Cairns proves a point

CARDIFF, May 21 (AFP/Reuters): Revenge comes no sweeter.

Beating Australia is usually enough for a New Zealander. But Chris Cairns had the added satisfaction, at Cardiff on Thursday, of proving his many critics wrong.

And if New Zealand continue to prosper in the World Cup, their success is likely to be inextricably entwined with the form of the all-rounder.

Only last year, former New Zealand coach Glenn Turner branded him both undisciplined and prone to uncontrollable rages. Others said he was an underachiever who could not cope with pressure.

The 28-year-old's match-winning performances always seemed to come in low-key games, with little at stake.

At Sophia Gardens, everything was at stake and Cairns, struggling as a bowler, delivered as a batsman.

After conceding more than six an over in a wicketless seven-over spell during Australia's 213 for nine, he found himself striding to the crease with New Zealand staring defeat at 49 for four.

What followed was not a slog, but controlled aggression as Cairns, son of former Test star Lance, played the perfect foil to Roger Twose's pushing and nudging.

When the pressure grew, Cairns stepped out of his ground to smash Shane Warne and Glenn McGrath back over their heads. In all, he hit five fours and three sixes.

"Chris Cairns is a talented player and he played well today," said Australian captain Steve Waugh after the match. "Not everybody is capable of hitting the ball as he did."

Cairns and Twose put on 148 to seal a five-wicket win with almost five overs to spare, all but guaranteeing New Zealand a second-round spot.

It also helped dull the bitter memory of defeat to the Australians in the 1996 World Cup, when New Zealand had posted 286 for nine at Madras, courtesy of Chris Harris' 130, only to see Mark Waugh respond with a winning century.

Today he is on the brink of reaching 100 one-day wickets and 2,500 one-day runs, a double target he would love to reach during the World Cup.

Monday's other unsung hero was pace bowler Geoff Allott.

The left-arm strike bowler finished with four for 37 after producing two fine spells. In the first he trapped Mark Waugh leg before, then had pinch-hitter Adam Gilchrist caught off a late cut that flew to second slip to make it 32 for two.

When he returned, he removed Michael Bevan, regarded as the best batting finisher in the world, with a ball that moved back and scattered the stumps.

Warne's wicket was the icing on the cake for a bowler many regard as too attacking and too short on control to excel at the one-day game.

New Zealand, who earlier beat Bangladesh without breaking sweat, have confirmed they are the tournament's dangerous dark horses.

Their next Group B fixture sees them play West Indies on Monday, followed by games against Pakistan and Scotland.

No one will underestimate them now, even if New Zealand wished they would. As Twose said after his innings: "We want to underestimate and over-achieve."

Lucrative US Open prize money

WHITE PLAINS, May 21: Prize money at the US Open tennis championships will be boosted to a record 14.5 million dollars, the United States Tennis Association announced on Thursday, reports Reuters.

The figure includes about 1 million dollar to be awarded during the US Open qualifying tournament.

The Open continues to be the only Grand Slam tournament to give equal prize money to both the men and women, a tradition that began in 1973.

Men's and women's singles champions will each earn 750,000 dollar at this year's tournament, which starts August 30, while the singles runners-up will collect 420,000 dollar. Last year, the champions received 700,000 dollar and runners-up took 400,000 dollar.

World Team Cup Sweden move into final

DUSSELDORF, May 21: Sweden will face either Australia or the United States in the final of the World Team Cup on Saturday after beating Great Britain 3-0 to head their group in the round-robin competition, reports AFP.

Makeshift Brazilians

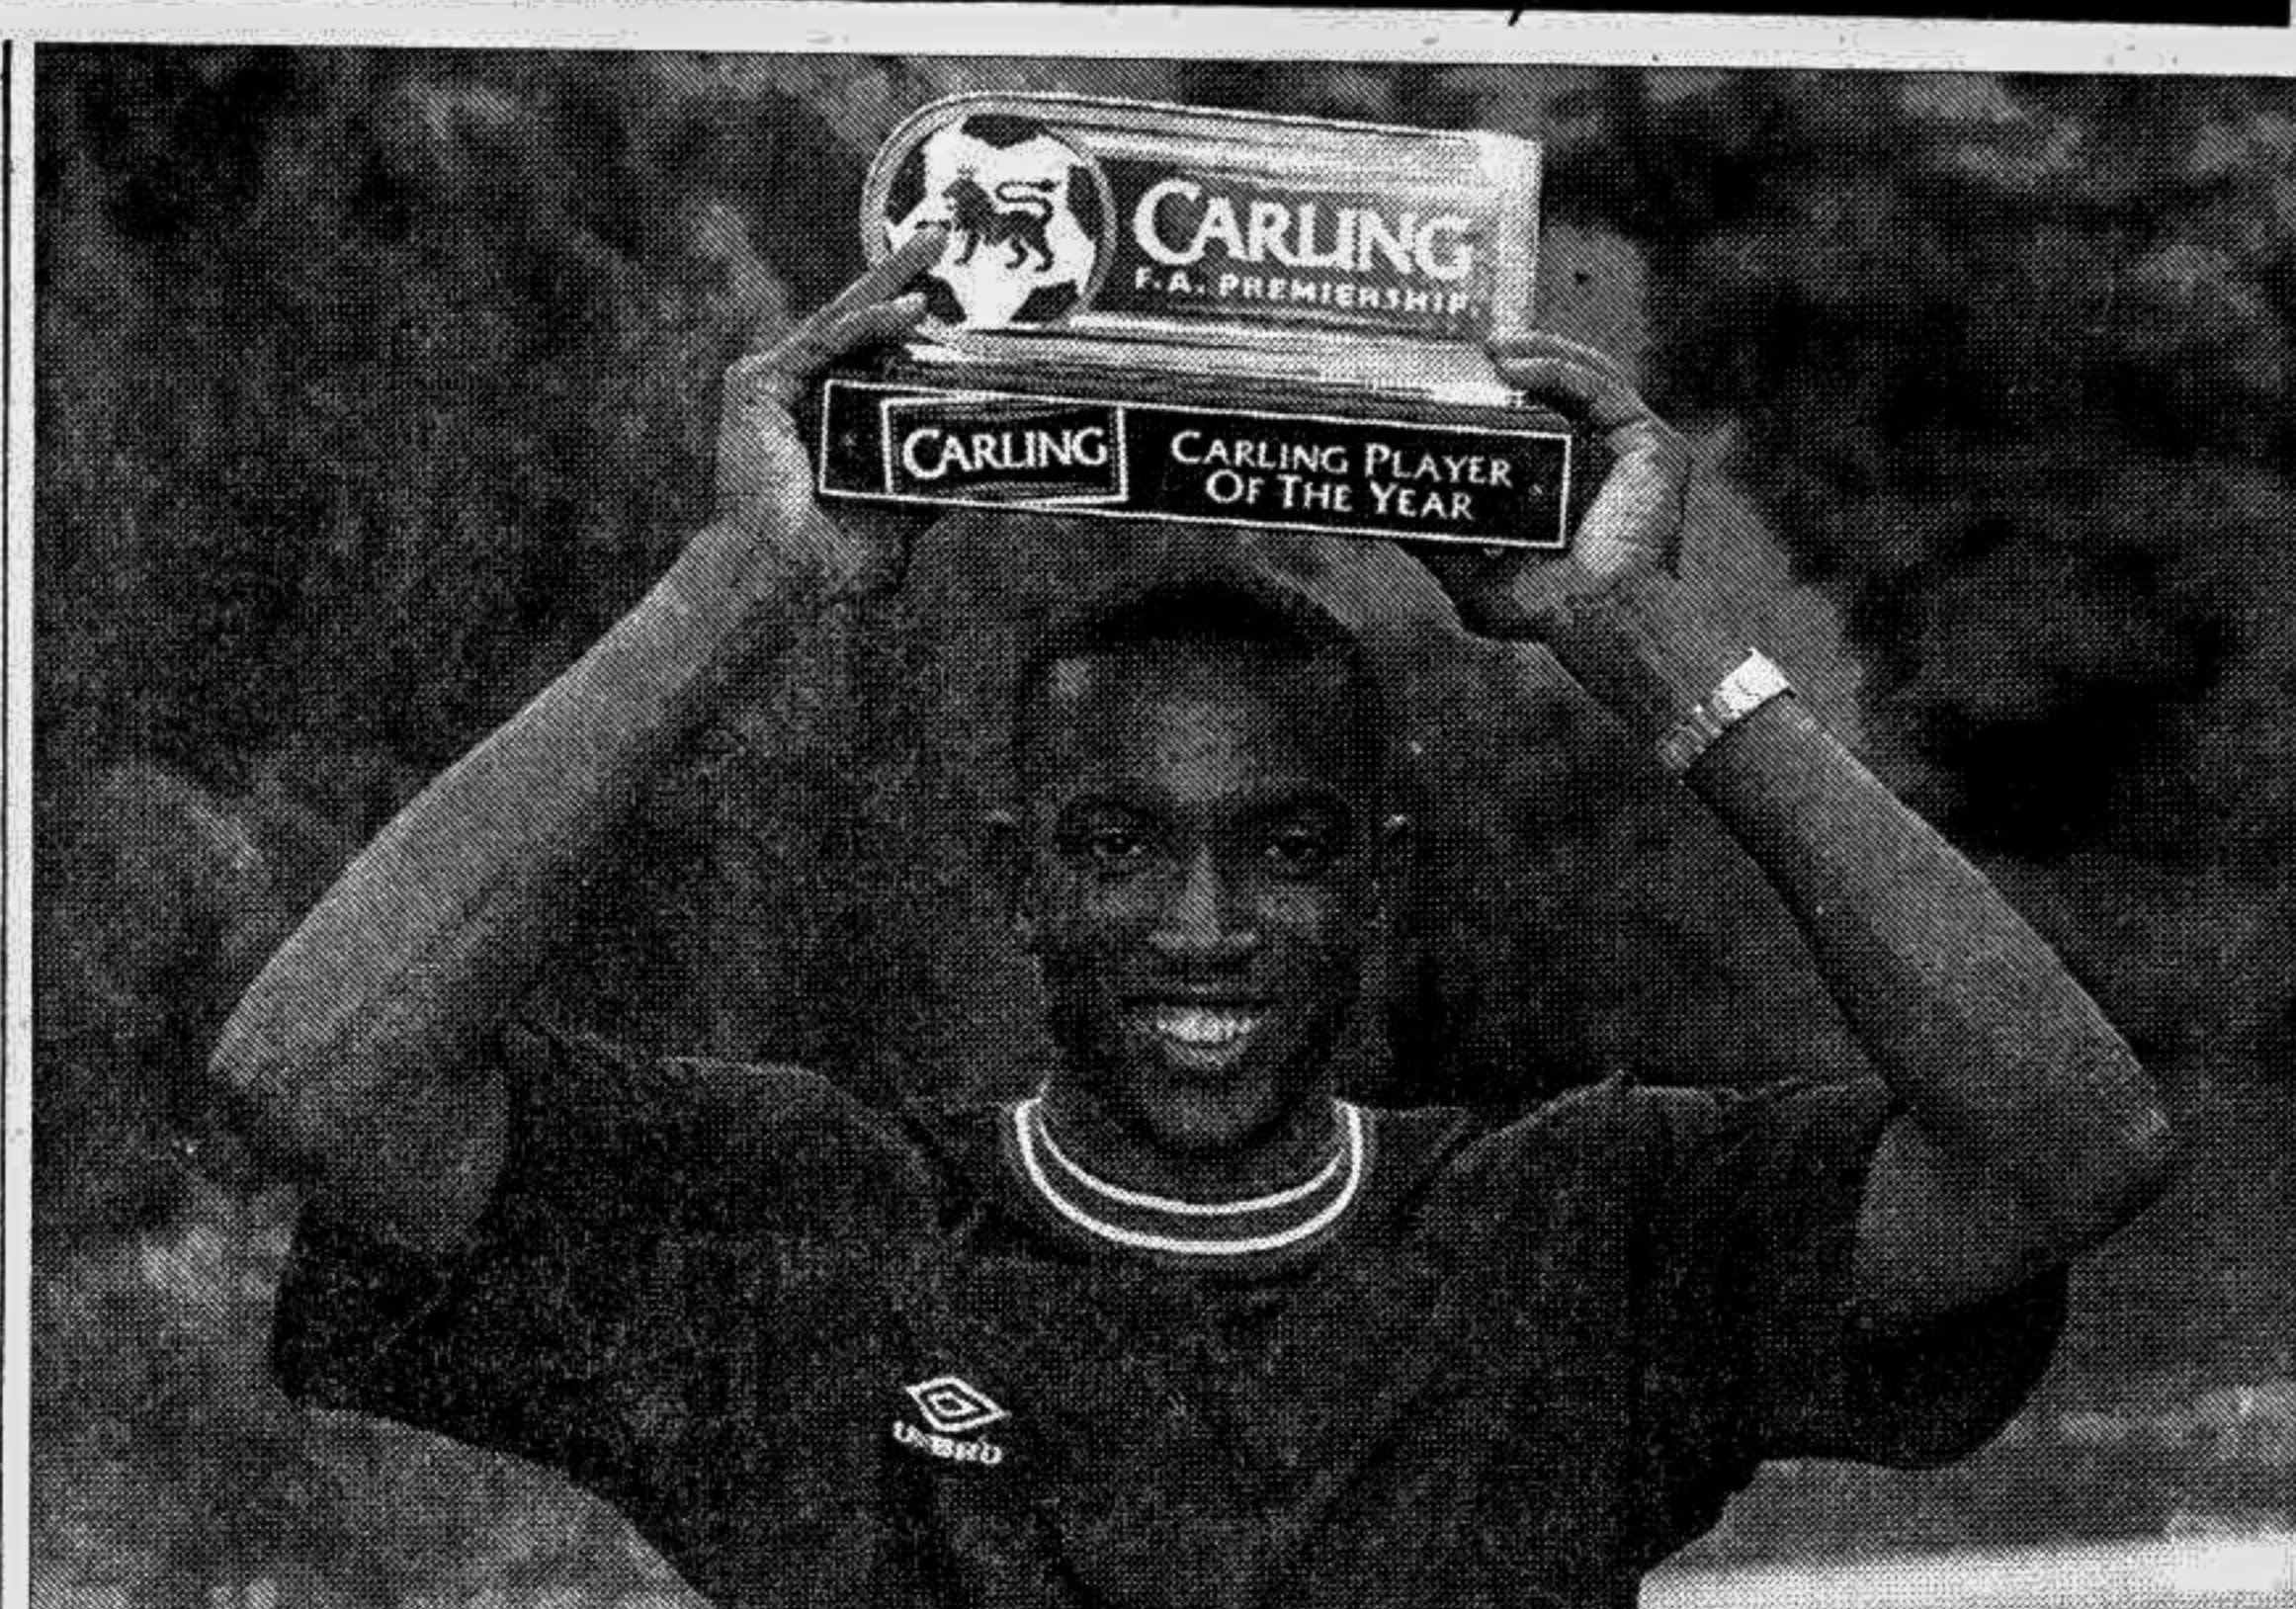

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 21: Brazil coach Wanderley Luxemburgo has picked a makeshift squad to face the Netherlands next month, blaming fixture congestion for depriving him of key players and pleading for a more rational domestic calendar, reports Reuters.

Forwards: Amoroso (Udinese), Sonny Anderson (Barcelona), Ronaldo (Inter Milan), Denilson (Real Betis).

Dwight Yorke, Manchester United's Trinidadian international striker, holds aloft the Carling Player-of-the-Year trophy on May 21.

Uniteds set for final clash

LONDON, May 21 (Reuters/Internet): Manchester United will complete their third Cup and League double of the Nineties and stay on course to complete an historic treble if they go as far as to form against Newcastle United in the FA Cup final on Saturday.

Manchester United have not lost for 31 matches, won the league title last week and not only have current form but also history on their side as they face a Newcastle side that appears to have forgotten how to win.

Newcastle's last victory came against Tottenham Hotspur in the FA Cup semifinal on April 11 and their league season ended with a depressing run of defeats and draws and just four points from their last six matches.

Newcastle manager Ruud Gullit put Newcastle's current situation into perspective when he said this week: "In the last couple of weeks my players have been saving themselves, so now I ask that on Saturday they go like rockets against Manchester United because otherwise I don't know what they have been saving themselves for."

United manager Alex Ferguson has no such problems — if anything he needs to guard his players against complacency following their title triumph and the chance of victories in both the FA Cup final and the European Cup final against Bayern Munich in Barcelona next Wednesday.

Newcastle's main inspiration is their desire to wipe away the memory of their dismal showing in last year's Cup Final when they played poorly and lost 2-0 to Arsenal.

Alan Shearer, who has scored five goals in Newcastle's advance to Wembley including both the extra-time strikes that gave them a 2-0 win over Tottenham in the semifinal, believes that current form will count for nothing once the match starts.

"The Cup Final is a one-off match and anything can happen as the shock results down the years have shown. We are confident that we can match United all the way and we are desperate to win and give our fans something to cheer," he said.

European football scene

PARIS, May 21: AC Milan will find themselves in the same shoes as Manchester United on Sunday, while Lazio risk the same fate as Arsenal, as the Serie A faces its moment of truth, reports AFP.

League leaders Milan, like United this time last week, are one point clear of their nearest rivals before the last match of the season. Victory for Alberto Zaccarelli's team at Perugia will seal the club's 16th league title, but a draw could also be enough.

Lazio, like Arsenal Wenger's unlucky Gunners, are condemned to win and to pray for an upset.

The one difference between the two leagues is that in Italy, unlike England, the championship cannot be won on goal difference.

Marseille, a point behind leaders Bordeaux with two matches left in the French championship, host relegation-threatened Auxerre on Saturday amid mounting pressure.

Barcelona stand just one win away from their 16th championship and they must be odds on to secure it on Saturday.

SERIE A
Should Milan lose and Lazio draw, and the two teams therefore finish level on 67 points, the last Calcio kings of the century will be crowned only after a play-off over two legs, home and away.

However, with Milan safe in the experienced hands of Italy skipper Paolo Maldini, the odds are clearly in the Lombardy club's favour.

"The important thing is not to get too tense, not to be fazed out by what we have at arm's reach," said Maldini. "But we are dealing with it very well."

"We've got a coach who doesn't force you to live under pressure and the results are there for all to see."

FRANCE
High expectations from passionate fans, a tradition of success, a lost UEFA Cup final against Parma, plus transfer talk has cranked up the tension among the Marseille squad.

Players are hurriedly leaving after closed training sessions to avoid journalists and clearly trying hard to remain focused on the matches to come.

It is six years since they won the European Cup and seven years since they won the last of their four successive league titles.

PRIMERA LIGA
Elsewhere in Spain, the tremendous five-way battle for the three remaining Champions League places, the five are separated by just two points, continues on Sunday with two of the current occupants Mallorca and Real Madrid taking on other strugglers in Extremadura and Tenerife respectively while Celta Vigo travel to Oviedo, narrowly beaten 2-1 by Real Madrid last Sunday.

The other two contenders, who occupy the two UEFA Cup spots, Valencia and Deportivo La Coruna play Real Sociedad and Real Zaragoza respectively.

BUNDESLIGA
Bayern Munich will finally get their hands on the Bundesliga champions' silver salver this Saturday before the game against underdogs VfL Bochum.

Captain Thomas Helmer will receive the trophy from German Football Federation president Egidius Braun.
