Interview competition on the War of Liberation
 With a view to creating awareness among teenagers about our glorious War of Liberation, the Teenage Awareness Group (TAG), in collaboration with The Daily Star, is organising an innovative contest. Interested teenagers, of 12-15 and 16-19 age groups, are invited to send in interviews of people, who have, directly or indirectly, participated in the war. We are looking for not only the heroic deeds of the freedom fighters alone, but also the small acts of those people, who gave shelter to them, provided them with food and medicine, and raised funds for them. A panel of judges comprising eminent scholars of the country will adjudge the best three interviews from each age group for publication in The Daily Star. There will be exciting prizes for the winners. The interview must not exceed 1,000 words. Last date of entry is March 23, 1999. Send your entries along with your name and date of birth, class and name of institution, mailing address and telephone number, and e-mail address, if you have one, to: Teenage Awareness Group c/o The Daily Star House # 11, Road # 3 Dhanmondi R/A, Dhaka 1205 or, e-mail at TeenageAwareness@hotmail.com Join us in our effort to imbue teenagers with the spirit of the War of Liberation

Seminar on good governance March 19-24
 Parliamentarians from five South Asian countries — Bangladesh, India, Nepal, Pakistan and Sri Lanka — will be in the city to participate in a five-day seminar on good governance from March 19-24, reports APB. The seminar is co-sponsored by Transparency International, the Parliament Centre and the World Bank's training arm, the World Bank Institute (formerly known as the Economic Development Institute). It is designed to help raise awareness among South Asian Members of Parliament (MPs) on the importance of the government's accountability to financial and legal matters and promoting principles of openness, participation, and transparency.
