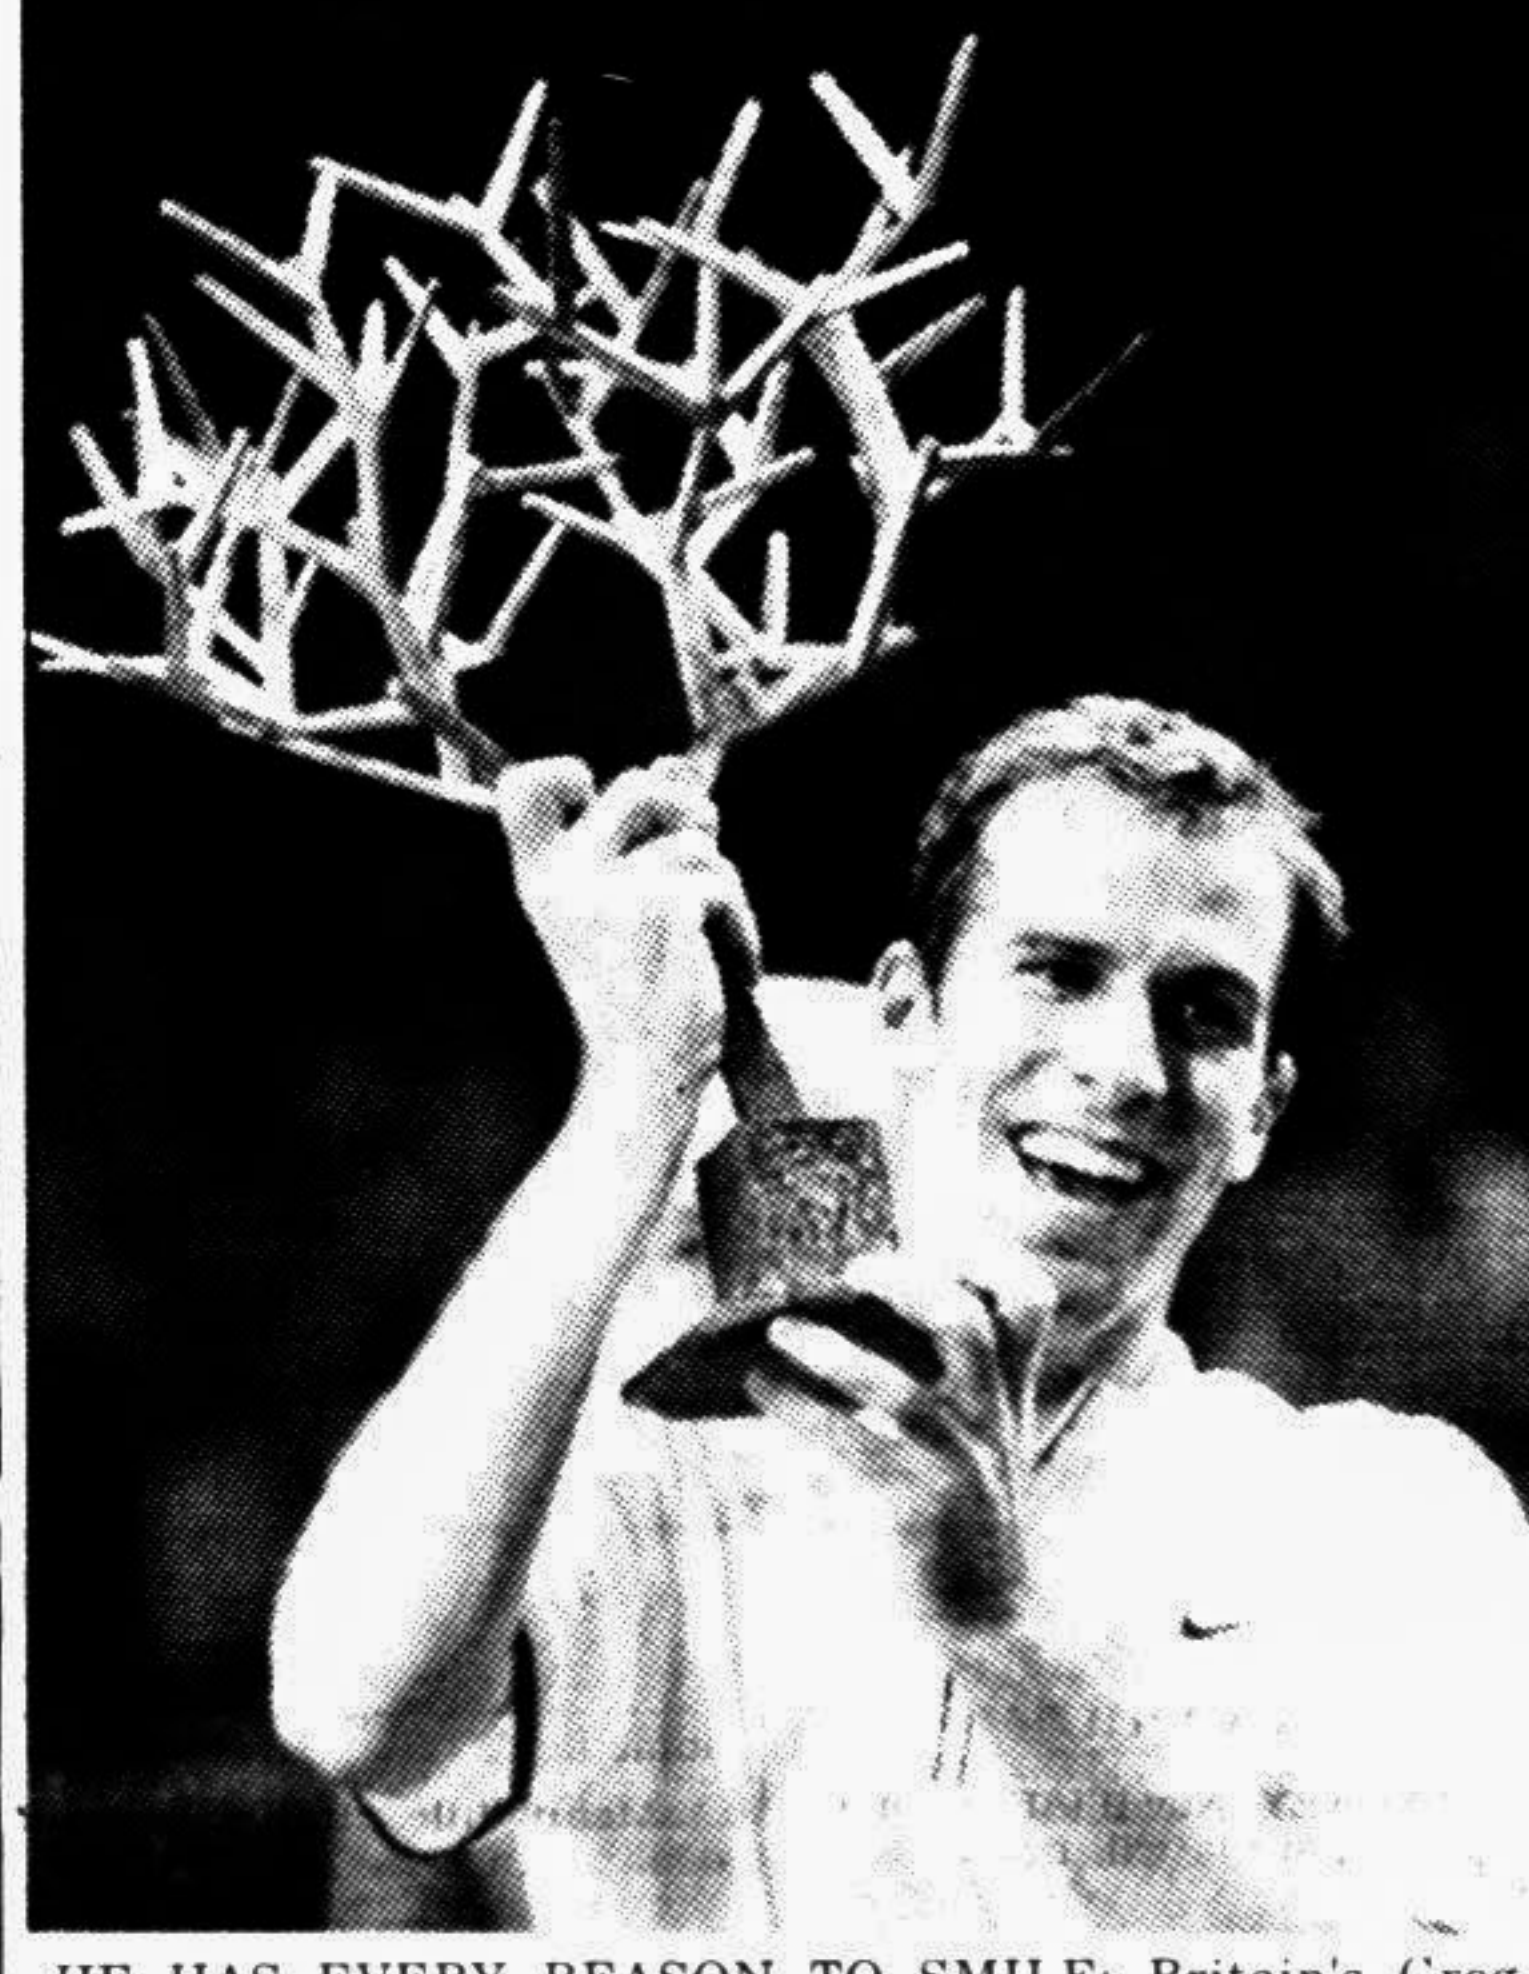

One eyewitness reported seeing three people arrested and one, injured, being taken to hospital in an ambulance.

The players were already back in their changing rooms when the trouble started.

Police attempted to clear the playing area as plastic seats from the stands rained down.

Journalists and camera crews were prevented from leaving the stadium for an hour after the game as police cleared the stadium and the surrounding streets.

Ali Fuhaid scored the only goal of the game in the 18th minute to give the Saudis victory and the win moves them on to 10 points in the round robin tournament after four matches.

Greg grabs Paris Open

PARIS, Nov 9: Greg Rusedski fell like he was on top of the world — for one day at least — on Sunday after beating Pete Sampras in the Paris Open final, reports Reuters.

The excitement of the moment and having beaten Sampras, it's a great feeling, so you feel like you're number one for a day," he said after his 6-4, 7-6, 6-3 victory over the undisputed number one in men's tennis for the past six seasons.

The Briton, who slumped from fourth to 13th in the world rankings this season because of an ankle injury, said he hoped that feeling will last longer now.

"I think if I can get my game together and I don't miss two months or three months of the season, maybe I can have a shot at it (becoming number one)," he said.

The 25-year-old Briton earned his best ranking thanks to his US Open final last season.

The first Briton ever to take part in the ATP Tour World Championship last year, he was tipped to confirm his fine form this season until an ankle injury forced him out of Wimbledon.

"I missed my two best Grand Slams. I didn't have enough preparation for the US Open and Wimbledon. I completely missed out on year," he said. "During that period next year, if I can play well, anything is possible."

To judge by his final against Sampras, which gave him his first win in a Super 9 tournament and handed him a 393,000-dollar cheque, the highest prize on offer on the regular ATP Tour circuit, he could well achieve his goal.

The fastest server in history — with a record at 248 kph — the Briton showed against Sampras he could also volley to perfection, return solidly and he at times delivered passing shots faster than a natural baseline player.

The change came ironically while Rusedski was injured. That break gave him time to think about his game and it allowed him to get acquainted with his new coach Seven Groeneveld.

As a result, he said his victory against Sampras was his "best match ever."

Now the Briton faces tougher clashes on his way to the top, but he believes he is not too old at 25 — only two years younger than Sampras, who was won 11 Grand Slams already — to reach new heights.

"Some people mature later. I don't think you see so many players maturing younger," he said.
