Mahiuddin Chhora's Bachelor Staged

By Cultural Correspondence

M AHIUDDIN Chhora's comedy 'Bachelor' was staged at the Guide House Auditorium yesterday. The whole day's rain and bad weather limited the audience, but could not stop the drama lovers from missing any stage drama happening around the city. 'Bachelor' has been staged twenty five times by the drama group from T. S. C. Dhaka University. The group members of Shadak Shahittya O Shanskritik Shangathan are freelance performers. With some outstanding direction by the author himself, the group dramatized the play with brilliant performance that made the audience laugh throughout the whole show.

Life is restless. It passes through some difficult times, but yet it maintains its pace. Love is the most greatest and wonderful asset of life. Love is not a sin, it's a gift that man cherishes through time after time. Man needs his privacy. Even a bachelor has to live his life elsewhere apart from his family for privacy. But the tenants feel different renting a house to a bachelor. Mainly to avoid the unnecessary situation that might arise from leasing a house to a bachelor. But some tenants first rents the house and then makes the trouble. On such a ground was the story based on.

Antisl Haque, a privacy-seeking bachelor goes to hunger strike demanding the privacy he deserves from the trouble that the tenants have been causing him. But the romance between the tenant's daughter Bittal and Anis makes the situation more complicated. The story turns into a new dimension as the tenant hears about the love affair. Viewing a middle class family of our society and their conflicts in a humorous way in the drama 'Bachelor' is the achievement that the group deserves.

Among the six character's of the play Shuprokash Baruya as Khabir, Sadia Chowdhury Sonali as Biliti, the author himself as Anis, Habib Siraji as Abed's performance were noticeable.
