

Recipe for disaster

BANGKOK, Dec 6: About 1,000 volunteer liaison officers today threatened to walk out of the Asian Games because they were banned from eating in restaurants at the Athletes Village.

The manager of the Village said there was only enough food for the athletes so we have been ordered to eat elsewhere. It is not fair," one disgruntled liaison officer told Reuters.

It was the second walkout threat against the Games by support staff in 24 hours.

On Saturday motorised tri-cycle drivers briefly went on strike until they were given assurances that they would soon receive two weeks back pay.

The drivers strike had threatened to disrupt last minute training by athletes because the vehicles were used to transport them to venues.

A medal worth two million bucks!

BANGKOK, Dec 6: President Joseph Estrada has pledged 2 million pesos ($1,200 dollars) for gold at the Asian Games but one medal would be priceless to sports fans in the Philippines, reports AP.

The nation has sent a well-prepared and fully professional men's basketball lineup to the games in a bid to end China's winning run of three titles and protect its own record of four Asian Games golds.

After the Philippines dominated the early years of the games, the launch of a pro league took precedence. But this year, authorities have been prepared to starve their own national league of the top players and spend big, sending the Asian team touring through the United States in recent weeks.

UCB prefers 'colour black'

JOHANNESBURG, Dec 6: The United Cricket Board of South Africa has ordered all provincial teams to select black players for future matches, the board said on Saturday, reports AFP.

The instruction follows a stinging attack on the country's previously whites-only sporting codes by Sports Minister Steve Tshwete, who claimed provincial selectors were perpetuating racism in sport by not including blacks in teams.

"In order to increase the number of players of colour eligible for selection for the national team, the UCB agreed it would be a requirement for all provincial teams to contain players of colour," UCB president Raymond White said in a statement.

A UCB committee would be tasked with monitoring teams' compliance, he added.

It would have a range of powers, including authority over selectors of the national squad.

The committee shall be entitled to direct selectors to include players of colour."

Villa owe Joachim one

LONDON, Dec 6 (Reuters/Internet): Striker Julian Joachim kept Aston Villa top of the English Premier league by firing a second-half equaliser on Saturday to force a 1-1 home draw against Manchester United.

United manager Alex Ferguson, in his first game since the departure of influential right-hand man Brian Kidd to Blackburn Rovers, had been lifted by a crisply taken goal from midfielder Paul Scholes in the 47th minute.

But Joachim put his side level eight minutes later and both he and Alan Thompson, from a free kick, then struck the woodwork as Villa stayed one point clear of second-placed United.

"Going a goal down helped us in a way," Joachim said. "We went all out on the attack and can take a lot of credit from the game. It has given us a lot of confidence for the other tough games coming up."

Villa, who next face Chelsea and Arsenal, have 30 points from 15 games. United have 29, three more than Leeds United, champions Arsenal and West Ham United, who were beaten 4-0 by Leeds on Saturday.

As Ferguson got down to United life without Kidd, his former assistant during the past seven successful years at Old Trafford was enjoying a winning start to his new career at Blackburn.

Kidd, who has replaced Roy Hodgson as Blackburn manager, saw his charges win 1-0 at home to Charlton Athletic to move off the bottom of the table.

A 75th minute goal from Kevin Davies gave Blackburn only their third win in 16 league matches, and kept Charlton sliding down the table after an encouraging start on their return to the top flight.

Kidd was intending to be purely an observer at the match after agreeing to join Rovers on Thursday, but only 17 minutes had elapsed before he moved from his seat in the stand to go down to the touchline where he quickly became animated.

Leeds' 4-0 win was acclaimed by manager David Leary as a "great team performance."

"We have been playing some great stuff," said O'Leary after his side had blasted three of their goals in an 18-minute spell in the second half.

Midfielder Lee Bowyer thrust Leeds ahead after eight minutes but they had to wait until the 61st minute to extend their lead, with Bowyer getting his second.

South defender Robert Molenaar, in the 68th minute, and Jimmy Floyd Hasselbaink,

V-Day carrom from Dec 13

Bangladesh Carrom Association (BCA) will organise a three-day Victory Day carrom tournament 1998 here on December 13-15, reports APB.

The tournament will be held at the Dhaka University gymnasium on single event basis.

Interested clubs have been advised to contact BCA secretary Mohammad Maksudur Rahman at the Shahbag Central Library in person or over phone (502509) for registration.

Each club can send a three-member team, comprising two players and an official, along with a registration fee of Tk 300.

in the 79th, wrapped up the rout against a West Ham side who had defender Neil Ruddock sent off for serious foul play after 71 minutes.

Fourth-placed Arsenal were held 0-0 at Derby while their former manager George Graham continued to revive the fortunes of Tottenham Hotspur, who won 2-1 at home to Liverpool.

Spurs took the lead through Ruel Fox after 26 minutes and an own goal by defender Jamie Carragher five minutes after halftime increased their advantage.

A superbly-struck free kick by Czech Patrik Berger after 55 minutes put Liverpool back in contention but Tottenham survived late pressure to secure the points.

Chelsea stayed unbeaten since the opening day of the league season with a goalless draw at Everton after both sides were reduced to 10 men.

Midfielder Dennis Wise, just returning from suspension, was dismissed for his second bookable offence in the 37th minute before Everton defender Richard Dunne got his marching orders with 14 minutes left.

Two goals in four minutes midway through the second half put Leicester in command and sent Southampton to the bottom of the table.

Striker Emile Heskey hit the first after 61 minutes and defender Steve Walsh got the second in the 64th.

Wimbledon overturned a 54th minute deficit to snatch victory with goals from Jason Euell in the 71st and 81st minutes.

Gary McAllister had fired Coventry in front from a penalty after Wimbledon defender Chris Perry brought down Darren Huckerby.

Tyson puts his homes on the market

CLEVELAND, Dec 6 (AP): There will be no open house at this home.

Boxer Mike Tyson is selling his 62-acre (25-hectare) estate in Trumbull County along with homes in Las Vegas and Farmington, Connecticut. The Plain Dealer reported Saturday. Total asking price: 21 million dollars.

The former heavyweight champ is selling the homes because he is training in the Phoenix area and plans to spend more time on the West Coast of the United States, said Mike Farris, a real estate broker in Las Vegas and one-time head of security for Tyson.

"He doesn't spend any time at these properties," Farris said.

Farris said Tyson and his wife, Monica, who also own a home in Bethesda, Maryland, near Washington, will be looking for property on the West Coast.

The house in Trumbull County, about 65 kilometres (40 miles) southeast of Cleveland, has an asking price of 2.2 million dollars. It has six to eight bedrooms, a 900-square-meter (10,000-square-foot) room with a pool, a regulation-size basketball court and a theatre room decorated in zebra-striped carpeting.

He bought the property in 1989 for 305,000 dollars.

Farris is selling the home with Michelle Holcomb, a real estate agent in Ravenna.

"No tours and no open houses," she told the newspaper. "This will be for qualified buyers, by appointment only, and they will have to contact me."

Tyson also is selling a mansion in Las Vegas next door to entertainer Wayne Newton in a neighbourhood where the Sultan of Brunei has a home. Asking price for the mansion with 1,170 square metres (13,000 square feet), 10 bedrooms, a wine cellar, gymnasium and guest house: 5.9 million dollars.

The asking price on the 5,040-square-meter (54,000-square-foot) Connecticut house has been reduced from 22 million dollars to 13 million dollars. The house has 20 bedrooms, seven kitchens, five dining rooms, a theater, dance club, Olympic-size pool, indoor shooting range, glass elevator, 24 bathrooms and 14 half-baths (toilet but no shower or bathtub).

Too much Power for Nicol

DOHA, Dec 6: Jonathon Power of Canada became the first North American to win the World Open squash championship when upsetting Scotland's Peter Nicol here Saturday, reports APB.

The 24-year-old beat Nicol 15-17, 15-7, 15-9, 15-10 in 72 minutes, of which 28 were taken up by the first game.

A measure of the pressure that Power applied on Nicol by taking the ball early was that the Scot's legs began to weaken even in the second game.

Last year's losing finalist admitted: "I got tired."

Power said: "I had got a bit deflated after losing the first game after being so far ahead."

Sweden's Davis Cup secure

MILAN, Dec 6: Sweden performed with clinical efficiency in the face of Italian determination to win the Davis Cup for the third time since 1994 and the seventh time overall here on Saturday, reports APB.

The pairing of Jonas Bjorkman and Nicklas Pietrangeli defeated Italy's first-time pair of Diego Nargiso and Davide Sanguinetti 7-6, 6-1, 6-3 to give the visitors an unbeatable 3-0 lead and render Sunday's reverse singles academic.

Bjorkman was elated after coming off court.

"It's a great feeling to win," said the Swede. "We had the advantage and waited to see how they played. In the tiebreak we raised our level and were never in danger. It was all under control."

As the Swedes celebrated, the Italians, who won the 1976 edition against Chile, were left to ponder their sixth final loss.

Despite fervent support from 13,000 home fans, the Italians were unable to overcome the unavailability of their No 1 Andrea Gaudenzi, who injured his right shoulder in a five-set loss Friday to Magnus Norman.

The 25-year-old faces a third round of surgery on the joint on Monday.

Italian coach Paolo Bertolucci said: "I'm very disappointed. This defeat bothers me. I don't want to think about the future."

"We knew that Sweden were favourites, the boys did all they could. I would have preferred to have had a full team."

The real game starts now

BANGKOK, Dec 6: With one eye on the Sydney Olympics and the other on the battle for just two Asian places in the next World Cup, the region's soccer powerhouse get down to serious business at the Asian Games on Monday, reports Reuters.

All the fancied sides made it through the first round completed on Saturday, but some of them looked less than impressive in the humid tropical heat of Thailand, where temperatures rise above 30. They will have to play a lot better to win one of the top two spots in the four groups which will provide a ticket to the knockout quarter-final stage of a tournament which took on a somewhat sharper edge on Friday.

FIFA decided Asia would have only four qualifying spots for the 2002 World Cup finals even though Japan and South Korea will get there automatically as co-hosts.

Asia was decidedly unhappy at the prospect of battling for only two other places, said FIFA spokesman Keith Cooper.

So the Asian Games suddenly took on greater meaning in preparations for the qualifying matches on the road to 2002 as 16 teams got ready for the second round which starts on Monday.

And to show just how tough the fight for a quarterfinal berth is going to be, the day's big match will be between Japan and South Korea, who both stuttered in the first round.

South Korea lost their first round opener to Turkmenistan while Japan stunned everybody by only just scraping a 1-0 win over India, one of the world's few countries where soccer is a minor sport.

Their Group Two also includes the United Arab Emirates, always a tough side to beat, and defending champions Uzbekistan — 15-0 winners over Mongolia in their last match of the opening round, both will fancy their chances.

Group Three is another one which will see a good side or two fall by the wayside as China, one of the favourites, tackle Iran, who have brought most of the squad which played in the World Cup in France earlier this year. Oman and Tajikistan.

And China should go through, but the other two sides have shown moments of class which could upset the best and the Chinese are unhappy about the state of the pitch at Bangkok's Suphachalasai Stadium where they will play their matches.

Hosts Thailand, the strongest side in Southeast Asia with a football mad population urging them on, are reasonably confident of a quarterfinal berth after an impressive 2-0 win over Oman on Friday put them into perhaps the easiest second round line-up.

Defeat would have pitched them into Group Three, but their much-applauded win over Oman put them instead into Group Four with Lebanon, Qatar and Kazakhstan.
