

cinema Film Appreciation Course Begins with a Bang

by Fayza Haq

A film appreciation course at the Bisha Shahitya Kendra began yesterday. This is the Kendra's second attempt in this line with 60 students.

Tanvir Mokammel, the course director, explains, "The idea is that since we have no film institute in Bangladesh there is no avenue for studying films in an institutionalised way. That is why we have begun this."

"We will be teaching film terminology, film history, cinematography, editing, film aesthetics, use of sound, background music, film language, art direction, composition, script writing, film direction, acting, documentary, videography and film criticism for six weeks. At the end an examination will be held and the successful candidates will be given certificates.

The teachers are Mustafa Manwar, Tanvir Mokammel, Maqsudul Bari, Saidul Anam Tutul, Syed Salauddin Zaki, Manzare Hasen, Tariq Masood and others.

"There will be screening of more than 30 classic films followed by discussions. Films like 'Cabinet of Dr. Caligari', 'Metropolis', 'The Battle Ship Potemkin', 'Bicycle Thieves', 'Pother Panchali', 'Seventh Seal', 'My Darling Clementine', 'The Sound of Music', 'Breathless Rules of the Game', 'Rashomon', and 'Hamlet' will be shown."

Tanvir adds, "Film societies always help film appreciation courses in Bangladesh such as Bangladesh Film Society in which professor Shatish Bahadur, a teacher from Poona Film Institute came and conducted a course in '73. This was an immense success and one of the outcomes was that after the course Moshuiddin Sharkey and Sheikh Niamet Ali felt inspired to make 'Surya Dighal Bari', which is perhaps the best film made so far in this line. After that a remarkable course was conducted by late Alamgir Kabir in the Film Archives. Besides that one came name the course conducted by Ritwik Film Society. Some other film societies like Chalchitram and Rainbow Film societies also occasionally conduct film appreciation courses.

"However, the one at Bisho Shahitya Kendra is unique because it is very well thought out and well executed going by last year's experience. The reason for this success is the infrastructure of the Bisho Shahitya Kendra, which is very functional with its own auditorium, projection facilities and which is a place where young people feel at home. There is also the dynamic leadership in the shape of Abdullah Abu Sayeed to incorporate cinema in the programmes of the Kendra. The payment for the students is only Tk 1000, while the teachers get next to nothing for their remuneration. At times there will be visiting teachers from overseas, like the one from Australia today.

"A book is given as course material to the students. It includes works by writers like Satyajit Ray, Ritwik Ghotok, Gasto Roberge, Tanvir Mokammel and others.

"What is the use of the course - can you make films after this?"

No, but you learn appreciation. The films will be shown

Course director Tanvir Mokammel

on videos so that the pleasure will not be complete. The purpose of the course is to arouse curiosity and interest in the minds of the participants."

Abdullah Abu Sayeed, speaking at the inaugural function at the Bisho Shahitya Kendra, added, "With appreciation comes the sense of joy. It is a pity that facilities are limited to enjoy cultural progress - even the distribution of library books is sometimes discouraged by backward headmasters in the villages. In the search of 'Aokito Manush' the percentage of ignorance in us will be reduced.

"Even if we were able to produce hundreds of film-makers, will our society be able to contain them? Our funds are limited but not our dreams or affections."

festival New Beginnings

By Nadine Murshid

It was that time of the year again: the time for hoping for the best, the time for looking ahead, the time for letting bygones be bygones. Pahela Baishakh the first day of the Bengali New Year was celebrated with ebullience and gaiety in and around Dhaka City. The most remarkable part of the day was the 'rally' by the students of the Institute of Fine Arts. After days of perseverance and hard work, they completed the making of the masks and paper animals just in time for the celebrations. It was, like every year, the most colourful event of the day, which attracted the general people in huge groups.

As people pushed each other to make their ways to the front, the students of the Art College paraded through the university area starting from Shahbag to Fuller Road to Azimpur singing at the top of their lungs. Esho he Baishakh Esho Esho. It's a wonder that they didn't get heat strokes... and their energy can hardly be matched. Adorned with colourful faces of monkeys and lions and huge birds and crocodiles, it was something to remember.

Back in college premises in Shahbag, a couple of students were seen beating drums and singing everything from Shadher lau banailo morey to Kando kaney mon. As they sang and danced, others joined in to celebrate the first day of the year. There was a sense of liveliness in the air, a sense of happiness and a sense of blissfulness amidst the excruciating heat and humidity. Kudos to all those people who sweated over the preparations and made the beginning a memorable one, not only for themselves, but for everyone who were there (and we all know, there were many!) The best thing about it all was that everyone took pride in being a Bengali, took pleasure in celebrating their own identity. Perhaps many wore traditional outfits just for that day, maybe many didn't even know why the day was being celebrated, but everyone participated, everyone took time to at least think for a moment about their cultural heritage, and many swarmed the streets to celebrate the beginning of the new year. And that is what counts.

Welcoming the Bengali new year the Fine Arts Institute style

Abdullah Abu Sayeed speaking at the inauguration of Film Appreciation Course organised by Biswa Shahitya Kendra.
