

Coach counts on Stoichkov

SOFIA, Feb 8 (Reuters/Internet): Striker Hristo Stoichkov, who turns 33 on Monday, will join on Thursday a training camp of Bulgaria's 19-man squad ahead of a tournament in Hong Kong later this month.

Apart from Stoichkov, who now plays in Japanese Kashima, Bulgaria's coach Dimitar Dimitrov could include only one more foreign-based player - Sporting Lisbon's Ivalio Yordanov. Others were not released by their clubs.

SQUAD

Goalkeepers: Dimitar Ivankov, Georgi Petkov
Defenders: Malin Orachev, Zlatimir Zagoric, Ilian Stoyanov, Valentin Naidenov, Radostin Kishishev, Vladimir Yonkov, Georgi Antonov
Midfielders: Zlatko Yankov, Ivalio Yordanov, Stilyan Petrov, Ilija Grujev, Milen Petkov
Forwards: Georgi Bachev, Hristo Yovov, Georgi Ivanov, Hristo Stoichkov, Ilian Iliev.

Hingis, much more cautious

TOKYO, Feb 8: Swiss teenager Martina Hingis, who officially regains her world number one rank today, said she planned to hold on tightly to the title this time, reports AFP.

"I just hope I can hold it now longer, as long as I play tennis maybe," said Hingis, who regained the top spot she had surrendered to American Lindsay Davenport in October.

The women's tennis is very competitive right now and it's going to be hard to stay up there... but I hope I can hold everything easier and better now, free from mistakes."

Hingis said she had not expected to win back her number one place during the Toray Pan Pacific Open here, saying it was "surprising that Lindsay lost to Amanda Coetzer of South Africa in the quarterfinals."

Davenport failed to defend the one million dollar tournament and her early exit made it easier for Hingis to win back the title she took in 1997.

Hingis had a difficult time beating former world number one Steffi Graf of Germany in the quarterfinals, before her victories against Wimbledon champion Jana Novotna of the Czech Republic and Coetzer.

"When I became number one for the first time, I was almost overwhelmed by the situation," said Hingis.

"I grew up like, you're going to become number one, then one day you win Wimbledon and all of a sudden everything happens. I was just too confident, almost too much."

On March 31 two years ago, Hingis became the youngest player to reach the number one spot at 16 years eight months and one day.

Monica Seles was the previous youngest at 17 years three months and 19 days, seven days younger than Tracy Austin, while Graf held the number one position for a record 186 weeks more than any man or woman.

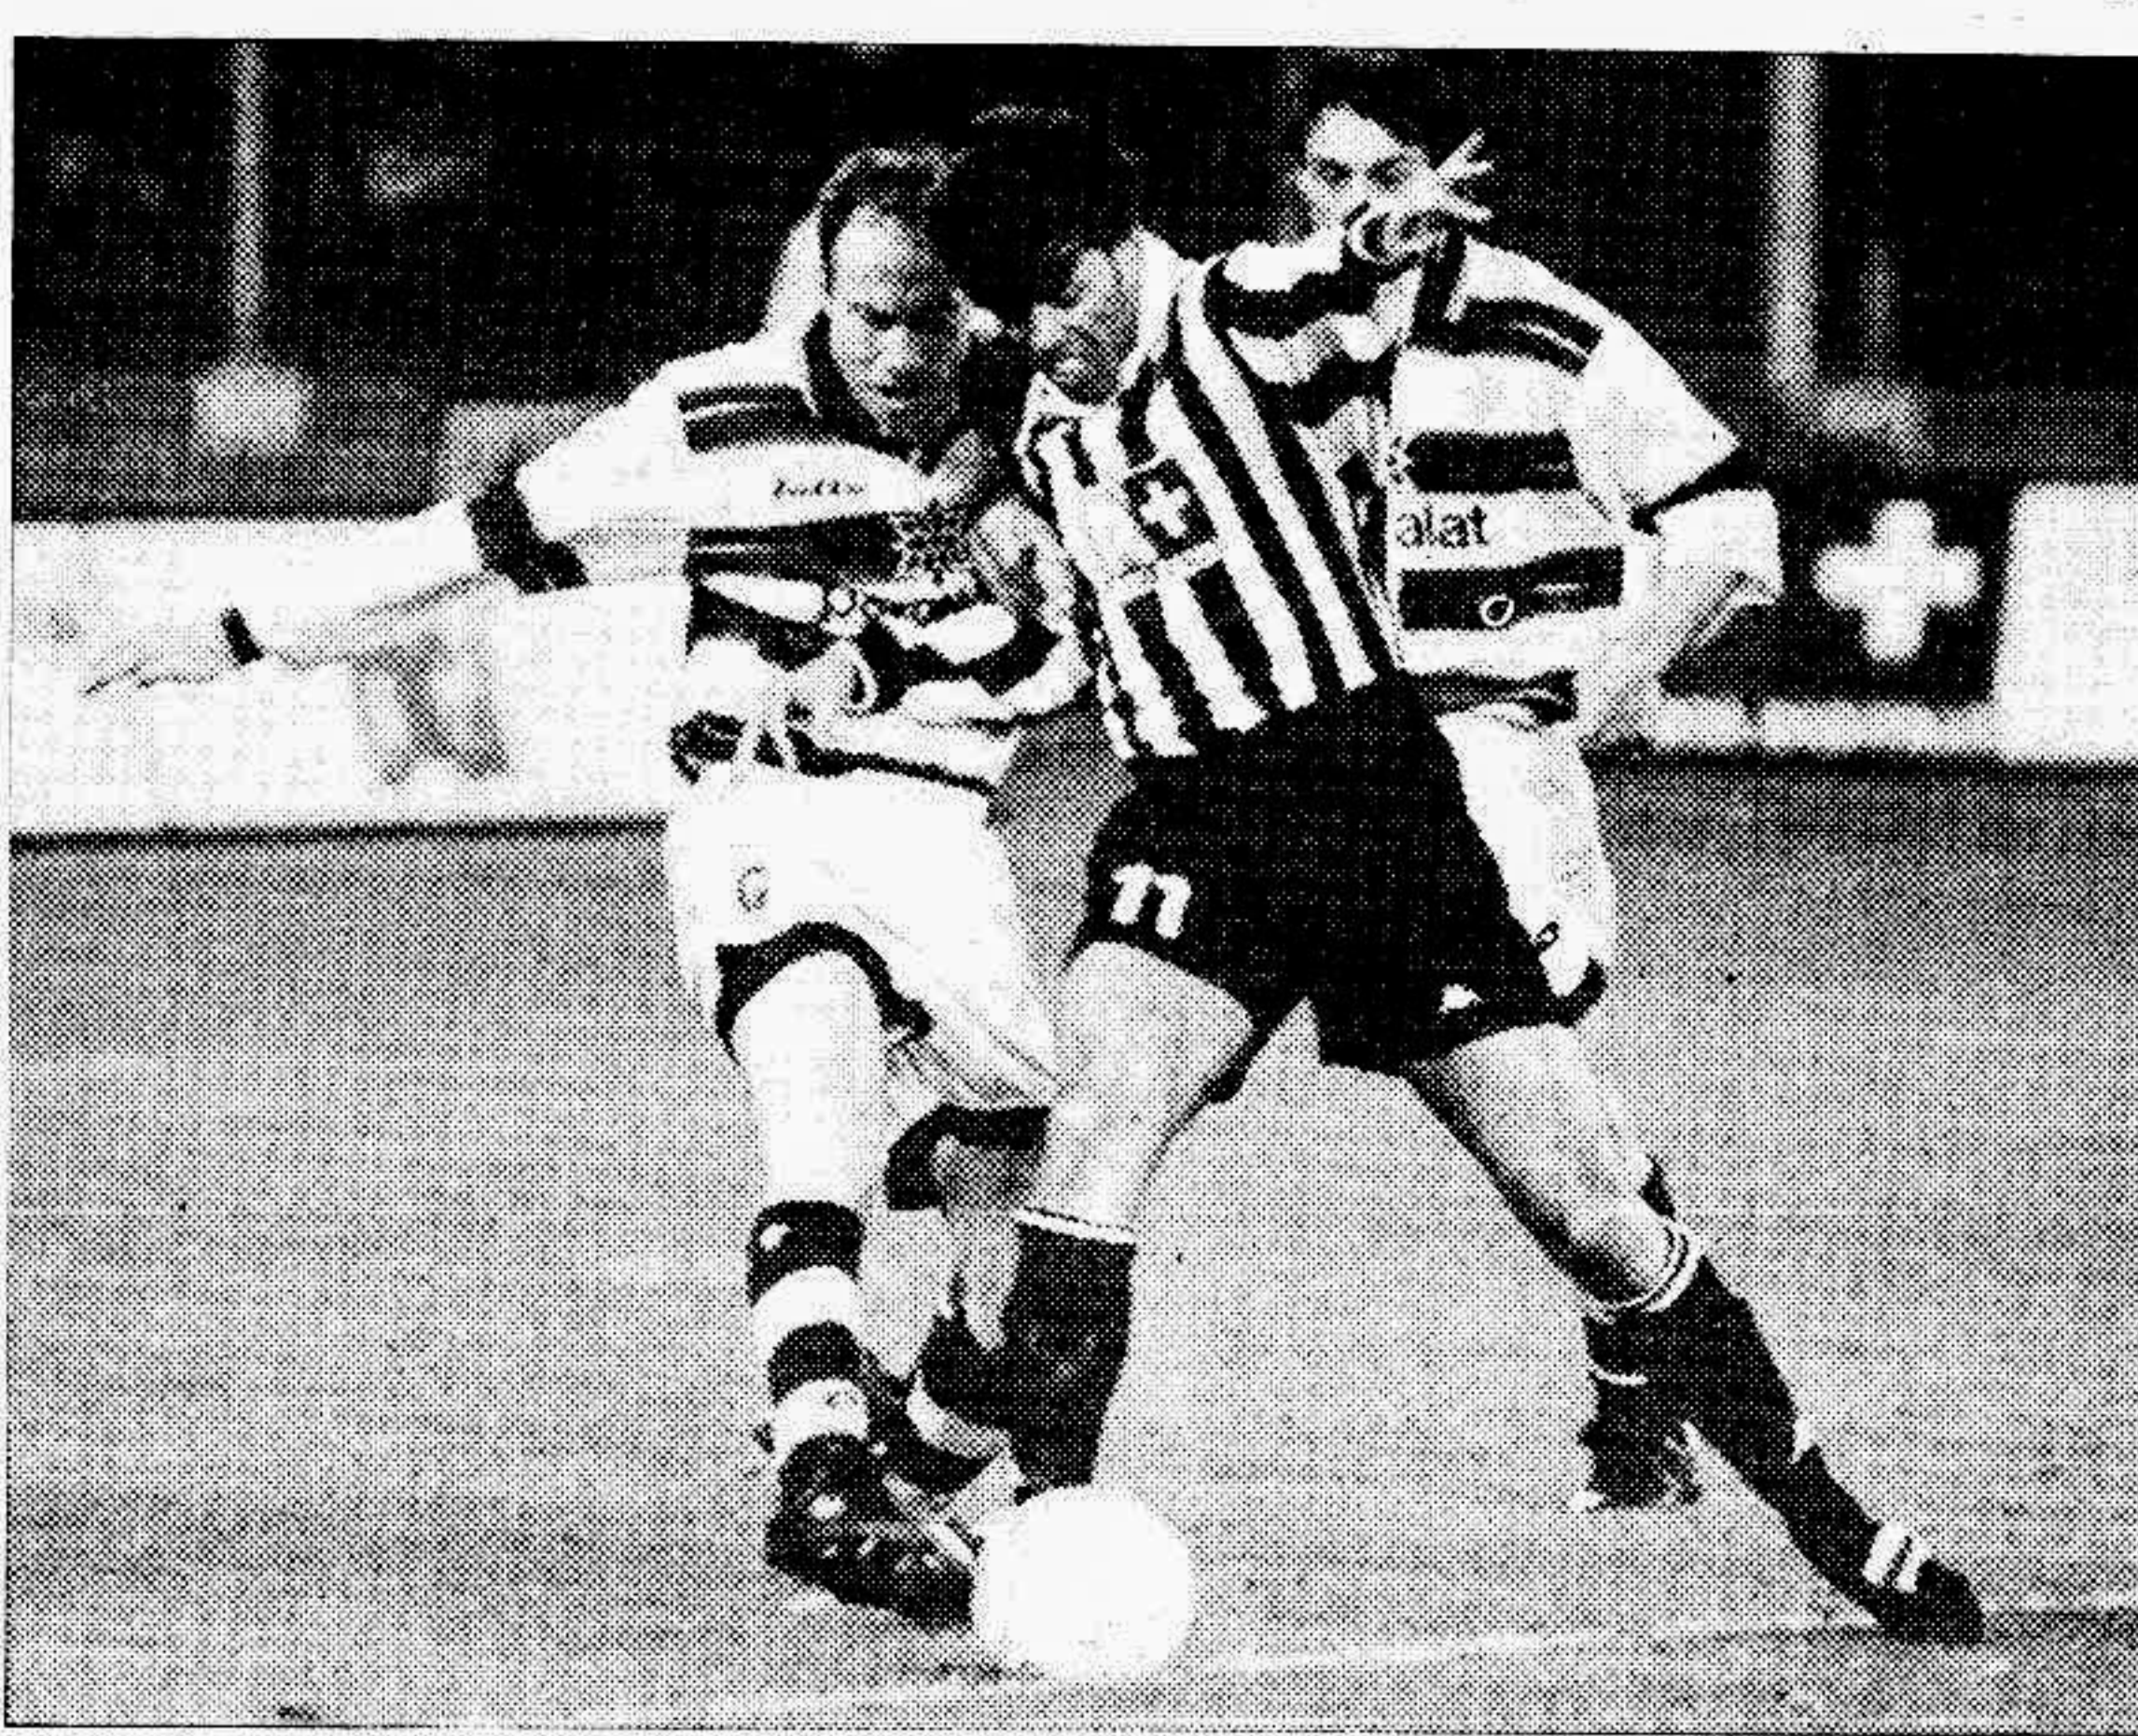

Hingis won the Australian Open, Wimbledon and US Open in 1997, while finishing runner-up to Iva Majoli of Croatia in the French Open. But she managed to win only the Australian Open last season.

"I didn't take it seriously any more and I wouldn't practice that much. I lost my motivation because I reached there at such a young age. I had nothing more to reach," said Hingis now 18.

"But I worked on myself. I lost my weight, I mean I'm in a better shape again. My head thinks again and I tried to work on mistakes."

"When you start losing it's like you're going to lose everything. If you'd like to be a champion again and if you don't want to be beaten, you try to work on yourself again. It not maybe people forget about you."

"I didn't want to have it. That's why I'm back here," added Hingis, the winner last month of a third straight Australian Open.

European soccer scene

LONDON, Feb 8 (Reuters/Internet): Manchester United chalked up a record Premier League away win with an 8-1 thrashing of Nottingham Forest, Barcelona strengthened their lead in Spain but Girondins Bordeaux were knocked off France's top spot by Marseille during the weekend's action in the major European leagues.

ENGLAND: There was an extraordinary game at the City Ground where Manchester United thrashed bottom club Nottingham Forest 8-1.

Dwight Yorke and Andy Cole each scored twice before substitute Ole Gunnar Solskjaer came on for the last 19 minutes and promptly scored four goals in a 12-minute burst.

Chelsea stayed four points behind with a 1-0 win over Southampton while Arsenal moved up to their, a further point back, after thrashing West Ham. Aston Villa dropped to fourth after losing 3-1 at home to Blackburn Rovers.

ITALY: Third-placed AC Milan ended Fiorentina's run of 10 successive home wins with a 0-0 draw but there were worse news for the leaders as Argentina striker Gabriel Batistuta suffered an injury that could keep him out for a month.

Lazio cut Fiorentina's advantage at the top to a single point with a 30 home win over Perugia. It was their ninth straight league victory — a club best and one short of the all-time Serie A record.

Fiorentina remain top with 42 points ahead of Lazio on 41 and Milan on 37, Parma will draw level with Milan if they win at Juventus later on Sunday.

FRANCE: Fabrizio Ravanelli scored twice as Olympique Marseille beat Bastia 3-1 at home to surge back to the top.

Marseille moved two points clear of Girondins Bordeaux held 1-1 at Rennes. Patrick Weiser equalised for the hosts three minutes from time.

Rennes dropped to fifth behind Olympique, Lyon and Nantes.

Lyon came from behind to beat Nancy 2-1 at home while Nantes beat defending champions RC Lens 2-0.

Marseille have 51 points, Bordeaux 49 with Lyon and Nantes on 38 and Rennes on 37. SPAIN: Barcelona and Real Madrid both warmed up for next week's big clash at the Nou Camp with late winning goals on Sunday.

Patrick Kluijver scored eight minutes from time to give Barcelona a 2-1 success at Extremadura — a seventh successive First Division win over the Catalans which took them three points clear on 40 points.

Real Madrid are one of three teams on 37 after Raul Gonzalez completed his hat-trick in the 90th minute to clinch a 3-2 home win over Valladolid.

Celta Vigo, 4-1 winners over Villarreal and Valencia, who drew 0-0 at home to Deportivo Coruna, have 37 each but Mallorca are losing touch on 35 after going down 1-0 at Espanyol.

THE NETHERLANDS: The Dutch league spluttered back into life after its winter break but Heerenveen were the only side in the top six to play — and they lost 3-2 at Willem II Tilburg.

Leaders Feyenoord had their game at Cambuur Leeuwarden postponed due to an unfit pitch while Ajax Amsterdam, Vitesse Arnhem, Roda JC Kerkrade and PSV Eindhoven were all without fixtures.

Perugia coach steps down

PERUGIA, Italy, Feb 8 (Reuters/Internet): Ilario Castagner resigned as coach of Italian Serie A side Perugia on Monday, saying he was fed up with club president Luciano Gaucci's interference.

In a resignation letter sent to news agency ANSA, Castagner accused Gaucci of creating "tensions and negative repercussions" inside the Perugia camp.

He said his decision was irreversible. Castagner guided Perugia to promotion from Serie B last season.

The club made a solid start to the current campaign but have slipped down the table since the start of the year after losing to Udinese, AC Milan and Juventus.

A 3-0 defeat by Lazio on Sunday left them 13th in the table, three points clear of the relegation zone.

Kaiser shocked

BONN, Feb 8 (Reuters/Internet): Franz Beckenbauer slammed Germany after their shock 3-0 defeat by the United States on Saturday.

"The national team is made up of average players, journey-men even," he said.

"For the first time since 1954 we have a generation problem," he added in reference to the ageing squad and recent unsuccessful efforts to inject young blood.

"If you can't play football in the first place, it has nothing to do with tactics," said the man who captained Germany to World Cup victory in 1974 and coached his country to further success in 1990.

Current national coach Erich Ribbeck, who has won only one of four matches in charge, described the result of the Jacksonville, Florida, friendly as "a major setback."

Former Germany international Guenter Netzer said the poor performance could have serious repercussions for international football in the country.

"This allows the media to put the whole existence of the national team into question. The damage is almost irreparable."

Bayer Leverkusen manager Reiner Calmund said: "If Michael Schumacher performed with such a lack of concentration every time he moved from one continent to another, then he would have been dead long ago."

Nike clarifies

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb 8: A Nike official Sunday defended a 10-year sponsorship deal with soccer giants Brazil after the contract was criticised as giving the sportswear firm too much sway over the national team, reports AP.

Brazil's media last week revealed the contract allows Nike to pick at least three of Brazil's opponents in friendly games each year.

Nike had wanted a "return" for paying 500,000 dollars to organize and promote each friendly, said Cesar Nieuwenhuizen, the company's sports marketing director in Brazil, in an interview with Sunday's Folha de Sao Paulo daily.

He said each opponent had to be submitted for approval by Brazil, adding that Nike has this year picked the Spanish club team Barcelona, South Korea, Japan and Australia.

Nieuwenhuizen, who said the deal with Nike expires in 2006, was worth 160 million dollars, said Brazil had to bring eight first team players to the friendlies.

"That's to avoid Brazil's soccer federation getting together a street team and passing it off as a national team," Nieuwenhuizen was quoted as saying.

During the 1998 World Cup, some Brazilian soccer players accused Nike of interfering with the team's training programme, and it was even rumored the firm ordered Ronaldo to play in the final after he had a hotel-room fit. Nike resolutely denied the claims.

Romario back on song

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb 8 (Reuters/Internet): Former international Romario returned to form with two goals in Brazil at the weekend while ex-national team boss Mario Zagallo celebrated another win in charge of Portuguesa.

Champions Universitario struggled to a 2-1 win on the opening day of the Peruvian championship and Bolivian champions Blooming began the defence of their crown with a 3-1 defeat.

Romario scored two stunning goals for Flamengo while former national team coach Mario Zagallo maintained his 100 per cent record at Portuguesa.

Romario, who celebrated his 33rd birthday last month, has been accused of devoting more time to his new bar and nightclub this year than to his football but was back to his best in the 3-0 win at Corinthians in the Rio-Sao Paulo tournament.

His first strike came after he slipped past two players and chipped the ball over the advancing goalkeeper. He scored his second after slipping the ball between an opponent's legs and dribbling around the goalkeeper.

Brazilian champions Corinthians, who have lost all four games, were eliminated to the cries of "mercenaries" from their own fans while Flamengo were left fighting Botafogo for the second qualifying spot in group two.

Both have seven points after Botafogo overcame already qualified Sao Paulo 2-1, their first defeat under former Paraguay coach Paulo Cesar Carpegiani.

In group one, Vasco came from behind to beat Santos 3-2, while Palmeiras beat Fluminense 2-1 with a last-minute goal. Santos are already through. Any one of the other three clubs could take the second.

and semifinal spot in the group. In the Paulista (Sao Paulo state) championship Portuguesa won 3-0 away to Internacional Limeira, their fifth successive win since veteran Zagallo took over.

They top group one in the first stage of the contest where Champions Universitario struggled to a 2-1 home win over unfancied Union Minas on the first day of the season while local rivals Alanzia began in style by thrashing newly-promoted Talara 5-0. Sporting Cristal, the other major club, won 2-1 at home to Aurich.

The Peruvian championship is divided into two stages with the winners meeting in the final at the end of the year.

In Bolivia, newly-promoted Union Central, who come from Tarija in the heart of Bolivia's wine-producing region, began the championship with a 3-0 win over Destroyers.

Defending champions Blooming crashed to a 3-1 defeat against 1997 champions Bolivar, who appeared to be back to their best after last season was disrupted by players' strikes. The day's most dramatic game saw Oriente Petrolero score twice in the last five minutes to force a 2-2 draw with The Strongest.

As in Peru, the championship is divided into two with a final at the end of the year. In El Salvador, Fas went top, leapfrogging Luis Angel Firpo by beating them 1-0 with a goal by Honduran Miguel Mariano in a top-of-the-table match.

While in Costa Rica, Saprissa lead the Clausura, the second stage of the championship, after six games following a 2-2 draw at home to Perez Zeledon. They are two points clear of Limonense and Puntarenas.

In Mexico, Jose Abundis took his tally to seven goals in five games by scoring twice as Toluca, the in-form team in the Verano (Summer) championship, won 3-0 away to Pachuca to stay top of group four after five games.

Mexican international Cuauhtemoc Blanco also scored two in America's 4-3 win over UNL, a result which kept the country's richest club on top of group two. Ricardo Pelaez was another to hit two goals in Guadalajara's 2-1 win over UNAM.

German soccer is in decay, reports AP.

Cruz Azul lead group one from Guadalajara despite losing their unbeaten record in a 2-0 defeat by UAG while Necaxa, who were the Invierno (Winter) championship lead group three despite going down 1-0 at home to Morelia.

The 18 teams play each other once but are divided into four groups with eight sides going into the quarter-finals. The Verano is the second of the two competitions held in the season.

In Peru Defending champions Universitario struggled to a 2-1 home win over unfancied Union Minas on the first day of the season while local rivals Alanzia began in style by thrashing newly-promoted Talara 5-0. Sporting Cristal, the other major club, won 2-1 at home to Aurich.

Germany's pride at stake

MIAMI, Feb 8: While the aftershocks from Germany's loss to the United States reverberate across Europe, players and coaches here are rejecting any idea that

German soccer is in decay, reports AP.

They'd be wise to prove it Tuesday when they complete their two-game US tour against Colombia at the Orange Bowl.

Is there a crisis in German football? No, there is no crisis here are rejecting any idea that but (the loss) was a shock," German midfielder Andreas Moller said after Saturday's loss.

After a disappointing performance in the 1998 World Cup, Germany have tinkered with their lineup. But Saturday's 3-0 defeat in Jacksonville was tough for the three-time world champion to absorb.

It was their first loss in four meetings against the United States, coming only eight months after a decisive 2-0 win when they last met at the World Cup.

In Jacksonville, Germany rarely attacked, generating only eight shots on US goalkeeper Tony Meola. And once the US blitzed to a 2-0 lead in the first 24 minutes, Germany looked finished.

"After the 2-nil score, the game was more or less decided," acknowledged coach Erich Ribbeck, who replaced Berti Vogts after the World Cup. "Nervousness spread through the team. Rather than helping each other, the nervousness became contagious."

The reaction back home was harsh.

"We must look ahead to Colombia and expect to put out a better performance for ourselves and for the people who are following this team," Moller said. "We just have to do better."

Colombia also will use Tuesday's match to determine their future amidst South American powers Brazil and Argentina. Like Germany, Colombia fizzled in the World Cup, failing to advance past the first round.

Missing from Tuesday's lineup will be longtime fixtures — midfield playmaker Carlos Valderrama and forward Freddy Rincon.

Colombia also will be playing their first match since last month's earthquake in the Colombian city of Armenia. Proceeds from Tuesday's match will benefit earthquake victims.
