

Tyson-Botha bout preview

LAS VEGAS, Jan 16 (AP): Mike Tyson knows only two things about Francois Botha. He's white, and he can't beat me. Tyson said of the opponent he will face Saturday night in a 10-round fight in the MGM Grand Garden Arena...

"You never know until a guy is actually fighting," said Tommy Brooks, Tyson's new trainer. "From what I've seen in the sparring sessions, there is no ring rust."

Brooks also thinks Tyson has been able to put the Bite back behind him and focus on his boxing future. He also said the subject of Holyfield has not come up since Brooks began working with Tyson two months ago.

"I don't think he's lost confidence in himself," Brooks said. "He lost confidence in his corner."

"His trainers weren't telling him anything in the Holyfield fights. When you come back to the corner and they're not telling you anything, that could put a damper on the programme."

Final round action will begin on Sunday with Brazil against Chile. Peru playing Paraguay and Argentina against Uruguay.

MAR DEL PLATA, Argentina, Jan 16: Gamaliel Garcia and Nicolas Cordova scored two goals each to lead Chile to a 4-0 victory over Peru in South America's U20 soccer championship, reports AP.

Both teams had already qualified for the round robin final round in which six teams will compete for four berths in the world youth championship scheduled for April in Nigeria.

Later on Friday, Venezuela defeated Ecuador 3-2. Neither team qualified for the final round.

Venables gives up managership

LONDON, Jan 16: The reign of former England and Australia manager Terry Venables at English First Division club Crystal Palace ended Friday when he stepped aside to let Steve Coppell take charge, reports AP.

Venables, who was appointed manager at the London side in June, had more than four years of a lucrative 750,000 pounds-a-year contract left to run.

But he finally reached an agreement after four days of tough talks with club chairman Mark Goldberg and agreed that in future he would act as a consultant to the club on a part-time basis.

"We found ourselves in an impossible situation and after a lot of very amicable talking, it became clear that it may even be beneficial to Palace for us to part company," said Venables.

"I have decided to give as much help and assistance as I can to mark in his determination to make it work and to get Crystal Palace back in the Premiership."

Goldberg, who has been forced to introduce cost-cutting measures in a bid to keep Palace afloat amid what are understood to be serious financial problems, said: "It has been a difficult decision to make but Terry accepts the situation."

"Both the club and Terry have been working to secure the long-term future of Crystal Palace and I am glad that we have been able to reach an agreement whereby Terry remains at the club, he will co-ordinate the club's transition to the 1990 FA Cup final where they lost to Manchester United in a replay, will have his work cut out as he tries to lift the club from a modest 14th in the table.

Palace were relegated for the third time from the Premiership last summer. Speaking of his admiration for Goldberg, Venables said late Friday: "From the first time I met him he had great plans for the club and knew what he was after and that has not changed."

"If hard work has got anything to do with it, he will get there. I will give him as much support as possible."

Venables is still regarded as one of the Europe's best coaches, and he has made no secret of his desire to continue in club management.

Venables, who has in the centre of controversy for his financial dealings in the past, was named England coach in 1994 but resigned after taking his team to the semifinals of Euro '96.

Adidas title Davenport's

SYDNEY, Jan 16: World number one Lindsay Davenport heads into next week's Australian Open on a high note after blasting past Switzerland's Martina Hingis in the final of the Adidas International today, reports Reuters.

The closely-watched showdown began as a serve and successive breaks of service, but US Open champion Davenport soon asserted her authority as she fought to a 6-4, 6-3, win in just under an hour.

The tall American used a powerful forehand to great effect as she built up a 5-1 lead in the first set. Hingis broke back, bringing the scoreline to 5-4, before Davenport served out the set.

The second set was more one-sided, with Davenport holding serve comfortably and twice breaking the Swiss — the second time as Hingis served for her survival at 3-5 down.

Davenport won the championship trophy with a smart cross-court backhand to wrong-foot the champion. Davenport dethroned Hingis as world number one last year and the Swiss has vowed to regain the top ranking.

But based on today's performance she still has a way to go. The victory is likely to install the 22-year-old Davenport as favourite in Melbourne next week, even though Hingis has won the first Grand Slam tournament of the season for the past two years.

Auckland Open Schalken's AUCLAND, New Zealand, Jan 16: Dutchman Sjeng Schalken won his fourth ATP tennis title Saturday, beating German Tommy Haas 6-4, 6-4 in the Auckland Open, then dedicated the victory to his dead brother, reports AP.

Schalken's younger brother Tuur had been suffering from leukemia and died three years ago Saturday at the age of 15. The death forced Schalken to withdraw from the 1996 Australian Open.

"He was my greatest fan, he watched me win my first two titles on television because he was sick," said Schalken. "I was sad when I woke up this morning. I wasn't feeling so good."

"He died today three years ago and I had to withdraw from the Australian Open for personal reasons at that time and fly home."

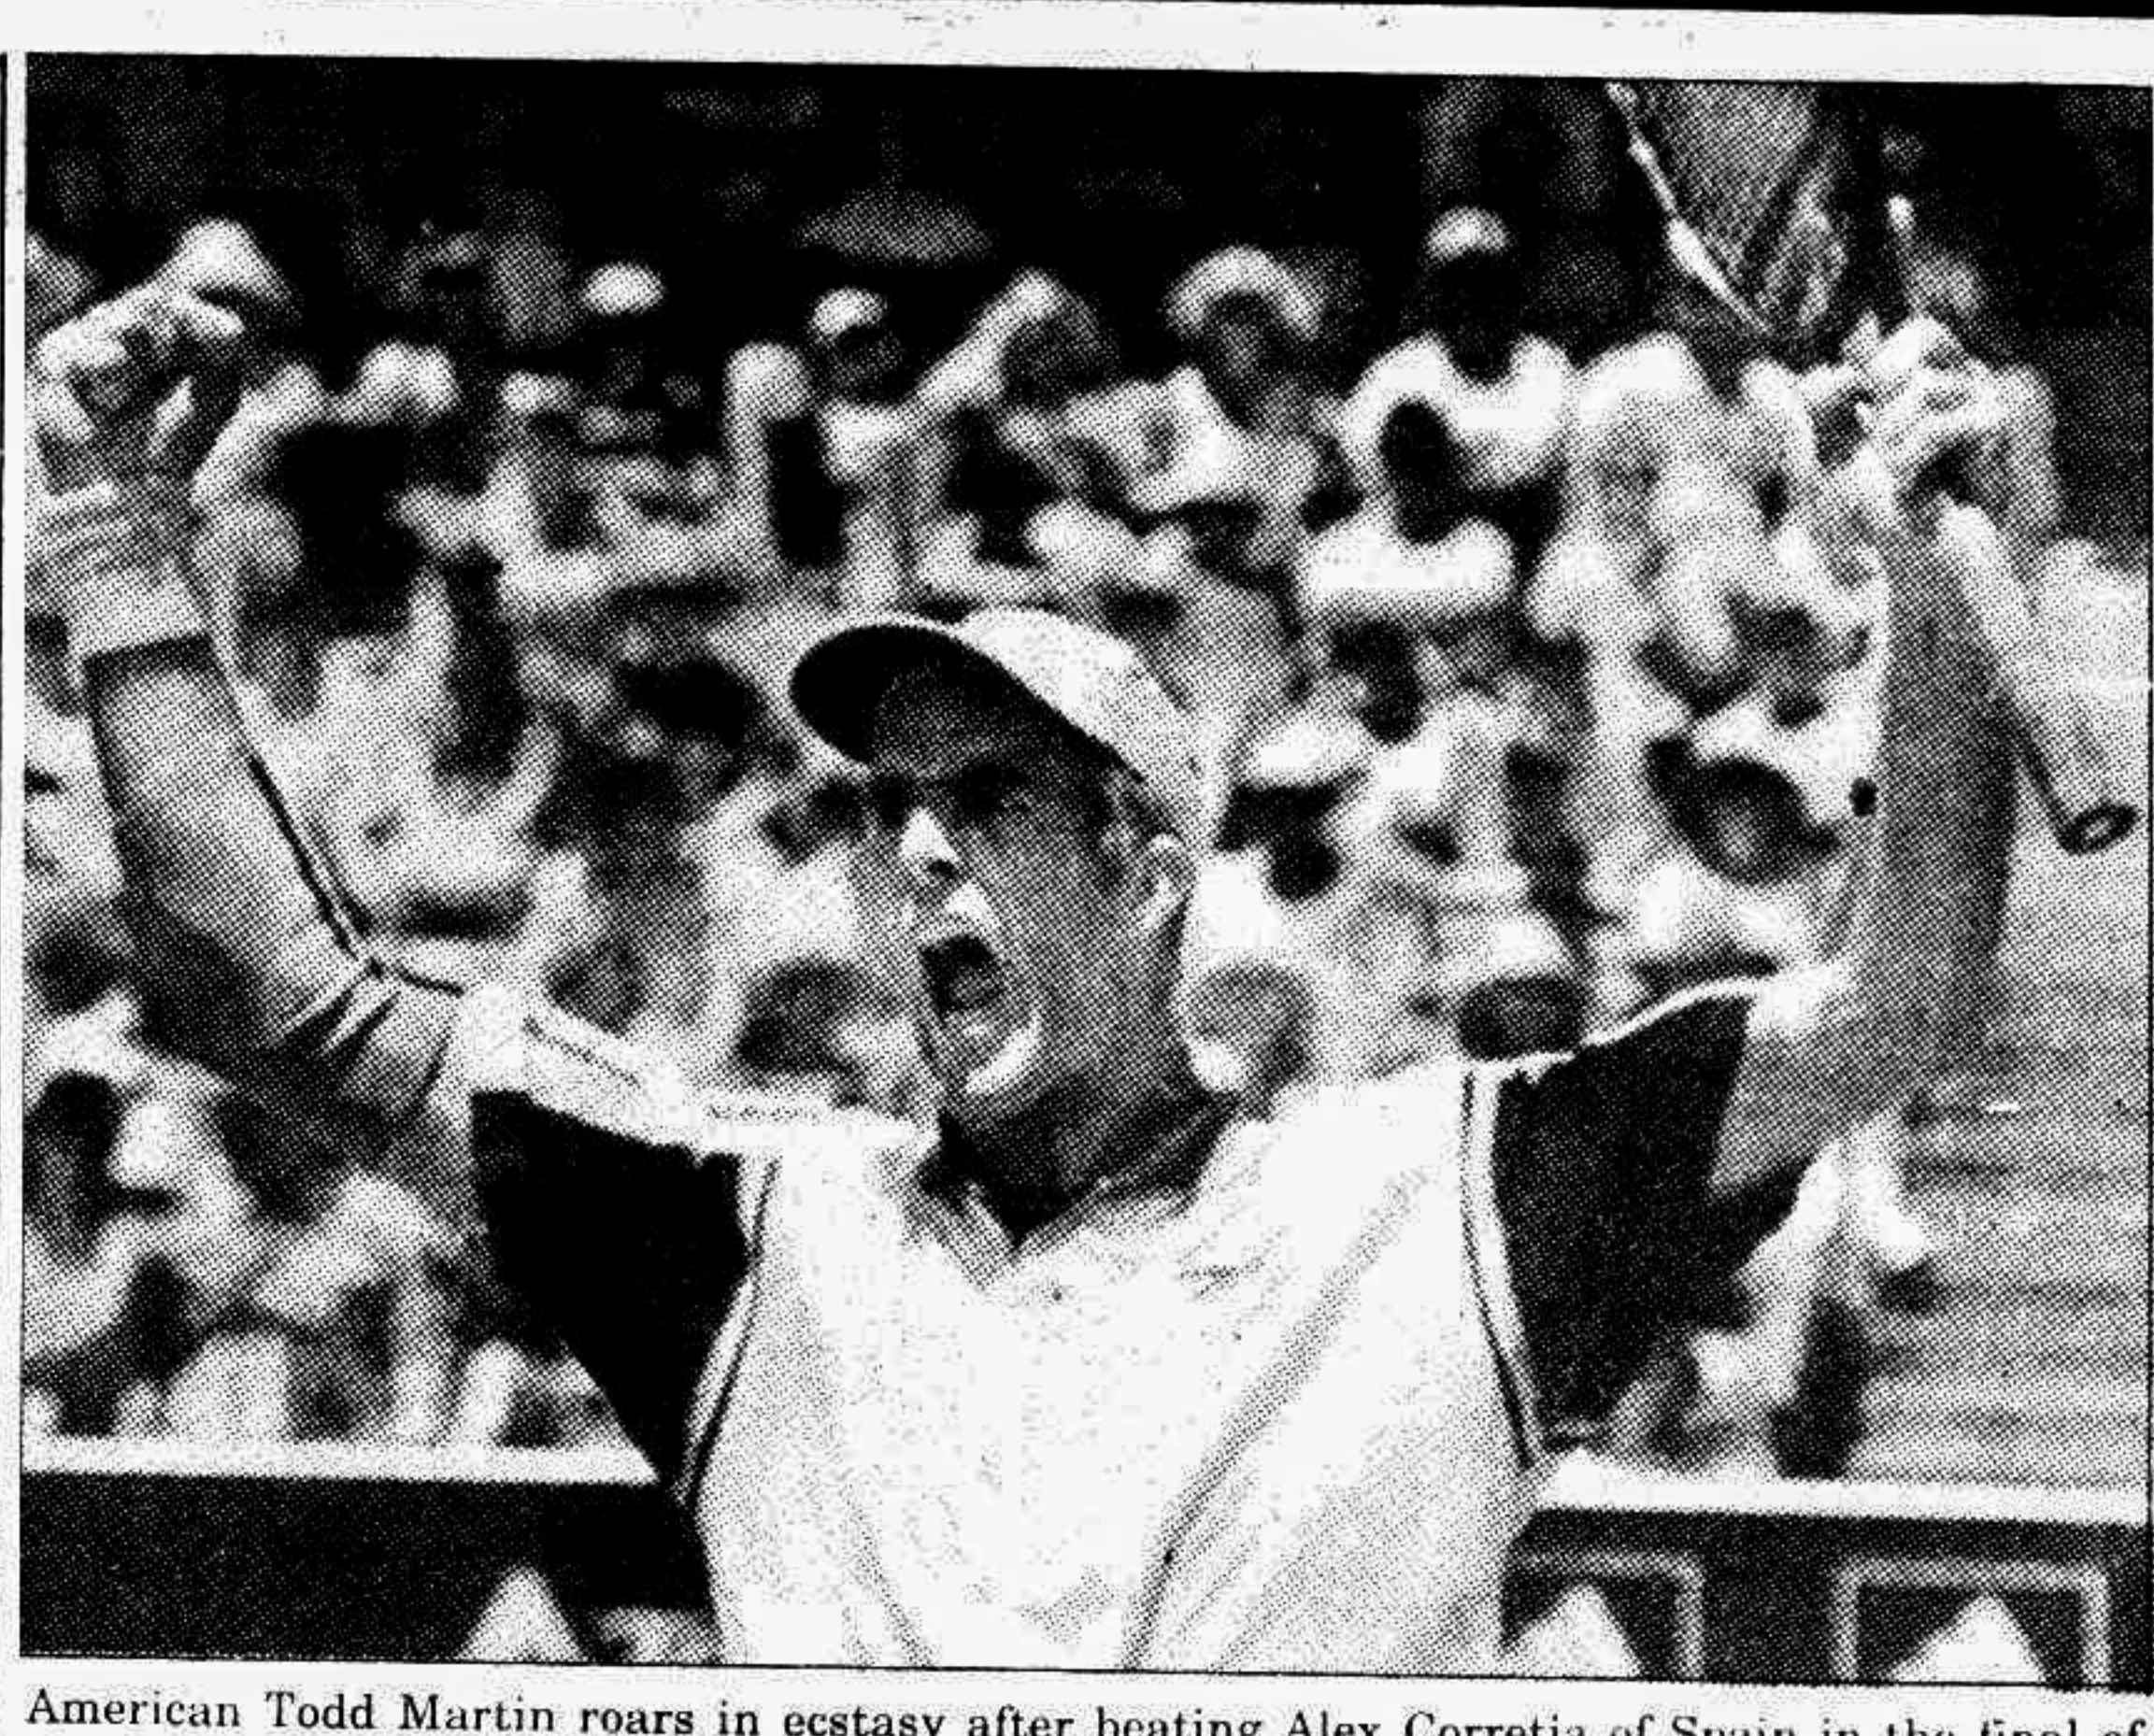

Easily the most consistent player here this week, the 22-year-old Schalken didn't drop a set.

Piacenza, trounced 6-3 by Parma on Sunday, at full strength. Udinese (10) v Empoli (16) Udinese, who have won their last two games against Vicenza and Perugia, have midfielder Giuliano Giannicchedda suspended.

Empoli at full strength. Vicenza (18) v Juventus (7) Everything going wrong for champions Juventus, unlucky in a late 2-1 midweek Italian Cup defeat by Bologna and winners of only one of their last eight Serie A games.

Parma (1) v Lazio (3) Both sides have emerged as genuine title contenders in the last month and this clash, at the halfway point of the season, could have huge psychological significance.

Martin craves for 1st Slam

SYDNEY, Jan 16 (AP/Reuters): American Todd Martin set his sights on a Grand Slam breakthrough after beating No 3-ranked Alex Corretja to win his second Sydney Adidas International crown Saturday.

Martin, 28, won 6-3, 7-6 (7-5) for only his eighth title in a pro career stretching back to 1990. The No 16-ranked Martin's best Grand Slam performance was losing the 1994 Australian Open final to Pete Sampras, who will miss this year's tournament because of fatigue.

Martin, who won this tournament in 1996, has reached the semifinals just four times in 26 Grand Slam appearances but gives himself a chance of featuring prominently in an open field in Melbourne.

"I'm thrilled with the way things have gone this week," Martin said. "I feel this is the best that I've hit the ball in a long time."

MELBOURNE, Jan 16 (Reuters): The world's leading male tennis player has dismissed talk of possible protest action over Petr Korda's positive drug test and will await the outcome of court cases, players and officials said on Saturday.

ATP Tour chief executive officer Mark Miles rejected Australian media speculation about a possible player boycott of the Australian Open, which begins in Melbourne on Monday.

After the three-hour annual players' meeting, which Korda attended without addressing his fellow players, player representative Todd Martin rejected the boycott talk as a media "concoction".

"I'm grim-faced Korda, the Australian Open champion, left the meeting without speaking to the media."

Martin added that the players respected Korda for attending the meeting and that the majority had no problem with the Czech defending his only Grand Slam title.

Martin and Miles both said the players were content to await the outcome of the ITF's appeal against the lenient sen-

Rubin lifts Tasmanian title

HOBART, Australia, Jan 16: American Ghandi Rubin won the Tasmanian International singles tennis title Saturday with a convincing win over seeded Italian Rita Grande, reports AP.

Fifth-seeded Rubin was too consistent for Grande and won the final 6-2, 6-3. The Italian, playing in her first WTA tour final, never got her big serve and forehand going and made far too many mistakes against her more experienced opponent.

Barcelona baseliner Corretja, who is seeded second to the Australian Open starting in Melbourne on Monday, began to fight his way back into the match after Martin won the first set on a single break of serve.

Reacting angrily to a time violation for a delayed service in the first game of the second set, the 24-year-old toughened up his game and appeared to be getting the upper hand as successive games went with serve.

Martin took an early lead in the ensuing tie-break only to double-fault shortly afterwards. But the broke Corretja's serve again on his first championship point to capture a title three years ago.

Martin, the ATP Players Council president, had to time to celebrate the victory, hopping a plane to Melbourne for a meeting which will focus on Petr Korda's positive drug test.

Martin collected 46,000 dollars in prize money while Corretja share was 27,000 dollars.

Players opt to wait and see that point then he will both return his prize money and his points from the tournaments he has played since the test was taken last July and he will take his 12-month, or whatever length, suspension," Martin said.

The International Tennis Federation (ITF) announced in December that the spindly Czech had tested positive for the performance enhancing steroid nandrolone at Wimbledon.

Under ITF rules the offence carries a customary penalty of a one-year ban, but Korda was only stripped of the $92,529 prize money and the ranking points he earned at Wimbledon in a sanction felt by some players to have been too lenient.

The ban was not imposed because, despite finding him guilty of a category one doping offence, an independent ITF Appeals Committee accepted his plea that he had not knowingly taken the drug and believed there were exceptional circumstances.

Korda has maintained he did nothing wrong but has refused to comment on what those exceptional circumstances might be, saying the matter was in the hands of his lawyers.

The ITF said on January 7 it would appeal against the light penalty to the Court of Arbitration for Sport in Lausanne.

But the player could still face further sanctions. "I think most of us do want to know the exceptional circumstances and it's just a matter of convincing the general player body that we need to wait until the end of the appeal system and then we'll know everything that's happened," he said.

After that, Korda would be allowed to play on if his innocence was established, he said.

"I'm not, if he's found guilty at

Fiorentina seek to bounce back

ROME, Jan 16: (Reuters/Internet) Joint league leaders Fiorentina, stunned by a 2-0 defeat at Lazio last week, craved their championship challenge back on the road with a home win against Cagliari on Sunday.

After leading Serie A for most of the season, last week's lapse by Fiorentina allowed Parma, 6-3 winners over Piacenza, to join them at the top of the table.

This weekend Parma look to have the more difficult task with a home match against Lazio.

However, Fiorentina's build up to the Cagliari game has hardly been smooth with team coach Giovanni Trapattoni launching a broadside at the players.

Trapattoni, who has lifted the Serie A title six times as coach with Juventus and Inter Milan and won the German championship with Bayern Munich, criticised his squad for squabbling amongst themselves rather than concentrating on their football.

Serie A matches this weekend (league standings in brackets): Bari (9) v Sampdoria (15) Beaten only once in their last 12 games, Bari drew 1-1 at Juventus last Sunday and could prove too strong for relegation-haunted Sampdoria.

Bari midfielder Mauro Bresnan suspended. Sampdoria missing injured defenders Moreno Mannini and Yugoslav Nenad Sakic. Defender Stefano Nava doubtful.

Bologna (8) v Inter Milan (4) Bologna staged surprise of the week by defeating Juventus 2-1 in the Italian Cup quarter-final first leg in Turin on Wednesday. Defender Massimo Paganini suspended but striker Giuseppe Signori returns.

Inter expected to field three-man attack of Roberto Baggio, Brazilian Ronaldo and Chilean Ivan Zamorano who demolished bottom side Venezia 6-2 on Sunday.

Fiorentina (2) v Cagliari (11) Important test for Fiorentina following a week marked by their 2-0 defeat by Lazio and by an angry outburst from coach Giovanni Trapattoni, critical of dressing room tensions within his squad.

With the exception of suspended sweeper Pasquale Padalino, due to be replaced by Aldo Firicano, Fiorentina at full strength and welcome back midfielders Christian Amoroso and German Jorg Heinrich.

Cagliari, winners of their last two games against Salernitana and AS Roma, at full strength.

Milan warmed up in unusual fashion, travelling to Turin to beat local side Esperanza 2-1 in a midweek friendly.

German midfielder Christian Ziege suspended but troubled week for Salernitana with coach Delio Rossi sacked and then reinstated following an assault on club president Aniello Alberti by outraged fans. The hosts without suspended Vittorio Tosio.

Liberian George Weah returns to partner Brazilian Leonardo and German Oliver Bierhoff in attack.

Perugia may field two players who joined them this week from Inter Milan, namely goalkeeper Andrea Mazzantini and defender Luca Mezzano.

AS Roma (6) v Vicenza (14) Year badly with a home draw to Piacenza and a 4-3 defeat at Cagliari.

Brazilian right back Cafu and Cameroon defender Pierre Wome are both out injured. Striker Francesco Totto doubtful and French left back Vincent Candela suspended.
