Officials of Ramgati

(Laxmipur) and Daulatkhan thanas have been vested with the responsibility of inspecting land deeds and other relevant documents to identify the land-gabbers and find out the real owners.

The decision was taken at a recent meeting attended by DC of Bhola Abdul Mannan, SP Mokhesur Rahman, ADC Mo-hiuddin Ahmed, DC of Laxmipur Mahbubul Alam, SP Khairul Bashar, TNO of Daulatkhan JN Biswas, and TNO of Ramgati.

A police officer of the thana said that they could not take any action as all the chairmen in the thana were influential members of the ruling party. When one of the chairmen was asked about the matter, he said, 'The TNO will not be allowed to enter into his office any more. So he should be removed by the government immediately.'

According to sources, the government had allotted four tonnes of wheat for distribution to puja mandaps during the last Durga Puja.

another list and demanded that the wheat be allotted according to their respective needs.

The TNO, for certain reasons, was unable to oblige the chairmen.

Number of drug addicts up in S-dists

NARAIL, Dec 22: The number of drug addicts has been increasing in an alarming proportion in 10 south-western districts of the country in recent days, reports UNB.

Frustrated youths, students, activists of different political parties and their front organisations are the majority among the addicts. Drugs like heroin, hemp, phensidyl, opium, cocaine and injections are being sold everywhere in the region, said the witnesses.

The drugs are entering into the country through different border points of Satkhira, Jessore, Kushtia, Meherpur and Chuadanga districts. Some organised gangs in connivance with a section of dishonest officials and employees are allegedly involved in the illegal trade.

After smuggling into the country, the traffickers supply it to Jessore from where they distribute these to other districts of the region through their agents. Besides, women and children have become involved in the cross border smuggling and trafficking in the frontier areas.

People in the region alleged that the law enforcement agencies remain indifferent to the growing menace, which has caused concern among them. In most of the cases, illegal traders are informed before the launching of any anti-drug drive by a section of officials thereby foiling the chance to curb the menace.

The situation is going beyond the control and leading the young generation to the brink of ruin.

Saplings dying due to unidentified disease

JHENIDAH, Dec 22: Saplings are rapidly dying in country's South-western region due to the outbreak of unidentified disease incurring a huge loss to the owners, reports UNB.

The worst affected districts are Jhenidah, Chuadanga, Magura, Meherpur, Jessore, Satkhira and Kushtia.

The Forest Department sources said that saplings are not only being affected by the disease in the South-western part but in other parts also due to the same reason.

The disease first broke out in 1994 in South-western region of the country, but experts could not detect this as yet.

At first stage of the infection, leaves of the upper portion of a sapling dry up then the entire portion of the sapling is slowly affected causing its ultimate death.

An affected gardener in Shaiklupa thana said that 500 saplings of his garden have been perished due to the disease recently. The agri officials visited the garden to detect the cause behind the ravage but they are yet to make any headway in this regard.

Meanwhile, Dr Wazed Box, an expert of Bangladesh Forest Research Institute, after conducting research, has found one kind of insect in the saplings, which is said to be the cause behind the disease.

He said this insect, known as 'spot hole borer' or 'embrochea Chittlet platipodi dicholer', enter into the top portion of the sapling creating a hole on the peel and then suck the juice leaving the sapling rotten.

The Forest Department sources said samples of affected saplings were sent to Britain to detect the disease.

The department has advised the growers to use pesticides 'Furadan' and 'Kaleskin' mixing with one litre water at the roots of the saplings on an experimental basis.
