Tyson for tough love

NEW YORK, Dec 26 (Reuters/Internet): The latest persona adopted by Mike Tyson...

In fact, Tommy Brooks, who co-trained Holyfield against Tyson, almost wasn't hired because "Mike didn't think I could be hard enough" on him...

That Brooks seemed relaxed and open in talking about Tyson already represents a major change in the Tyson camp...

In recent years members of Tyson's often obnoxious entourage were severely restricted in their conversations with the media other than to offer platitudes about how great their meal ticket was...

Brooks said there are no restrictions on him talking about his new charge. And in a refreshing change...

The 44-year-old Brooks, who, in addition to Holyfield, has worked with such fighters as Pernell Whitaker, Meldrick Taylor, Mark Breland, Rocky Lathridge, Mike McCallum and Livingston Bramble...

Brooks said that Tyson has got back to basics in camp by not squaring up against his sparring partners...

At one point Tyson said, "Kill me, man, kill me," said Brooks, who also said he has a multi-fight deal to train Tyson...

One of the biggest questions surrounding Tyson is just what made him snap in his June 1997 rematch against Holyfield, who had thoroughly beaten Tyson in their first fight in November 1996 before the referee stopped it in round 11...

Despite Tyson's contorted explanation that in the rematch he had to protect himself and his livelihood for his family because Holyfield was butting him, Brooks said Tyson, "probably wasn't in shape and he was getting hit with stuff he didn't know he could get hit with."

Brooks, who said Tyson has given him free rein in training, also said, "I don't think he had a fight plan in either one of those fights."

Subcontinent stands in unison

KARACHI, Dec 26: A call for life bans on Shane Warne and Mark Waugh is to be made by Pakistan, India and Sri Lanka when world cricket chiefs meet next month...

PCB legal adviser Ali Sibtain Fazi and Lahore High Court registrar Abubus Salam Khawar will travel to Australia to hear their testimony because Waugh and Warne were reluctant to travel to Pakistan and attempts to set up a live video link failed.

The pair have accused former Pakistan captain Salim Malik of offering them bribes to play poorly during Australia's tour of Pakistan in 1994.

Waugh testified before the inquiry in October when Australia were touring Pakistan, but investigating judge Malik Quayum said he needed to be interviewed again following his admission about accepting money from a bookmaker.

Warne has made similar allegations but did not testify as he missed the recent tour of Pakistan because he was recovering from shoulder surgery.

Malik has denied the charges and says Warne's and Waugh's admission over the Indian bookmaker prove his innocence.

Waugh and Warne were secretly fined by the Australian Cricket Board (ACB) in early 1995 but the incident was covered up until an Australian newspaper broke the story earlier this month...

PCB chief executive Majid Khan criticised the ACB on Saturday, saying, "It is very unfortunate the way ACB covered up the issue and only fined the two cricketers. Had the ACB informed us at that time, a joint probe by the two boards could have been conducted to resolve the issue."

Let's see if the majority favours life bans," he added. Former Australian Test batsman Neil Harvey is among others who have called for two-year bans on Waugh and Warne.

Two days before the ICC meeting, Waugh and Warne are to appear before a Pakistani inquiry which will sit in Australia to take testimony from the pair as part of an investigation into bribery and match-fixing in Pakistan cricket.

The ACB has since announced its own investigation into cricket and betting would begin on January 12 and last about three weeks.

Meanwhile, AP adds from Lahore, a Pakistani judicial inquiry is sending two people to Australia this week to record the statements of Waugh and Warne, cricket authorities said Saturday.

The Pakistani inquiry is investigating allegations made by Waugh, Warne and teammate Tin May that top Pakistani cricketers were involved in match fixing.

Pakistani cricket officials say Waugh made a false statement when he appeared before the Pakistani judicial inquiry in October. The inquiry is probing allegations that Pakistani cricketers Malik and Wasim Akram were involved in match fixing. The Pakistani cricketers have denied the allegations.

Juve splash out $12m for Sukur?

ANKARA, Dec 26: Italian club Juventus has made a 12 million dollars offer to entice Galatasaray striker Hakan Sukur, news reports said Saturday, says AP.

Istanbul club Galatasaray, suffering from a financial crisis, left the decision up to Sukur, daily Hurriyet said.

But sports daily Foto Mac reported that Sukur was not eager to go back to Italy.

"I already closed the Italian venture," Foto Mac quoted Sukur as saying, "I want to conclude my soccer career in a Galatasaray uniform."

Sukur joined Galatasaray three years ago after a brief stint with Turin club Torino. He scored 32 league goals last season for the reigning champion Galatasaray.

Juventus top manager Luciano Moggi reportedly travelled to Istanbul to discuss the transfer of Sukur, another sports daily, Fanatik said.

Juventus club offices were closed Saturday, a national holiday in Italy. In Turkey, Galatasaray officials were not available for comment.

Rain ruins Day One

MELBOURNE, Dec 26 (Reuters/Internet): Rain hunched out the opening day of the fourth Ashes cricket Test between Australia and England on Saturday without a single ball being bowled.

Play was abandoned almost two hours before the scheduled finish after a day of persistent showers and drizzle at the Melbourne Cricket Ground.

Officials said an extra hour would be added to each of the remaining four days of the match, although more rain was forecast.

The decision to abandon play cost the Australian Cricket Board (ACB) an estimated 1.0 million Australian dollars (610,000 US) in revenue on what is traditionally the biggest day on the country's cricket calendar.

Crowds exceeding 70,000 are commonplace on the opening day of the annual Boxing Day Test. At least 50,000 turned up on Saturday, paying 20 Australian dollars a ticket despite the poor weather, and were told they would be given full refunds because a minimum of 12 overs had not been bowled.

The rain began falling shortly before the two captains tossed the coin. It stopped long enough for Australian captain Mark Taylor to win the throw for the fourth time in the series and sent in the English to bat, before the brooding skies opened up again.

Ground staff immediately covered up the centre wicket in the hope that the showers would pass but the rain persisted for another five hours.

Umpires Daryl Harper and Steve Bucknor eventually inspected the pitch at 4.15 pm local time (0515 GMT) after the rain momentarily eased up before calling an end to the day with the outfield soaked.

The bad weather proved particularly frustrating for England's Warren Hegg and Australia's Matthew Nicholson after they had been selected to make their Test debuts.

Hegg, England's reserve wicketkeeper, was called in when captain Alec Stewart decided to focus on his batting after combining his captaincy duties with batting and also wearing the gloves in the first three Tests.

Hegg replaced batsman John Crawley, who was named 12th man, in one of two changes to the side that lost in Adelaide, ensuring Australia retained the Ashes.

Paceman Angus Fraser was also recalled after missing the last two Tests, replacing off-spinner Peter Such.

"This is the ultimate. There's no bigger place in the world to make your test debut, apart from may be Lord's," Hegg said.

"When they didn't toss the first time because of the rain I was a bit worried because I realised they could still change the side and I could miss out. But whatever happens now, they can't take my England cap away from me."

Nicholson, who has played just seven first-class matches, was awarded his first cap at the expense of all-rounder Colin Miller who was chosen to carry the drinks for Australia.

Nicholson's career was in tatters a year ago after he contracted Chronic Fatigue Syndrome. The 24-year-old recovered to emerge as one of Australia's most promising fast bowlers.

He has taken 17 wickets in four Sheffield Shield matches this season and claimed seven wickets in an innings in Western Australia's drawn tour match against England last month.

SHANE WARNE

to discuss bribery and corruption in the sport, reports Reuters.

Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB) chairman Khalid Mahmood said today the three countries would be pushing for bans at the International Cricket Council (ICC) meeting in Christchurch, New Zealand, on January 10-11.

Australian Test pair Warne and Waugh recently admitted taking money from an Indian bookmaker for information on pitch and weather conditions during a one-day tournament in Sri Lanka in 1994.

Mahmood said: "The subcontinent was unanimous that the guilty players should be banned for life when we met at New Delhi 10 days ago."

At least three countries (Pakistan, India and Sri Lanka) will be pressing the ICC to step in, investigate the charges and clamp life bans on those found guilty."

Big label for Liverpool

LONDON, Dec 26 (Reuters/Internet): Liverpool have been ranked as the best English soccer club ever according to an all-time league table published by The Times newspaper on Saturday.

By allocating points for a club's achievements in European competition, league competitions, the FA and League Cups and weighting the points according to separate playing eras, Liverpool emerge top of the table with 6,380 points, followed by Manchester United (5,360), Arsenal (4,065), Tottenham Hotspur (3,390) and Everton (3,165) -- the traditional Big Five of English soccer.

Aston Villa, who have led the premier league for most of this season, are in sixth place (2,755), followed by Leeds United (2,305), Wolverhampton Wanderers (2,180), Nottingham Forest (1,840) and Newcastle United (1,750). Preston North End, giants of the early days of English soccer and winners of the Cup and League double in the league's first season of 1888-89 are ranked as high as 19th, with their old Lancashire rivals Burnley, who, like Preston are now in the second division, ranked 18th.

Manchester City's rapid decline over the last few years from a premier league to a second division club is best illustrated by their all-time ranking of 14th -- higher than many current premier league clubs including Derby County (16th), Blackburn (17th) and West Ham (20th).

The exploits of some long-forgotten giants of the past are also reflected in the standings.

The Wanderers, the first FA Cup winners in 1872 who won all five FA Cup finals they played in the 1870s before disappearing long before the turn of the last century, are ranked 35th -- higher than current premier league clubs Charlton Athletic and Middlesbrough, while Old Etonians, Oxford University and Royal Engineers, all cup winners over a century ago, are all in the top 50.

The top 20 clubs in the Times table and their points tallies are: 1 Liverpool (6,380), 2 Manchester United (5,360), 3 Arsenal (4,065), 4 Tottenham Hotspur (3,390), 5 Everton (3,165), 6 Aston Villa (2,755), 7 Leeds United (2,305), 8 Wolverhampton Wanderers (2,180), 9 Nottingham Forest (1,840), 10 Newcastle United (1,750), 11 Sheffield Wednesday (1,730), 12 Chelsea (1,670), 13 Sunderland (1,660), 14 Manchester City (1,635), 15 West Bromwich Albion (1,405), 16 Derby County (1,245), 17 Blackburn Rovers (1,180), 18 Burnley (1,140), 19 Preston North End (1,110), 20 West Ham United (1,025).

Corinthians beat Cruzeiro on Wednesday to take the title giving Luxemburgo his third overall crown having won it twice with Palmeiras in 1993 and 1994.

The 46-year-old Luxemburgo, who succeeded veteran Mario Zagallo in August following Brazil's humiliating 3-0 defeat by France in July's World Cup final, had promised to quit the club at the end of this year and it is believed that the federation, who will hold talks with him in January will not allow him to go back on his original decision.

Luxemburgo, CBF on collision course

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec 26: Brazilian coach Wanderly Luxemburgo was headed for a showdown with his football federation on Friday after he said that he wanted to continue in his dual role of national coach and as manager of newly crowned league champions Corinthians, reports AFP.

The 46-year-old Luxemburgo, who succeeded veteran Mario Zagallo in August following Brazil's humiliating 3-0 defeat by France in July's World Cup final, had promised to quit the club at the end of this year and it is believed that the federation, who will hold talks with him in January will not allow him to go back on his original decision.
