The Rhythm of Harmony

Mohammad Eunus' 36th solo exhibition

music

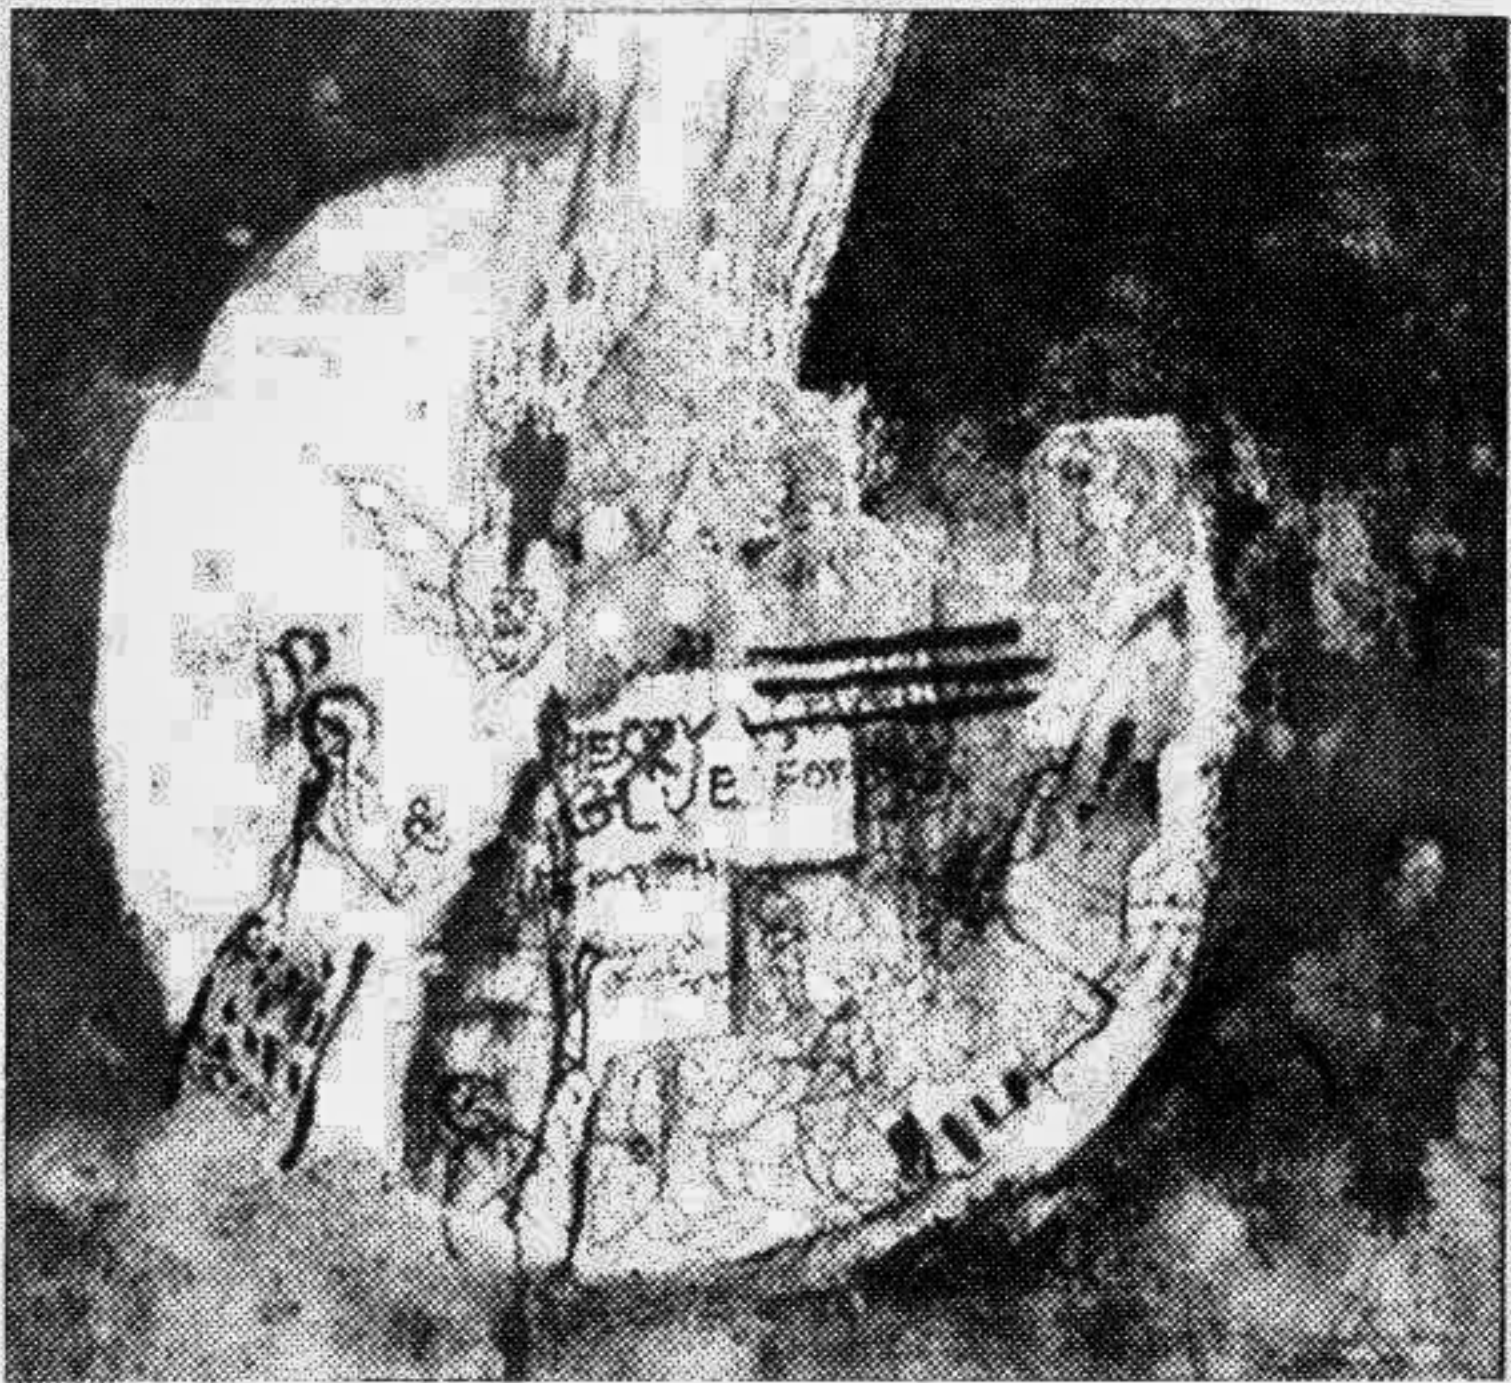

A Golden Evening

By Nadine Murshid

THE 36th Solo Exhibition of Mohammad Eunus has started in Shilpangan Gallery yesterday, 16th July 1999 at 5pm. Professor Anisuzzaman inaugurated the exhibition. Rafiqun Nabi and Mahmudul Huq were the Chief Guests, and Professor Kayyum Chowdhury presided over the inaugural ceremony.

"One can find nature, emotions, the quest to find and create something new and a lot of dedication in Eunus' paintings. Mohammad Eunus has done a good job. I wish him all the best," Mahmudul Huq commented when asked to speak. "Eunus works with nature, the elements of nature and the ingredients of nature. One doesn't have to find it — it's there and that is what makes it special," said Rafiqun Nabi. "When they can't find someone to inaugurate their exhibition, or when they need someone on the last minute because someone else backed out they call me and I get to inaugurate such exhibitions" Professor Anisuzzaman joked.

"Anyway, I'm glad to be here — I am not an artist but I like to think of myself as an art-enthusiast. Eunus has done a remarkable job — it is not easy to create eighty paintings for a single exhibition — especially when he holds a solo exhibition

SAVE THE EARTH '99 Oil on Canvas

every year," he concluded. The exhibition consists of eighty paintings (as mentioned above) in oil and mixed media — most of which are recent works. His paintings are varied — while some are bright red and orange, others are black and white. He uses motifs like conch shells, triangles, rickshaws and chariots to represent nature, as he sees it. Some of his paintings depict the Kosovan crisis and the genocide in Kosovo while others are just messages to a loved one like 'Don't forget me' and 'Captive Love'. Mohammad Eunus, one of the most prolific artists around, has gone up another step in his career with this exhibition. He has matured (as is expected) and has become more demure but the messages he conveys are, on the contrary, powerful, somewhat like a lone voice boldly calling out for peace and harmony.

By Nafid Imran Ahmed

THE greatest evening for the young musicians of Bangladesh took place at the Hotel Sheraton Ball Room yesterday. Sponsored by international brand tobacco company Benson & Hedges, The Benson & Hedges Star Search '99 was a great event for discovering the talented young musicians and solo performers through out the country. The search began in February '99 when B & H company first initiated the contest and started giving away forms through newspapers & restaurants. A huge response from the unrecognized musicians were observed. Around 1000 response were received. These application forms were then short listed by the well known musicians like Nakib Khan of Renaissance, Ahsan Elahi Fany of Feelings, Shafin Ahmed of Miles and Partha Barua of souls. The short listed 100 musicians were invited for live audition before the same judges. From these musicians the best 15 were selected for performing live in front of few selected audience.
