Fund shortage hits hard Chuadanga Poursabha

From Our Correspondent

CHUADANGA, June 20: Chuadanga Poursabha is now on way to bankruptcy.

The employees here are not getting their salaries for the last four months. There is no bank deposit of the pourashava for the last one year.

Its chairman has been staying in Dhaka for four months. Nobody knows his whereabouts there. There is no collection from any heads like holding tax, water supply, toll of 'hat' and bazaars.

The government sanction has been decreased to a great extent during the last two years. The last instalment of government grant to the tune of Taka 19 lakh of the current financial year has not reached the poursabha as yet.

The outstanding holding tax of the poursabha is about Taka 65 lakh. The residents here are very reluctant to pay the holding tax. An amount of over Taka 17 lakh remains unpaid from the residents of the pourashava on the water supply head. Several times the poursabha authorities issued notice to the poura dwellers to pay their holding tax and water supply bills, but the poura dwellers are paying no heed to it.

All sorts of development work have been stopped for the last one year for want of fund. The contractors who have completed some development schemes during last and current financial years did not get their bills amounting to over Taka 40 lakh for want of fund. The income from the local hats and bazaars of the pourashava have also been decreased abnormally. This is because there is no auction purchasers. In the previous years over Taka 30 to 40 lakh used to come from hats and bazaars' auction, but during the last two years only about Taka Five lakh have come from the hats and bazaars.

A section of terrorists have been interfering in the activities here. According to the desire of the terrorists the hats and bazaars are being auctioned. It may be mentioned here that in the previous years

Chuadanga poura Barabazar hat was auctioned between Taka 15 to 16 lakh, but this year this hat has been auctioned at Taka three lakh only.

The betel leaf hat has been shifted illegally from Chuadanga bara bazaar to Bhalaipur, four miles from here with the support of outlawed party six months ago. But still this hat could not be returned from them. As a result a big amount of taka has remained shortfall.

There are hundreds of electric poles in where there are no bulbs for months together. Roads remain unclear for days together since sweepers are not working.
