'Strong dollar is in US interest'

LANGKAWI, Malaysia, May 16: A strong dollar is in the United State's national interest, US Treasury Secretary-designate Lawrence Summers said

Sunday, reports AP. Secretary Rubin and I have seen this the same way for many years," he said. "A strong dollar is very much in America's national interest."

This is the first time Summers has commented on the dollar since he has been nominated for the post of Treasury Secretary. Last week, Treasury Secretary Robert Rubin submitted his resignation.

Summers made his remarks following a weekend gathering of Asia-Pacific finance ministers at this resort island off of northern Malaysia.

Gulf Air to take Airbus A330-200 delivery

Gulf Air is set to take delivery of its first Airbus A330-200 aircraft in June.

The airline has placed firm orders for six A330-200 aircraft with options for six more aircraft, says a press release.

Delivery of the four is expected this year, with the other two joining the fleet by year

Gulf Air has invested about US $550 million in the purchase of six Airbus A330 aircraft, financed by Credit Agricole Indo-Suez.

The investment reflects the commitment of the airline to constantly replenish its fleet, provide better quality products and higher standards of service to its customers.

Dr Shaikh Ahmed bin Saif Al Nehyan, President and Chief Executive of the airline, described the arrival of the first Airbus A330-200 as an important event for the company. While Gulf Air was among the first air carriers in the Middle East to operate Airbus aircraft, A330-200 represents the most efficient in its class, he added.

The new aircraft has under-

BFFEA urges govt to set up more hatcheries

KHULNA, May 16: The Bangladesh Frozen Foods Exporters' Association (BFFEA) has urged the government to set up more hatcheries in the country to produce shrimp fries, says APB.

The annual requirement of fries is about 400 crore but only 25 crore is produced in 18 hatcheries in Cox's Bazar district and another 100 crore collected from the shoreline, leaders of the association told a press conference here recently.

The country now earns around Tk 1500 crore a year by exporting 25.000 tonnes of shrimp. The production can be increased substantially if more fries can be supplied, they said.

Hatcheries can also be set up in the private sector if the government gives loan, they said.

Shrimp production can be increased to 500-700 kg per hectare from 250 kg now by using modern technology if the government provides support, they said.

Ferdaus Alam Farazi, vicepresident of the association, M A Salam, Abdul Khaleque and Atiar Rahman spoke at the press conference.

And Asia is likely to get a bigger push in that direction with the naming last week of Lawrence Summers to the post of US Treasury Secretary, following Robert Rubin's resigna-

Asian stock markets initially fell on Rubin's move but later shrugged off the losses, feeling that Summers would continue Rubin's policies.

Summers' accession increases the likelihood that the International Monetary Fund and the United States "will step up pressure on governments to increase structural reform of the banks and corporates," analyst Desmond Supple of Barclays Capital said.

"Under the latter scenario, growth would slow further over the short-term as structural reform is a process that is initially contractionary - as capacity shutdown increases unemployment — and deflationary," he said. An easier monetary policy.

which means significantly weaker exchange rates, "will play a crucial role in supporting regional economies during this initial downturn," he added.

Asia makes slow progress on biting bankruptcies

MANILA, May 16: Asian countries are making slow progress clearing the wreckage of a two-year financial crisis with weak or untested bankruptcy laws running into cultural barriers and other hurdles, analysts said, reports also seen in the picture.

Amid early stirrings of an economic recovery, about 200 billion dollars in non-performing loans (NPLs) weigh on the books of South Korean. Thai and Indonesian banks - and some analysts say much of that

But he warned there was still a "huge amount" of work to be done.

The Manila-based Asian Development Bank puts the region's NPL ratio as of end-1998 at between 20-30 per cent. This represents "an equivalent share of output, as financial leverage in Asian economies remained at about 100 per cent of GDP (gross domestic product)," it said in a report. An excessive amount of bad loans makes banks more con-

Thousands of Asian firms have filed for debt relief since 1997. But prior to the reforms creditors invariably had a hard time going after corporate deadbeats, as governments first had to weigh the social and political impact before allowing a company to be liquidated.

And now there are mounting fears booming regional stock markets could be used by regulators and policy makers as a pretext to drag their feet on financial sector restructuring. IMF Asia chief Hubert Neiss has warned that unless the stock market frenzy is accompanied by banking reforms and corporate sector restructuring,

"there could be a change in sentiment." To a lesser degree the dilemma is also apparent in Malaysia, and in the Philippines where the World bank is leading calls for bankruptcy law reforms.

Seoul has won the most praise after swiftly passing a new bankruptcy law in February 1998 that took on the "bigger is better" culture of its highly leveraged chaebols.

"Under the new liquidation law, the decision whether to give an insolvent firm a lifeline or not will be made purely on its economic viability," said Sung Chang-Hoon, deputy director of the finance and economy ministry, bankruptcy cases in Jakarta. "No bankruptcy laws in the world were formulated in only two weeks. The drafters are foreign consultants with the IMF who don't know anything about Indonesia. Many things are unclear." Indonesia's 74 "Group A" banks hold non-performing loans worth 9.3 billion dollars including 3.5 billion dollars which had gone bad, said Bank of Indonesia director Subarjo Joyosumarto. Thailand, the birthplace of the currency crisis, was only able to pass new bankruptcy and foreclosure laws two months ago amid widespread opposition. Sivaporn Daradananda, corporate debt restructuring committee chief of the Thai central bank, said last week that while the new regime should help bring down the 73 billiondollars NPL level of Thai banks, a portion "can't be restructured.
